Returns From Burns.

"The people of Burns, Oregon, are anticipating a decided increase in population within the next few years," says Herbert E. Shesley, local painter, who returned Friday from a visit to that community. "With the huge Hines company lumber mill under construction a few miles from the town and some 200 houses being put up on the new townsite adjacent to the mill, all kinds of activity is evidenced. Burns, itself, is undergoing street and sidewalks improvement and its residents are all enthusiastic boosters, predicting a population of from 8,000 to 10,000 people within a few years time. According to contract, the new houses for the mill workers are to be finished and ready for occupancy by December 1. At present the concrete is just being mixed and laid for the foundations. The houses, five rooms and modern in every respect, are to be all different in appearance. They will be sold to the workers on some sort of easy payment plan." Mr. Shesley was called to bid on the job of painting the houses on the new townsite.

Senator Steiwer Here.

Senator F. Steiwer and son stopped in Hermiston Monday en route to Salem where Mr. Steiwer will attend the annual state Legion convention.

Displays Big Cabbage.

A cabbage of unusual proportions is displayed in one of the show windows of the Oregon Hardware company this week. It was grown by Baxter Hutchison, project farmer, on his farm a few miles east of town and is a splendid example of the class of vegetables that can be produced in the local district. Judging from its appearance, quality hasn't been sacrificed for quantity for it is an altogether appetizing specimen.

Field Manager Here.

Arne G. Rae, field manager of the Oregon State Editorial association, paid a visit to the Herald office Thursday afternoon. Mr. Rae was on a business trip taking him thru various Oregon towns on business connected with his official position.

WESTLAND NEWS

A trip over the Westland project last Monday proved a pleasure in a number of ways. It's people are kindly and hospitable, its farms fertile and well managed and it is rich in news. Many interesting things about farming were discovered. Marla Gardiner has about two acres of corn much of it is twelve feet tall and loaded with ears of large size. He is also experimenting with Ladino clover in his pastures this year. It has a reputation for spreading and is most useful where the ground subs.

A. D. Smith is famous for his gardens and is repeating again this year. He nearly always snatches first prize away from the Weston potato growers on their own stamping ground. Last year he won first on Nettle Gens at the Pacific International. This year he is buying up calves to pasture and has about 10 head now.

Gilbert Smith depends on a dairy herd for his daily bread. He has the Eugene ranch and is busy just now putting up a silo.

John Lewis has 15 head of dairy cows and an excellent garden. He can raise anything in the garden and his tomatoes, cabbage and corn are particularly noticeable at this time. His golden bantam corn refused to stay bantam in size and grew eight feet tall.

Ralph and Jesse Richards are going in for potatoes rather heavily this year having planted 20 acres to that crop. Present quotations would indicate a real reward for their efforts. Ralph Richards has about 35 acres in barley which is about ready for threshing.

Ray Jay and his parents have a delightful garden where there was little but barren soil a short time ago. Mr. Jay and Mr. Kekala are raising turkeys this year.

Pete Sheridan milks twelve cows and has his usual large acreage in corn.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Atterbury and children, Floy and Bobby, recently returned from a trip to California where they visited for five weeks. Mr. Atterbury secured the Stanfield school bus contract again this

Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Gardner moved to the Dick Shaw place last week. They completely renovated the house before moving and now plan on improving the grounds. Mr. Shaw is employed by the railroad at Huron, Oregon, and the place has been rented for some time.

Billy Comstock who expects to attend Hermiston high this year, has just returned from a visit with his friend Harold Shaw at Huron, Oregon. Billy has been interested in raising spuds this summer.

Reports from Huron are to the effect that Miss Violet Shaw, well known in this district, and who graduated from Monmouth normal last spring, has secured a school at Meacham at a very attractive salary for the coming term.

Mr. and Mrs. V. B. McGraw and infant daughter, Gean Carroll, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. McGraw, of Portland, stopped at the Marlin Gardner home July 31 on their way to Michigan by auto. Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. V. B. McGraw are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Savely and baby returned August 1 from a three week's vacation spent in Kentucky.

Miss Edith Harkenrider of Estacada, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ralph Richards on Butter creek. June and Neva Richards are spending their vacation at Ocean lake, on the Oregon coast with their aunt, Mrs. Walter Paulsen.

The people along the Butter creek highway are enthusiastic over the probability of getting the power line by winter, for quite a number have signed up, sufficient they believe, to secure the line.

Mrs. C. H. Shaw and grandson, Darwin Shaw, arrived August 3 from their home in The Dalles to visit with her daughter Mrs. Roy Atterbury. After a short visit here Mrs. Shaw expects to join Mr. Shaw at Huron to visit with a son, Dick Shaw.

Since Mr. Kekala lost a few turkeys to thieves and Mr. McCully suffered a large loss near Hermiston at the hands of thieves, the poultry raisers of the Westland and Minnehaha districts are taking steps to combat this form of outlawry. Practically every raiser is making use of the new branding system and most of them are taking other measures to foil the thieves. From the investigations made these districts do not appear to be safe places for marauders who make money from the poultry raised by others.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

A delicious fish "fry" was enjoyed at the Hunter's cafe Wednesday evening by a party of local people who just returned from a fishing trip at East Lake. Jack Boyer, proprietor of the restaurant, who has a flair for cooking fish palatably, proved an expert chef for the occasion. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bielman, Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Christopherson and daughter, Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Sutton, Dr. A. E. Roenicke and Miss Marjorie Robbie. They left Hermiston Saturday for central Oregon and returned early in the week.

Miss Marian Henderson left last week for Portland where she will visit with the Misses Elizabeth and Dorothy Straw.

Mrs. Chester Harris is raising thoroughbred Bourbon Red turkeys this year and now has 32 about half grown. They are very striking looking birds and are noted for their quick maturity. She intends to sell
