

WANT ADS

Minimum Charge 15c or 1 Cent a Word FOR SALE

HIGHGRADE PIANO - PARTLY paid for. Will sell for balance of contract. Cash or terms. This is a real bargain. Write to Pendleton Music House, Pendleton, Ore. 52-2tc

THREE IRRIGATED RANCHES TO rent; 60, 200 and 300 acres; Also several small tracts for sale. Also pasture for cattle or sheep. E. P. Dodd, Hermiston, Oregon. 45-1tc

FOR SALE-DINNING ROOM TABLE and four chairs. Round extension table. Mrs. O. O. Felthouse. 522c

FOR SALE-Hardware, Stoves, Furniture and Mattresses. Hermiston Second Hand Store. 10-1tc

FOR SALE-ONE BED, SPRINGS, one dresser, one phonograph. Inquire Wm. Vestal. 52-1tc

FOR SALE - ONE JERSEY COW and one Guernsey cow. Inquire at Herald office. 50-2tp

FOR SALE-ONE GUERNSEY, REGISTERED bull. Joe Kremer. 49-2tp

ALBERTA PEACHES RIPE NOW. Other varieties coming soon. Two miles West of Umatilla. Fred Edmondson. 50-1tc

Have for Trade or Sale $10,000.00 rental income property in industrial town 28 miles from Portland; for business or farm in this locality. Larabee Bauer Agency, Pendleton. 51-2tc

FOR SALE-20 acres; 5-R. house; barns; other outbuildings; fenced; $400 cash. J. M. Biggs. Hermiston, Oregon. 37-1tc

FOR SALE-3-BURNER OIL STOVE with oven. H. E. Hanby. 43-1tc

Burk's for Bargains. On the West Side. -Adv.

MISCELLANEOUS

FOR BARGAINS IN USED BATTERY radios, write Pendleton Music House, Pendleton Ore. 52-2tc

WANTED-WOMAN TO DO LAUNDRY in exchange for piano lessons. Inquire of Golda Mumma. 52-1tc

FOR RELIABLE PIANO TUNING send your order to Pendleton Music House, Pendleton, Ore. 52-2tc

RELIABLE PARTY will furnish gasoline in exchange for transportation to Portland, September 4th. Care of Herald. 51-1tp

ROOMS TO RENT. MRS. W. L. Beasley, Hermiston, Ore. 50-2tp

Go to Burk's for Bargains-Now. -Adv.

WILL TRADE NEW VICTOR ORTHOPHONIC Victrola for good piano. Pendleton Music House, Pendleton, Oregon. 52-2tc

HIGHEST CASH prices paid for livestock. We will be in Hermiston every week. Drop us a card if you have any stock to sell. Huston & Bennett Co. Inc., The Dalles, Oregon. You Can Always Find Bargains at Box 327. 31-1tc

PIANO FOR RENT - WRITE TO Pendleton Music House, Pendleton, Oregon. 52-2tc

UMATILLA NEWS ITEMS

W. T. Bray took a load of peaches and melons to Heppner and vicinity Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Corlyle were business visitors in Pendleton Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roberts and son Billy and J. S. Brown returned Wednesday from a week's trip to Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Nora Burwick and children Arthur and Jimmy have returned from a two weeks trip to Portland and Albany.

Mrs. Florence Tippie, Lyle Brown, Bill Roberts and Cecil Tippie motored to Pendleton Wednesday.

Betty McKenzie, Myrtle Byrnes and Robert McKenzie spent Saturday in Portland with E. McKenzie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Peck and children Donna and Eddie, motored to Pendleton Saturday evening.

A bridal shower was given at the J. B. Springer home honoring their daughter, Mrs. Wallace Mahoney, Wednesday afternoon. Many lovely gifts were received. Those present were: Mrs. Elmer McKenzie, Mrs. Vieg, Mrs. Jack Cherry, Mrs. J. E. Marshall, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. Fred Knutson, Mrs. Wm. Llewellyn, Mrs. Tom Tucker, Mrs. W. A. Conlon, Mrs. Harriet Ford, Mrs. George Kendler, Jr., Mrs. Lew Brownell, Mrs. Wm. Shepherd, Mrs. H. E. Robenbough.

