Have New Signs.

A number of Hermiston's business houses have been decked out in new signs the past few weeks. Hurly's grocery on Main street was just recently decorated with a new sign across the front and attractive lettering on the windows. Burk's Inc. also has new lettering on the windows, as does Blessing's Hardware and the Hermiston Auto Wrecking House on Second street is now readily located by the large sign on the building.

CHURCH NOTES

At the Methodist church—You are cordially invited to attend the services at the Methodist church next Sunday. Immediately following an hour in the church school, where we have a place for you, there will follow the Children's Day program as published in this paper of last week. This will be strictly in keeping with the Children's Day idea of the church and you will enjoy every bit of it.

The Sunday school will welcome you at 10 o'clock and all we will begin the program promptly. Then at the close of this service there will be a dinner served in the basement of the church and everybody is invited to come and bring your lunch basket full. Come and let us worship together in each of the services. The evening services will be at 7, the Epworth League and evening worship at 8.

Last Sunday evening we were fortunate in having with us Brother W. Pierson of Waterville, Wash., to fill the pulpit and he brought an inspiring and helpful message from the text: "This is My Body which was given for you." Rev. Pierson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierson of Hermiston. Oscar W. Payne, Pastor.

Baptist-Christian church—Sunday, June 23—Bible school 10 A. M. Morning worship 11 A. M. Theme, "The Right Method of Magnifying." Evening services, Christian Endeavor 7:00 P. M. Primary, junior and young people. Leader for young people, Nell Reeves. Topic, Jesus teaching us self-control. Special music for Endeavor. Preaching 8 P. M. Theme, "The Goodness and Severity of God." When you are not longer criticized you have finished and the persecutor's hardest job is to persuade the tolerant to tolerate the intolerant. A cordial welcome to all. A. J. Ware, pastor.

Guests At Felthouse Home.

Recent guests at the O. O. Felthouse home were Mrs. Barbara Stephens of Weiser, Idaho and Mrs. M. M. Condon and son of Richmond, California. Mrs. Stephens is the mother of Mrs. Felthouse and Mrs. Condon, a sister. Additional guests for Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tullock of Walla Walla and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sinden and daughter of La Grande. They are also relatives of Mrs. Felthouse.

At Bielman Home.

Mrs. C. J. Bielman has as her guest, Mrs. L. V. Eowen and children of Bucoda, Washington. They arrived last Friday and expect to remain for a week's visit.

MAKING SUMMER SILAGE

OFTEN FOUND PROFITABLE

When unirrigated pastures begin to dry up, as they ordinarily do after the middle of June, the need for some kind of supplemental succulent feed may often be supplied by summer silage on farms that have silos already constructed, according to G. R. Hyslop, chief in farm crops at the Oregon experiment station. This is especially true this season, says Professor Hyslop, because of the short carry-over of hay from last winter and the prospects of a light first cutting of alfalfa, due to the slow, backward spring season.

In preparation for silage making, it is usually best to tighten up the silo and see that it is in condition to keep the silage well, advises Professor Hyslop. It is often necessary to have the walls plumbed, the hoops tightened and the doors fitted to make for even settling and exclusion of air.

Fresh green growing material stored shortly after cutting while the plant is still active makes the most desirable type of silage, says Professor Hyslop. Care is necessary in storing fresh green clover or alfalfa in which there is not sufficient grass or other carbohydrate-carrying material, however, as there is considerable danger of improper fermentation and unsatisfactory silage.

There is no occasion to put alfalfa into a silo, unless it cannot be cured for hay or is full of beady grasses or other weeds, believed Professor Hyslop. Vetch and oats, or peas and oats are particularly satisfactory for silage, and many waste crops, or even weeds, may be stored in the silo and used during the period of inadequate forage.

SOUVENIR PROGRAMS TO BE

FEATURE OF LEGION MEET

A souvenir program is now being published by the convention commission of Capital Post to be ready for distribution to all delegates and visitors to the Eleventh Annual Convention of the American Legion which will be held in Salem, August 8, 9 and 10. The booklet will contain a complete history of the department for the date of its inception at the close of the war and inclusive of the current year. Post accomplishments of outstanding note will be enumerated and given considerable space.

It will be printed in magazine form consisting of a minimum of sixty-four pages. The cover will be done in four colors from a drawing by A. M. Vincent, a local post member, depicting a troop movement along a country road in France.

The entire program of events, giving the time and place of each attraction, will occupy prominent space. Cuts of various drum corps and bands will be used if it is possible to procure them.

Every visiting delegate and alternate will be given one at the time of registration in addition to the usual convention badge, and other mementos of the annual gathering of ex-service men.

Stated communication Queen Esther chapter O. E. S. Tuesday, June 25, 8 P. M. Social, cards and prizes. No meetings during July and August. —Adv.
