TURKEY GROWERS TO MEET WEDNESDAY JULY 23RD

F. L. BALLARD, COUNTY AGENT LEADER, TO BE PRESENT
Detailed Plans of the Federated Organization to be Presented by Oregon State College Man.

Word has been received by the assistant county agent that F. L. Ballard, county agent leader of Oregon, will be in Hermiston on July 23 to meet with the turkey growers of this community. The meeting will be held in the Hermiston library Wednesday, July 23, at 8 P. M.

Mr. Ballard was named as Oregon's official representative at the recent meeting in Salt Lake City where plans were completed for the formation of a Federated Marketing Agency to handle the turkeys from 10 western states.

At the request of the directors of the local turkey growers association, Mr. Ballard will present the detailed plans of the Federated organization as worked out at Salt Lake City and will be in a position to offer suggestions to local growers as to the solution of their marketing problems.

Due to some dissatisfaction in the past in the marketing of their birds, the turkey growers of this community have shown quite a bit of interest in the development of the federated organization and there has been a good deal of sentiment towards uniting with the larger organization as a satisfactory means of disposing of the birds raised on the project.

In order that the turkey growers may thoroughly understand the movement under way, Mr. Ballard will present detailed information, and will answer any questions that may come up in regard to the plan of organization.

PENDLETON ROUND-UP DATES SET AHEAD

Departing from the twenty-year tradition of holding the Pendleton Round-Up the third week in September, the dates this year have been shoved ahead and the big Western epic will be shown in its twenty-first presentation before thousands August 28, 29 and 30.

There were many contributing factors which caused the Pendleton Round-Up association to make this change. Of course, Pendleton was considering Round-Up audiences when the new dates were selected. The earlier dates fit in nicely with the plans of summer vacations and the Round-Up makes a fine climax for motor trips. Then, too, with the choice of the earlier time, the Round-Up does not interfere with opening of schools and colleges.

THREE HORSEMEN OF THE AIR CHECK UP THEIR HOURS

Fifty-six times around the earth at the equator; one million four hundred thousand miles! That's the impressive total of miles flown in airplanes by three flyers of Portland in the Pacific Northwest. Tex Rankin, the veteran of the trio and the one who taught the other two to fly, has more than 6000 hours in the air in the 12 years he has been flying, making an impressive total of 600,000 miles. Art Walters, whom he instructed eight years ago, has 4000 hours or 400,000 miles; Dick Rankin, Tex's brother, in his class eight years ago, also has 4000 hours or 400,000 miles in the air.

Last week the three flyers—all instructing students in the Tex Rankin school of flying—checked up on their hours and found that they probably have the most hours in the air of any three men who started flying in the Pacific Northwest.

After two years of flying in France and England during the war Tex Rankin returned to Spokane, Washington, to start his first school. It was there he taught his two assistants to fly in an old war-time Jenny. Later he moved to Portland—seven years ago—and has operated a school continuously here since with "Dick" and "Art" as his instructors. Among the three of them they have turned out hundreds of students.

They are known as the Three Horsemen of the Air.

The building is to be painted yellow with a green roof and will be known as the Hermiston Transfer & Storage Company incorporated with the Consolidated Truck Lines. Mr. Wagner and Mr. Pankow estimate the cost to be about $3,000.00.

National Canning Contest Stirs Interest Of Hermiston Women

Six hundred dollars for a quart jar of canned food! Can one jar of food be worth that?
This is a question that is agitating Hermiston homemakers since word got around that $600.00 in cash would be paid for the best jar of fruit, vegetables or meat entered in the second National Canning contest which is being held at Shenandoah, Iowa, under the auspices of the Household Science Institute.
The contest seeks to further the work of the U. S. department of agriculture and the home demonstration agents throughout the country by focusing the attention of American housewives on the economy and healthfulness of home canned foods.
The holding of the contest in Iowa this year is due to the influence of Henry Field, Shenandoah farmer, merchant and ICFNF announcer whose career is one of the romances of American life. Imbued with the spirit of thrift he readily agreed to serve as president and to oversee the innumerable details connected with a project of such size and scope.
Four hundred and seventy prizes, totaling $4,250 in cash, loving cups and ribbons, will be distributed to the winners in the contest.
The contest is open to every woman and girl in the United States. There are no restrictions as to the nature of the food sent. Contestants may enter one, two or all three divisions. Entries should be sent in as soon as possible after canning. These will be placed and kept on exhibition at Shenandoah until after the closing of the contest, which will be on October 1.
Fruit and vegetable entries in the contest will be judged for clearness, color, pack, neatness, flavor and texture. The meat entries will be judged on neatness, texture and flavor.
That the judging may be thoroughly and impartially the display of jars absolutely uniform, contestants are required to submit their entries in standard glass jars of the quart size. A sample Ball Mason jar and carton together with prize entry labels for use in sending entries may be had without cost by writing the National Canning Contest, Shenandoah, Iowa.
