Growth of Brain

According to various authorities quoted in Halls' "Adolescence," the size of the brain increases but little after eight years. It reaches its maximum size at about 12 to 14, though there may be a very slight growth between 20 and 30. In old age it gradually loses weight and size. "In the boy of 15, the volume of cell bodies is already on the average 124 times their size at birth and by 30 will have increased to 150-fold. Cells constitute but a very small part of the total brain, so that they can increase many fold and not greatly affect its total size or weight."

Organized Beggary

While begging in Japan is not the fine art and honorable calling that it is in some parts of China, nevertheless in Tokyo and other large cities there are hundreds who make their living by soliciting alms in public. Competition incident to a highly commercialized age has made it necessary for these mendicants to organize, and a beggars' guild now enacts and enforces beggars' law. The operations of these persons are limited to three hours each day and they have a Communistic way of sharing their pickings.

BUTTER--

"In Class by Itself"

"Butter is in a class by itself. It is one of the most easily digestible of fats and undoubtedly, when considering the oils and fats dietetically, is the best source of Vitamin A.

—M. E. JAFFA, Emeritus Professor of Nutrition, University of California.

Butter is indispensable in the diet of young and old. It contains Vitamin A, the growth promoting factor, also Vitamin D, which aids in assimilation of the minerals in other foods you eat. Butter builds bones, cells and tissues.
