Highways and Motor Vehicles.

Slowly but surely we are making progress in the effort to find the questions which the automobile and the paved road have created. Just a few items from the week's news:

West Virginia has a new traffic law, effective the last of May, which makes it unlawful for anybody to drive so slowly as to impede or block the normal movement of traffic. The top speed limit, where conditions make it reasonable and prudent, is increased to 45 miles an hour. Slowly legislators are learning that it is carelessness, not speed, which is dangerous.

Two of the big oil companies have notified the French authorities that they will discontinue roadside posters. Here's hoping they follow the same practice in America.

The American Road Builders' Association reports that the value of highways and motor vehicles in the United States is now around thirty billion dollars. We spend, as a people, eight billion dollars a year for the operation and upkeep of cars, an average of $300 a year for each of the 27,000,000 autos. We buy 14,000,000,000 gallons of "gas" and pay in gasoline taxes and registration fees about eight hundred million dollars. Outside of that, the cost of maintaining improved highways is about $200,000,000 to the taxpayers at large. But everybody benefits by good roads and motor transportation, whether he runs a car or not.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 21.

The Golden Text was, "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it" (Ecc. 3:14).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "There is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God" (Rom. 13:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Infinite Mind creates and governs all, from the mental molecule to infinity. . . Creation is ever appearing, and must ever continue to appear from the nature of its inexhaustible source. . . Spiritual evolution alone is worthy the exercise of divine power" (pp. 507, 135).

Shell Peas in Five Minutes
The following article was brought into the Herald office by Mrs. Joe Udey. If this works it would pay all housewives to experiment.

Can you shell a quart of peas in five minutes? If not, just read this letter and then, try it on your own wringer.—Home Editor.

Dear Home Editor: I have discovered a way in which to shell peas at the rate of 5 minutes to the quart. We gather peas by the tubful, wash them with the hose, throw them (about two gallons at a time) into a boiler of boiling water, leave them about three minutes, remove and dip in cold water to cool. Then we feed them by handful through the wringer of the washing machine, being careful to put them through endwise. The popping peas rival a Fourth of July celebration, but it is sure a joy to watch the pods run through the wringer and the peas stop in the pan. We took some pieces of cardboard and fixed them up for sideboards. Two of us feed with both hands.

We were so overjoyed at results when I discovered it last week, that I wanted to let my neighbors know in time to use this year, so we demonstrated to 17 the other day and all acclaim it as the best method ever. If peas are scalded too much they will be slick and hard to put through, so it is best to leave them for too short a time rather than too long. Unless scalded they mash badly and pop too much.

You may know when I tell you that in twenty years of canning, I have never found the equal of this for saving time, that it is a whiz. We picked and canned 56 pints between 5 o'clock in the morning and noon of the same day.—Mrs. R. V. Peringere, Whitman county, Washington.

A new electric welding unit which will make it possible to produce electric welding tubing with much thicker side-walls was recently exhibited.

Making Business Survey.

P. L. Wise of Portland, who writes for the McGraw-Hill Publishing company in New York, was in Hermiston Monday morning looking over the business conditions and examining the cause of the decrease in land sales on the project. Mr. Wise is a retired civil engineer and has been traveling for the past month over the middle western and western states checking on general business conditions on dry and irrigated lands. Mr. Wise stated that there is general prosperity in business east of Oregon, but that a strip of country about 100 miles wide, east of the Cascade mountains, is entirely burned out. Agricultural conditions through the Milton-Freewater district to Pendleton look good, says Mr. Wise, and then an allowance is made on the dry land farming territory from Pendleton to Hermiston. The project in and adjacent to Hermiston looks prosperous, he says.

Mr. Wise was in an auto accident in Livingston, Montana, when his right arm was injured but is getting well fast. The McGraw-Hill Publishing company puts out 27 technical publications in different fields and Mr. Wise has contributed articles to them for the past ten years.
