Notice to World War Veterans. Even though a disabled veteran of the World War who carried War Risk Insurance has not paid any premium thereon since his discharge from the military service, if he makes claim in writing between now and July 3rd of this year he will thereby preserve his rights to resort to court action thereafter if such procedure continuously any substantially gain-is necessary. This letter should state plainly that the veteran desires to claim insurance benefits under the permanent and total disability clause of his contract from a date when his policy was in force, which is usually from the date of disability, if he was disabled while in the service.

First, he should submit proof to the Veterans' Bureau to establish to the satisfaction of the Bureau that continuously since his disablement, he has been suffering from an impairment of mind or body which made it impossible for him to follow full occupation and that condition has existed since his discharge from the service, and is likely to continue throughout the remainder of his life. Then, should the Bureau deny his claim, he is afforded an opportunity to go into court and establish his claim before a jury. Veterans who carried $10,000 War Risk Insurance are entitled to the payment of insurance benefits at the rate of $57.50 per month commencing with the beginning of disability (if it commenced at a time while his insurance was in force) and continuing as long as the veteran lives. Veterans whose conditions are described in this letter may be entitled to payment at the rate of $5.75 per month per $1,000 of insurance.
