We welcome any and all to the services next Sunday beginning at 10 o'clock with a well organized Sunday school. After the Sunday school is finished the morning worship will call you to the very highest form of services that is possible to attend for it is the place where men and women come together to worship the Great Spirit. You are welcome to both these services. Then in the evening will be the third of the union services with Brother Ware in the pulpit. Come and enjoy another of his inspiring sermons. O. W. Payne, pastor.

TEN COMMANDMENTS OF A NATIONAL FOREST

1. Thou shalt not smoke in any part of a national forest closed to smokers. For verily a cigarette costing but a fraction of a cent, when thrown into the brush can destroy hundreds of trees which will be needed some day to keep the Northwest prosperous.

2. Thou shalt not build thy camp fire except in a posted camp. For grass can lay waste to vast areas of verily a small spark blown into the valuable watershed.

3. Thou shalt not pollute any stream, for the thirsty wayfarer careth not to drink the washings of thy feet nor the feet of thy children.

4. Thou shalt not deface the trees, for the other hikers careth not about thy name, thy address, nor thy love affairs.

5. Thou shalt not build a camp fire before obtaining a permit, for the ranger fain would talk with thee before thou ventureth into the forest.

6. Thou shalt not leave a litter of papers and tin cans when thou abandonest camp, for it maketh the playground look like a city dump.

7. Thou shalt not pick the flowers nor the shrubs, nor dig up small trees to take home, for if everyone did this, the national forests would soon be denuded of all vegetation.

8. Thou shalt not take offense if the ranger stoppeth to caution thee about the camp fire, for verily he is a friendly fellow, and hath the interest of thy forest at heart.

9. Thou shalt not make targets of the ranger's stars, for as hath worked many hours to place these signs for the guidance of visitors.

10. Thou shalt not do anything which marreth or destroyeth the beauty of the forests, for if one approacheth them in peace and reverence, he shall again find his soul which he loseth in the city.