Mrs. W. A. Byrnes and grandson, Ervin, are visiting Mrs. Byrnes' son James.

Louise Byrnes returned Monday from a two weeks visit with relatives in Washington.

Mrs. Ralph Taylor of Wallula visited her brother James Byrnes Monday.

James Eawens and daughter Ruth and Ray and Arthur McAtee and sons Arthur and Austin of Heppner visited at the John Wurrster home Wednesday evening.

Charles Powell of Portland is visiting in Umatilla.

Ed and Bert Stoe of Elgin, Ore., were in Umatilla getting a load of peaches and watermelons Friday.

Mrs. D. C. Mahoney and sons Wallace, Donald and Dwight of Portland were in Umatilla Thursday visiting.

Alma Caldwell is visiting relatives and friends in Eugene and Corvallis this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denman and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Norton and children motored to Yakima, Wn., Friday. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

Oliver McNabb of Aberdeen, Wn., is visiting in Umatilla with his brother, Pete McNabb.

Mrs. Harry Rhodenbough and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

J. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Williams have returned from Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. Anna Dyer and son Frank of Pendleton visited at the Wurrster home Thursday.

Earl Runcells of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is visiting with his brother, Rex, in Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Padburg and children Doris and Keith are visiting in Spokane, Wn., with Mr. Dodenbough's sister, Mrs. Atchison.

There can be only one answer. In the final analysis the individual drinker paid every penny of the liquor taxes. It is always that way with indirect taxation. Producer and distributor each gets a price that takes care of the taxes without cutting into profits. Nothing wrong about that. It is just good business. Now consider this: The cost of running our government is nearly four times as great today as it was in 1914. There are three very good reasons for that. First, we have been through the greatest war of all time and are still paying the bill. Second: our population is 25 per cent larger than in 1914. Third: a dollar buys less in both wages and commodities, so that it takes more dollars to accomplish the same result. Yet we hear no talk of Federal insolvency. Our financial condition, in fact, has grown steadily better. We have become the richest nation in the world. Where is the tax money coming from? Ultimately it is coming, as always, from the individual taxpayer, but he is paying it in different ways. He pays more in direct taxes. He pays taxes on his motor car, theatre tickets and other things. But what about prohibition enforcement? Who pays for that?

The answer is simple. Enforcement pays for itself. Here are figures for the first nine years of prohibition—as supplied by Dr. J. M. Moran United States Commissioner of Prohibition: Total cost of enforcement, $213,179,485; total collections from fines and penalties and revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented liquors, $460,502,792.76. Net balance, $247,323,307.76—a tidy sum indeed.

It would be too bad for America if she were forced to condone and encourage vice because of the tax money they would bring. No well-intentioned person would, for a moment have our government legalize interstate while slavery or traffic in drugs on the grounds that they could be heavily taxed. With liquor, as with these other vices, America has taken a fearless stand on the side of rationality, reason and public benefit.

The raising of needed revenue is no unsolved problem with our government. That was settled before the 18th amendment became effective.

(Article 8 next week.)

FATE OF MISSING U-BOAT UNSOLVED PAST WAR MYSTERY

Of the many unsolved mysteries of the war, one of the most baffling concerns the fact of some 28 German U-Boats, according to George O'Brien, Fox movietone featured player, a former naval officer himself, and the leading man in "The Sea Beneath," the first talkie of submarine warfare, that comes to the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday.

"After the war," O'Brien says, "the British naval experts checked their records of submarine sinkings with the German figures, and many interesting facts developed. The German lost 203 of their U-boats, including seven interned in various neutral ports, and 14 that were blown up by their officers when the Flanders submarine bases were evacuated.

"Of the other 182, 59 were sunk by gunfire from Allied warships. Allied mine-fields accounted for 43 of the German subs, and 18 more were sunk by being rammed by Allied ships. The Allies' own submarines accounted officially for 17 more and the 'mystery ships' or 'Q-ships,' are known to have destroyed 11 U-boats. Allied aircraft sank 6 more by aerial bombing, but 23 others are still unaccounted for, and neither the German nor the Allied records contain any clue to their fate."

