OREGON STATE NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST

Principal Events of the Week Assembled for Information of Our Readers.

While other parts of the coast boast of their unusual climate, Chris Isell of Astoria picks fresh raspberries out of his garden for his Christmas table.

C. Anderson, employe of the Baldwin Land & Sheep company, in Jefferson county, was recovering at Bend from the effects of five days of hicoughing.

Fir trees by the thousands have been taken from the forests of Josephine county this season to provide demands for Christmas trees in southern California.

Ira Ellis Purdin, one-time president of the Washington Pioneer association and resident of the Forest Grove vicinity for 76 years, died at his home recently.

Newcomers to Silverton during 1930 enjoyed a turkey dinner when the Silverton chamber of commerce entertained in their honor at the annual newcomers' dinner.

Marion county timber lands patrolled by state foresters will be taxed 5 cents an acre, according to notice given the county court. The levy was a cent higher than last year.

Only Coos county labor will be employed in the construction of the $300,000 bridge from Bunker Hill to East-side, for which the contract was recently let to local contractors.

According to the report of the national forest officials a total of 4450 hunters killed 700 deer in the Whitman forest this year. This is an increase of 40 per cent over 1929.

Salem has the meanest person in the world. E. T. Barkus, on visiting a local cemetery, found that some person had stolen a holly tree which he planted on his wife's grave a week before.

The organization of a national guard company is being discussed at Bend preliminary to a move to secure an armory, in which all local groups of veterans and auxiliaries can have a meeting place.

Construction operations at Camp Clatsop, under a federal appropriation of $30,000, will get under way soon, according to a telegram received by Major-General White from the war department at Washington.

The city of Warrenton has called for bids for the wrecking of a large building known as the clay plant building. It was built for the manufacture of sewer pipe. It is now being torn down, for reasons of safety.

The lumber mill at Wauna will reopen in February, according to reports received recently. The mill, owned by the Crossett-Western lumber interests, has just installed several pieces of new equipment for February operations.

The Jatte company of St. Helens, manufacturers of paper cement bags, is installing two large new machines, one a ten-ton press for printing and a tuber which will speed up production. The machinery cost approximately $40,000.

An addition, to cost $20,000, to the present cannery belonging to the Columbia River Fishermen's Co-operative Packers will be started immediately after January 1, it has been announced by officials of the organization. The plant is located at Warrenton.

Federal emergency advance funds of $1,320,000 allotted to the state of Oregon out of a total appropriation of approximately $80,000,000, are now available and can be used for highway construction prior to September 1 of next year, according to a telegram received from government officials at the offices of the state highway department in Salem.

Gross motor vehicle receipts in Oregon for November totaled $96,944.95, and brought the total so far this fiscal year to $5,001,057.95. There were 366,020 motor vehicles registered in Oregon up to November 30, according to records of the state motor vehicle division.

Indications are that the gasoline tax for 1930 will run over $6,000,000. For the first 10 months there has been collected $5,802,360, of which $5,664,448 goes into the state highway fund. The receipts for the 10 months are in excess of the full year of 1929 by $1,200,000.

Oregon and Washington now stand pre-eminent in the output of canned berries in the United States, having increased their share of the nation's output from 7 per cent of the total to 74 per cent in less than 20 years, with Oregon leading Washington and all other states.

The 77th year of the chartered existence of Pacific university at Forest Grove will be observed January 9. The theme of the Founder's day address, to be delivered by Dr. W. N. Ferrin, former president of the university, will be Harvey W. Scott, the first graduate of the university.

For the first time in several years Lane county farmers will not buy certified alfalfa seed through a pool next year. Unsettled prices and general unfavorable conditions in the alfalfa market are given as reasons. The pool was started five years ago to stimulate the growing of alfalfa.

Trapped in bed when his house caught fire, James K. Polk May, 81, was burned to death. He lived alone in a house on Cedar creek, seven miles southeast of Cottage Grove. He was very deaf and it is thought likely he was asleep and was suffocated by the smoke before the fire reached his bed.

The Dalles boasted of the first modern lighted landing field in the mid-Columbia, following connection of the field lights and flashing beacon of the department of commerce's intermediate airport. More than 3000 feet in length, this field has been the haven of refuge almost daily during stormy weather for planes traversing the Columbia gorge.

The Lake county chamber of commerce requested the state highway commission that Oregon's share of the $5,000,000 appropriated by congress to construct roads across unappropriated public lands be used in constructing a highway from Lakeview to Burns, the only two county seats in Oregon not connected with even a graveled road.

Twenty-three dead and 445 injured is Oregon's traffic toll for November, according to the report of Kent Shoemaker, chief of the state traffic division. Nine of the 23 who lost their lives during the month as a result of automobile accidents were pedestrians. Of a total of 2695 accidents reported during the month 1213 were due to carelessness and 96 others to reckless driving.

A new-born calf with two heads was found recently in the pasture of Claud Christ, central Oregon stockman. The calf was dead when found. The heads were perfect from the ears down. There were four eyes, two mouths with jaws that could be moved freely, but only two ears as the heads started to form at the ears. Christ believes that the calf stood up, as both tongues were a trifle extended.

The Crystal Springs water system, supplying domestic water for the east side rural section of the Hood River valley, has been completed and approximately 400 fruit growers in the rural section are using the Crystal Springs water, which is brought down from the mountains in a 20-mile iron main. The system cost approximately $100,000. The water company is co-operative, and was financed through bond issue.

Harney county cowboys are abandoning the practice of using "chuck" wagons and establishing roundup camps in remote cattle ranges, according to information received from Burns. Using a light automobile and a trailer, Link Hutton of Wagon Tire manages to do his work on the cattle ranges and sleep every night at his ranch. Hutton places his saddle horse in the trailer, drives far out into Harney county, does a day's work, puts his horse back in the trailer and returns home.

Steps to curb the encroachment of solicitors and salesmen on the time of rural teachers of Polk county have been recommended by Polk county school officials. Placards will be posted requesting agents not to call during school hours.

Mrs. Mary A. Carter, one of Oregon's oldest pioneers and a resident of Wells, Benton county, prepared and served a family dinner on her 96th birthday. She has lived on the same farm for nearly 80 years and still does her own housework.

THEATRE NOTES

Who killed Lawyer Crosby? Who, out of a half dozen people gathered in a deserted house at midnight murdered the one man who seemed to have discovered the source of the mysterious power which menaced them all.

This is the question which confronts a group of relatives called together to hear the reading of Cyrus West's will—the occasion which gives rise to the startling series of events pictured in "The Cat Creeps," playing at the Oasis theatre, Sunday and Monday, Jan. 4 and 5.

"The Cat Creeps" adapted by Universal from the famous stage thriller, "The Cat and the Canary," includes in its all star cast such well known players as Helen Twelvetrees, Raymond Hackett, Lilyan Tashman, Neil Hamilton, Jean Hersholt, Montagu Love, Lawrence Grant and Blanche Frederici. Rupert Julian directed.

"The Painted Angel," First National's screen version of Fannie Hurst's graphic and dramatic story, "Give This Little Girl a Hand," has been booked by the Oasis theatre and will open Friday and Saturday.

In magazine form the story enjoyed wide popularity, and now, made into a forceful and vivid film, it is once more successfully striking the keynote of public approval.

Billie Dove has the title role of a wisecracking night club hostess and entertainer. This part is a new one for Miss Dove; in fact it shows us an altogether different Billie Dove, and provides a new thrill for the beautiful actress's followers.

Edmund Lowe was chosen for her leading man. Millard Webb, director of "Gentlemen of the Press," floutrished the megaphone on this new production.
