Thanksgiving Specials Nov. 22-24-25-26

It has to be good to carry the Red & White label. Before any Red & White product goes on our shelves it has to pass the rigid inspection of a committee at Red & White headquarters. It is such care that has secured the approval of "Good Housekeeping" Magazine for so many Red & White products. Only the best is good enough for Red & White customers.

EDITORIAL

Henry Hanby is adding a porch to his house on Newport avenue.

Being broke isn't so bad. But worrying for fear somebody will discover that we are broke makes us very uncomfortable.

Keep the cold out of your house and the cricks out of your neck, by installing insulation.

R. A. Brownson, Editor.

Home is a place where people go to sleep. Burn TUM-A-LUM and keep the house warm.

We will now have that popular ballad, "We Wouldn't Fuel You, Mister," rendered by the cheap coal salesman. The audience will be composed of those that bought this coal in an effort to save money.

AUNT MAGGIE'S ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN.

TUM-A-LUM coal is so full of B. T. U's, which means heat producing power, that it would be foolish to use any other. Ask your dealer.

"Listen, Big Boy, keep both hands on the steering wheel."

Lady: "My dear man, you should not ask for money." Dusty Rhodes: "But lady, they gave me two years the last time I took it without asking."

L. W. Douglas, of Adams, who owns the place known as the Dr. Monkman place, is building a barn this week. He has rented the place to Mr. Runyan of Pilot Rock.
