STATE NEWS

The Bulgalow theater at North Powder was destroyed by fire recently, half an hour after the show house had closed.

A new concession at Crater lake this year will be 26 riding horses for those who prefer to ride down the new trail to the lake.

With a bumper crop of Italian and Petite prunes in prospect throughout the Umpqua valley, buyers have begun to make their appearance.

Crop prospects in Linn county as reported by farmers visiting Albany during the last few days are above normal with few exceptions.

Crop conditions in the Wallowa section are promising. The soil still contains plenty of moisture to promote a vigorous growth of grass and grain.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cain of Albany were instantly killed on the Corvallis-Newport highway when their automobile struck loose gravel and burned over.

The home demonstration office of Deschutes county has issued the first number of the Four-H club paper. Ella F. Miller Hame, demonstration agent, is editor.

The recent motorboat regatta on McKay lake was a complete financial success for the Pendleton post of the American Legion and the group now is free of indebtedness.

About 500 attended the annual tri-county grange picnic held at Redmond on the Deschutes county fair grounds. A picnic dinner was spread, with games and stunts for amusement.

Officials of the Klamath Indian reservation say that the fire hazard this year is double that normally experienced. The snowfall during the past winter has been about half as great as usual.

Three valuable bucking horses, stolen three years ago from the Bly Rodeo association, were recovered at Myrtle Point and C. L. Gibson was arrested charged with stealing the animals.

Royal Anne cherries will bring 10 cents per pound this year, according to announcement made by buyers at Salem. The crop is light, however, and the total receipts will fall far short of last season.

Attractive Singer in Sunset Trail Pageant

Miss Nancy Thielsen, summer school student of the University of Oregon, will have the important role of Sacajawea in the Sunset Trail pageant. Miss Thielsen has a beautiful mezzo soprano voice, dramatic ability, and is qualified in every way to take the difficult part, according to John Stark Evans, chorus director, and Mrs. Doris Smith, director. The pageant will be the outstanding feature of the Sunset Trail pageant to be held in Eugene July 25, 26 and 27.
