CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS TO PREACH SERMON SUNDAY NIGHT

A unique and interesting plan has been worked out by Rev. Wallace Jones, pastor of the Baptist-Christian church, whereby the different organizations in the church have full charge of the Sunday evening services. Mr. Jones outlines the sermons and they are presented by four different persons, which allows individuals to develop their talents.

Last Sunday the ladies' class had charge and this Sunday the Christian Endeavors have planned the music and sermon. The four speakers will be Misses Barbara Root, Nell Reeves, Edith Clark and Charlie Duvall. Special music has been arranged.

HIGH SCHOOL ROMANCE OF 1924 ENDS IN HAPPY MARRIAGE

News of the marriage of Miss Lillian Walker of Walla Walla, Wash., to Mr. Herbert Haneline of Klamath Falls, came this week through Mr. Haneline's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Haneline. The wedding bells rang for these two as a sequence to a romance of their high school days when they were Sophomore and Senior.

Mrs. Haneline is the daughter of Mrs. G. W. R. Mitchell and lived in Hermiston while a member of the sophomore class. Later she moved to Walla Walla where she graduated from high school. Mr. Haneline came to Hermiston with his parents in 1910 and spent all of his school life in the local schools, except for a few months in the Pendleton grade school. Later he attended Oregon State college where he took commercial training and is a member of Sigma Pi fraternity.

The young couple will make their home in Klamath Falls where Mr. Haneline has been employed for the past year.

PROMOTERS OF CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY CONDUCT BUSINESS

Several meetings were held in the interest of the Umatilla Co-operative Creamery this week at which Mr. B. E. Sykes and one director were present along with other interested dairymen. Over half the sign-up has been completed and only a small proportion of the territory has been worked.

Mr. Sykes is an experienced creameryman and conducted meetings at the Library in Hermiston Thursday night, at Irrigon Friday night, at Boardman grange hall Saturday and again in Stanfield Monday at the grange hall. Much interest has been shown at all these meetings.

O. I. Paulson, assistant supervisor of agriculture for the Union Pacific System, will be one of the speakers at the next Farm Bureau meeting. He will speak on the subject of co-operation.

During the last half of the third Echo scored four runs. In the fourth, with a man on second, Klages pulled out a long fly for a homer, and then one more run was pulled in by Throop. RECEIVE SLIGHT INJURIES WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. Jones and Mrs. Wm. Hineline were slightly injured and badly shaken last Sunday evening when the Chevrolet sedan in which they were riding overturned on the Butter Creek highway. Mr. Jones was returning from Pine City where he preaches every Sunday afternoon, and had followed a car for some distance before giving a signal that he wished to pass. At the same time the signal was given the driver of the other car decided to stop, and did not make his intentions known. As the car stopped suddenly Mr. Jones tried to miss it by turning out of the road and in doing so struck rough ground, which overturned the car. Mrs. Hineline was thrown through the top and Mr. and Mrs. Jones were cut and bruised. Dr. Marble cared for a dislocated little finger for Mrs. Hineline and other minor injuries.

About $75 damage was done to the Chevrolet but the car driven by Dr R. B. Brundage of Pendleton was untouched. Mr. Jones did not receive damages on his car, due to lack of witnesses.

HERMISTON LEGION POST PRESENTS RADIO PROGRAM

Last Sunday morning representatives from the Hermiston American Legion Post No. 37 went on the air over KEX presenting a program that was a credit to any post. Arrangements had been made for two broadcasts one earlier over KGW, but that time was turned over to national representatives of the Legion Auxiliary Child Welfare department who were in Portland at the time.

J. E. Hallyburton acted as master of ceremonies, very creditably filling the place of J. M. Biggs, state department commander, who was called to California. Mr. Hallyburton was introduced by the station announcer and explained that the program would be centered around the preamble of the constitution of the American Legion. He then introduced James Todd, post commander, as the first speaker, Hal McCulley, second, and Ronald Begg third. Before presenting Dr. F. V. Prime, representative for the Commercial Club, Mr. Hallyburton stated that anything the American Legion Post at Hermiston had succeeded in putting over had been made possible by splendid co-operation of this organization. Mrs. Prime had the privilege of sending greetings to Earl Kingsley over the air. Earl is a disabled veteran and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Kingsley.

