THEATRE NOTES

A secret code gave the author his inspiration for the title of "Three Faces East," the Warner Brothers and Vitaphone spy melodrama which comes to the theatre Friday and Saturday, featuring Eric vonStro- heim and Constance Bennett.

Letters representing directions on the compass, were in the majority of cases, used to designate the various spies, von Brincken points out. A number was also added to the letter such as N-12 or W-15. In this manner the individual operator was immediately identified.

Von Brincken further explains that if the number is on the right side of the letter, the expression "faces" was used, heretofore as the letters re- presented directors as North, South, East and West, the code words "Three Faces East," means E-3, the number of a mysterious and celeb- rated German Intelligence officer in the picture.

Both Constance Bennett and Eric von Stroheim play the roles of spy in "Three Faces East," which is adopted for the talking screen from the Anthony Paul Kelly stage play of the same name. Oliver H. P. Gar- rett wrote the screen play.

William Courtenay, Anthony Bu- shell, Crauford Kent, Charlott Walk- er, William Holden and others com- plete the cast. Roy del Ruth directed.

The story of "The Office Wife," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone pic- ture coming to the Oasis theatre Sun- day and Monday is one that should interest every wife and every hus- band. It is a vital drama that might confront any man and any woman.

Lawrence Fellows, president of a publishing firm, believes that every wife is jealous of her husband's sec- retary, and every secretary jealous of the wife. He marries—and finds out later that every wife is not jeal- ous of her husband's secretary.

While he is becoming attached to his secretary, Anne Murdock, his wife, Linda, begins a flirtation with a young man of her acquaintance. Fellows does not know that his wife is falling in love with Jameson, and he does not know that Miss Murdock is falling in love with him. He only knows that he needs her—and when he goes away, he finds he has to send for her.

This intricate problem is finally worked out with Linda's asking for a divorce, and Fellows' awakening to the fact that Ann loves him, and that he loves her.

Others in the cast include Hobart Bosworth, Blanche Friderici, Joan Blondell, Natal Moorehead, Brooks Benedict, Dale Fuller, and Walter Merrill.

"I've just read Swift & Company's 1931 Year Book..." "This book is most interesting to me, because I'm one of the 200,000 producers of cream, poultry and eggs who sell to Swift & Company. It is just as interesting to everyone who has something to sell to Swift & Company, as well as the housewife who buys food for her family." "This book showed me the source of Swift & Company's profits, which come, mainly, from savings in expenses, and not at the expense of the producer or the consumer. What impressed me was that Swift earns its dividend from an average profit from all sources of only a small fraction of a cent a pound." "The chapter on Swift & Company's produce plants on page 35 held my attention, for here is shown how the company creates a direct road to remote markets for the producers' products. And you may learn how Swift's marvelous distributing plan serves producer, small retailer and consumer in every corner of the country." "I know that Swift & Company will gladly send you the 1931 Year Book free of charge. Send for it; there's information of interest to every man and woman. Just fill out this coupon below."
