CHARACTER

It seems fitting that in February the natal month of Abraham Lincoln, we pause to recall anew the high and noble ideals to which he so rigidly adhered, to pay due reverence to the strong, yet kindly nature that guided this unusual life.

Character in business is just as essential as in the individual. An honor that is above the mere desire for profit must be the guiding light of every successful endeavor.

SCHOOL NOTES

Earl Grigg of the Senior class is absent from school with the mumps.

Maxine Lethrop is absent from school on account of the mumps.

The leading parts of the operetta "Bits O' Blarney" are being taken by Ruth Bessel, Jewell Smith, Shirley Brownson, Dick Hitt, Mera Stogsdill, Donald DeMoss and Dorothy Hitt.

Due to the cold weather and snow several of the school buses have been late, especially the Columbia bus.

The class time schedule has been changed so as to eliminate the thirty minute period set out for physical training and five minutes from the music period. The music period is changed from the morning from 9:00-9:20 to 1:00-1:15 in the afternoon. Five minutes is added to each one of the classes making a class period of forty-five minutes.

Neva Richards has received her home reading circle certificate.

The sixth grade have made some health posters.

Donald Kane left the fourth grade to move to Lake Chelan.

Election of fifth grade officers for this month was held and they are as follows: Pres, Kenneth Kneer; Vice-Pres, Jack Pace; Sec., Charles Ralph; Proctors, Marion Bradley, Walter Seltz, Antonio Furrer, C. O. Marble, Barbara Reid. The purpose of these officers is to take charge of the room when the teacher is not present.

Edward Klages has won his Underwood certificate in typing on 32 words per minute for 15 minutes with four errors. He won his Remington certificate in December.

Walter Ott won his Remington certificate on 30 words per minute for 15 minutes with 8 errors.

Ina Lenhart has won her Remington certificate on 30 words a minute for 15 minutes with 8 errors.

CHURCH NOTES

Ware, pastor.

HOME POINTERS

Flatirons may be kept in good condition by wiping them clean and rubbing a little grease over them when not in use.

Steel knives may be cleaned by washing the blades in clean water, then scouring with sand, soap and raw potatoes. When all the stains are removed they may be rinsed in warm water. Bone handles are wiped with a damp cloth as they will crack if put in water.

An excellent method of removing grease spots from woolen materials is to saturate chalk with benzine and spread it thickly on the spot. Cover with tissue paper and put a warm flat iron over it, making sure that the iron is not too hot. Leave for about an hour. Remove the iron and dust off the chalk, and as a rule the spot will be removed, because the chalk has absorbed it.

Most liquid bluing contain an iron compound called Prussian blue which is decomposed by the alkali in soap, yielding iron rust. Unless clothes are carefully rinsed until free of all soap and other alkalis used in washing, contact with the bluing will cause rust spots on the clothes.

When washing woollens, the temperature of the water is kept luke warm throughout the washing and rinsing processes to prevent shrinkage of material. Friction of any kind will also cause shrinkage.

There are many reasons for the ease of steering
the new Ford

The new Ford is exceptionally easy to steer because of the well-proportioned weight of the car, the steel-spoke wheels, the co-ordinated design of springs and shock absorbers, the size and design of the steering wheel, and the simple mechanical construction of the steering gear.

The Ford steering gear is of the worm and sector type used on high-priced cars and is three-quarter irreversible.

In simple, non-technical language, this means that the car responds easily and quickly to the steering wheel, yet there is no danger of the wheel being jerked from the hands of the driver by ruts or bumps in the road. A light touch guides the car, yet you always have that necessary feel-of-the-road so essential to good driving.

Strength of materials and careful workmanship give unusual stability to the Ford steering gear and housing.

The steering worm, for instance, is splined to the steering worm shaft and is stronger, of course, than if a single key were used to hold the shaft and worm together. The steering worm sector is forged and machined in the same piece with its shaft.

The housing of the steering gear mechanism is made of three steel forgings, electrically welded together. This housing is then electrically welded to the steering column. Such a one-piece steel unit is naturally much sturdier than if several parts were used and bolted or riveted together.

Throughout, the new Ford steering mechanism is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no attention.

The only thing for you to do is to have the front steering spindles, spindle connecting rods, and drag link lubricated every 500 miles and the steering gear lubricated every 2000 miles.

For this work, you will find it best to consult the Ford dealer. He has been specially trained and equipped to help you get the greatest possible use from your car over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.
