"Yes, just a minute now and I'll dive right in."

The Line-Up

To few of us the skill is lent
For music finely made,
And some of us must be content
To march in the parade.

That Cruel Thrust

Young Doodittle—The little things of life are dear to me. I love the insignificant, the plain, the simple—
Miss Spillins (interrupting)—Yes, I've often noticed how self-satisfied you seem to be.

Approval

"Do you think they approved of my sermon?" asked the newly appointed vicar, hopeful that he had made a good impression.
"Yes, I think so," replied his wife; "they were all nodding."

The Usual Reminder

Mrs. Skippy—John, I wish you'd drop into the cleaner's with my dress on your way to the office.
Husband—All right, my dear. Just tie it around my finger and then I'll be sure to remember.

Likes Strong Colors

It is stated that the humblebee has a strong preference for blues and purples.

Poetic Pun

Adam never would of it
That 'there little apple on a bet
If this little rib and he
Haddn't shared the self-same tree.
—Judge.

A Truthful Kid

"What is your mamma doing these days?" asked the friend of little Bobbie.
"She isn't doing what she is, but is trying awfully hard," replied the kid.
"And what is that?" snorted the friend.
"Reducing," said the kid.

Merry Laughter

"Don't you love the merry laughter of children?"
"Not always," answered Miss Cayenne. "Sometimes when their older companions try to suggest restraints the merry laughter sounds a little sarcastic."—Washington Star.

How About Sodas?

"Do you think medicines are any good?"
"My uncle derived a lot of good from drugs."
"What was the matter with him?"
"He was a druggist."—Der Gemutliche Sachse, Leipzig.

Motors Saved Birds

The wings of man have now come to the aid of the birds of the air when their wings have been injured. Forest fires in Southern California swept wide areas thickly inhabited with quail, and not only resulted in injuries to the legs and wings of the birds, but wiped out wide stretches of their feeding grounds. The birds, like human refugees, flocked to the few isolated spots of green in little valleys which the fire did not reach. Faced with physical handicaps, as well as a greatly inadequate food supply, the birds were in a fair way to perish until a group of sportsmen in Los Angeles banded together to provide feed for the birds. Daily, over the bird refuges, airplanes traveled and sprinkled grain down to where the birds congregated below.
