FIFTY MEMBERS PRESENT AT FARM AUXILIARY MEETING

At the regular meeting of the Farm Bureau Auxiliary last Friday there were between 40 and 50 members present besides the Juniors who met under the supervision of Mrs. Barrager.

During the business meeting Mrs. Frank Guilwits tendered her resignation as secretary-treasurer of the society. Members were very sorry to accept Mrs. Guilwits' resignation because of her long and efficient service since the organization was formed and her friendly spirit always held toward members. Mrs. Chas. Keller was elected to act in her place until the end of the year. A financial statement was made by Mrs. Baxter Hutchison for the laundry and cancery.

The social hour was a very interesting one and was under the direction of Mrs. Hammer, assisted by Mrs. Claud Upham, Mrs. Henry Somner and Mrs. Alpha Christy. Many interesting antiques and heirlooms were shown and the history of each given. Among these was lay pottery that had been made in Biblical times and had been kept in the Christy family for over 100 years. Mrs. Christy also read a letter which was written by L. B. Ewbank, her great, great grandfather, at Tanner Creek Indians, May 22, 1822, in which he told of conditions at that time.

Mrs. Claud Upham displayed a split bottom chair that had been in the Upham family over 100 years and is valued highly by the family.

Sewing will be the feature of the meeting August 7th, which will be headed by Mrs. Tom Wilson, assisted by Mrs. New Madden, Mrs. H. G. McCutley, and Mrs. Otis Buell.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

International Sunday School Lesson for August 23.

SAUL CONVERTED Acts 9:1 to 9:17 to 19; I Timothy 1:12 to 14

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D. The greatest man in all human history is presented in this and subsequent lessons during the remainder of the year. We met him first when he voted for the stoning of Stephen and then was caretaker of the garments of those who had part in the killing.

Many others in Jerusalem and vicinity were prosecuted because they asserted belief in Jesus Christ as the Messiah. Saul was a leader in this cruelty. Learning that there was a growing colony of Christians in Damascus, letters were obtained from the Sannedrui to the leaders in the Damascus synagogue giving authority to search out both men and women in that city who were open in their acknowledgement of the new Way of Faith and Practise.

There is plenty of time to think when making a journey of 140 miles in the manner of travel of the first century. Meditations en route prepared the mind for the wonderful revelation that came from the Throne of God to Saul as he approached the city of his destination. Though it was high noon the glory of God outshone the sun and Saul fell prostrate to the earth. Jesus Christ spoke directly to this persecutor and forthwith the man who had been a terror to so many is quiet as a little child and asks for instruction in the greatest subject of life.

This director of men finds himself helpless, for he has been blinded and must trust to a friendly hand for guidance into the city. Three days are given to look at the light of life while the eyes are useless. Then Ananias comes as a messenger of hope and prophecy. Sight is restored by another miracle and a commission is given which makes this 'aul the apostle to the Gentiles. It was all new and strange but this converted servant of the Lord says in the Golden Text, "I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision," Acts 26:19.

Heated Discussion On Federal Aid

He also stated that the producers' marketing product was protected by tuberculosis and abortion testing of dairy herds, by potato inspection, culling, and numerous other ways in which a better price was obtained by presenting a high grade of marketable produce.

In his rebuttal he brought out the point that it was as necessary for farmers to be educated as any other business man. Also that if federal aid were discontinued there would be no irrigated projects as the farmer could never raise the money to build dams for reservoirs. In speaking of the cost of extension work to the farmer he showed that the average farm only paid $2.00 a year toward such upkeep. The instructors in 4-H club summer schools give their time, with no cost to the state.

In upholding the article, R. G. Penney brought out that the writer was qualified through his successful operation of a 140-acre farm in Wisconsin, and the college education both he and his wife had obtained. Mr. Penney said that by telling the farmers how to produce two blades of grass instead of one, the County

Agents were only making more of a trend toward overproduction. The 4-H club work, he said, also tends to build up overproduction. He concluded by stating that whenever the lordly county agents put on a program for the meek and accepting farmers they used oleo instead of butter in the sandwiches served for lunch.

Jess Richards tore down the article written by Mr. Burkette by stating that he had already obtained his education through the aid of the federal government and would now have others disregard the benefits derived from that source. He said that all existing agriculture required all scientific aid possible, with the county agent acting as a point of contact between the government and the farmer. Again, he said, if the federal research work was done away with it would be monopolized by individuals and the farmer would pay dearly for the information so badly needed in the producing of better crops.

S. H. Barnard neither defended nor tore down the article but made the statement that individualism was stressed by Mr. Burkette.

A short program was given during the course of the evening. Edna Ott played a violin solo; Lois Barnard and Edna Ott played a violin duet; and a short comic play was presented by 4-H club members.