Umatilla again won from the Mission Indians when they played baseball on the local field Sunday. The score was 12-2.

UNABATED STORM SPREADS DAMAGE; WIND IS MENACE

FINE DUST HOVERS AND SIFTS INTO BUILDINGS.

Hog & Dairy Show Barns Demolished; Trees Uprooted and Sign Boards Are Blown Down.

A windstorm swept the entire Northwest Tuesday evening and continued through Wednesday, carrying with it a cloud of dust that hung heavily over every home in this vicinity. It has never been known when the wind has blown from the northeast for such a long period without ceasing, and bringing such a fine dust. Not only did it bring dust and dirt but uprooted trees, tore down signs, lifted roofs, destroyed sheds, broke out windows and endangered the Cold Springs reservoir when high waves washed over the embankment at intervals.

Some time Tuesdsay night the storm upturned the Hog and Dairy show barns near the school building completely demolishing them and burying a cow belonging to F. C. McKenzie. Later that evening the roof was torn off the grand stand. A plumb tree that had stood for twenty years in Mrs. Boynton's yard, was uprooted. Another large tree in front of Dr. W. L. Morgan's house fell across the road and tops of trees fell across the highway leading out of town. A window glass was blown out of the Hermiston Second Hand store building and the Oasis theatre sign torn down.

It has not been learned what will be done about the Hog and Dairy show barns but damage done was great. If the show is discontinued for one year the associatiin loses its state appropriation of approximately $600.

Housewives were at their wits end all day Wednesday as fine dust settled over their household. The atmosphere was gloomy and little activity noted. Telephone communication was disrupted.

Baby Chicks Survive Wind Storm

Twelve hundred Plymouth Rock baby chicks were received Wednesday by David Lee Davidson who lives in the Columbia district, from the Russell Hatcheries. They arrived in the midst of the wind storm that swept the country and were placed in a room in the house for protection. Only one has been lost thus far. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson bought their farm last August and are originally from Kansas. There is a brooder house on the place 20 by 117 with a cement floor into which the chicks will be moved soon.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY DRAWS FULL HOUSE UPON PRESENTATION

CONSECUTIVE INSTANCES KEEPS AUDIENCE IN LAUGHTER

Plot Well Carried Out; Both Serious And Comic Characters Aid In Development

The Senior class of the Hermiston Union High school presented the play "The Mummy and the Mumps," last Friday night in a very creditable way. The production was directed by Henry Harger and was presented in the Oasis theatre to a full house.

The plot was centered about characters in a girls' school in Boston, of which Miss Agatha Laidlaw (Leona Dyer) was dean, and has very decided rules concerning men who wish to prolong their visit. It is the end of the school term and all but three of the girls have returned to their homes. They remain because their families are quarantined with the mumps. Miss Laidlaw is expecting a distinguished professor, Sir Hector Fish (Elbert Hutchison) who is bringing a mummy he discovered in Egypt with him; he also has a peculiar diet and sends his "oats" which arrives ahead of him. Miss Laidlaw's nephew, Francis Laidlaw (Donald Jackson) is desirous of prolonging his visit at the school because of his love for Miss Dulcia Dumble (Barbara Root), but is about to leave when his friend Francis Briscoe, (Enos Martin) drops in to see him. They form a plan whereby Francis will impersonate Sir Hector (who is such a welcome visitor) and Miss Laidlaw mistakes Francis for Sir Hector without any effort on his part. He becomes infactuated with Miss Maude Mullen (Grace Rodda) and is soon cornered by Miss Anna Hampton (Mary Brownson) who wishes him to teach her French, German and a number of other foreign languages. Amusing circumstances arise from this disguise until it takes a more serious turn upon the arrival of the mummy. "Racker" (Harold Marble) assists William in bringing the heavy box into the house and then when they leave the room, as Racker leaves to send a telegram to Sir Hector stating that the mummy has "duley" arrived, Miss Hampton tiptoes in, cuts the rope that holds the box, and is frightened half to death when the "mummy" groans and sits up. It is no other than Sir Hector Fish himself who had been quarantined in New York with the mumps and in order to escape, places himself in the box, with the help of his valet. Miss Hampton learns the whole scheme of Boiscoe and manages to hide Sir Hector away. He really