There can be only one answer. In the final analysis the individual drinker paid every penny of the liquor taxes. It is always that way with indirect taxation. Producer and distributor each gets a price that takes care of the taxes without cutting into profits. Nothing wrong about that. It is just good business. Now consider this: The cost of running our government is nearly four times as great today as it was in 1914. There are three very good reasons for that. First, we have been through the greatest war of all time and are still paying the bill. Second: our population is 25 per cent larger than in 1914. Third: a dollar buys less in both wages and commodities, so that it takes more dollars to accomplish the same result. Yet we hear no talk of Federal insolvency. Our financial condition, in fact, has grown steadily better. We have become the richest nation in the world. Where is the tax money coming from? Ultimately it is coming, as always, from the individual taxpayer, but he is paying it in different ways. He pays more in direct taxes. He pays taxes on his motor car, theatre tickets and other things. But what about prohibition enforcement? Who pays for that?

The answer is simple. Enforcement pays for itself. Here are figures for the first nine years of prohibition—as supplied by Dr. J. M. Moran United States Commissioner of Prohibition: Total cost of enforcement, $213,179,485; total collections from fines and penalties and revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented liquors, $460,502,792.76. Net balance, $247,323,307.76—a tidy sum indeed.

It would be too bad for America if she were forced to condone and encourage vice because of the tax money they would bring. No well-intentioned person would, for a moment have our government legalize interstate while slavery or traffic in drugs on the grounds that they could be heavily taxed. With liquor, as with these other vices, America has taken a fearless stand on the side of rationality, reason and public benefit.

The raising of needed revenue is no unsolved problem with our government. That was settled before the 18th amendment became effective.

(Article 8 next week.)

FATE OF MISSING U-BOAT UNSOLVED PAST WAR MYSTERY

Of the many unsolved mysteries of the war, one of the most baffling concerns the fact of some 28 German U-Boats, according to George O'Brien, Fox movietone featured player, a former naval officer himself, and the leading man in "The Sea Beneath," the first talkie of submarine warfare, that comes to the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday.

"After the war," O'Brien says, "the British naval experts checked their records of submarine sinkings with the German figures, and many interesting facts developed. The German lost 203 of their U-boats, including seven interned in various neutral ports, and 14 that were blown up by their officers when the Flanders submarine bases were evacuated.

"Of the other 182, 59 were sunk by gunfire from Allied warships. Allied mine-fields accounted for 43 of the German subs, and 18 more were sunk by being rammed by Allied ships. The Allies' own submarines accounted officially for 17 more and the 'mystery ships' or 'Q-ships,' are known to have destroyed 11 U-boats. Allied aircraft sank 6 more by aerial bombing, but 23 others are still unaccounted for, and neither the German nor the Allied records contain any clue to their fate."

There can be only one answer. In the final analysis the individual drinker paid every penny of the liquor taxes. It is always that way with indirect taxation. Producer and distributor each gets a price that takes care of the taxes without cutting into profits. Nothing wrong about that. It is just good business. Now consider this: The cost of running our government is nearly four times as great today as it was in 1914. There are three very good reasons for that. First, we have been through the greatest war of all time and are still paying the bill. Second: our population is 25 per cent larger than in 1914. Third: a dollar buys less in both wages and commodities, so that it takes more dollars to accomplish the same result. Yet we hear no talk of Federal insolvency. Our financial condition, in fact, has grown steadily better. We have become the richest nation in the world. Where is the tax money coming from? Ultimately it is coming, as always, from the individual taxpayer, but he is paying it in different ways. He pays more in direct taxes. He pays taxes on his motor car, theatre tickets and other things. But what about prohibition enforcement? Who pays for that?

The answer is simple. Enforcement pays for itself. Here are figures for the first nine years of prohibition—as supplied by Dr. J. M. Moran United States Commissioner of Prohibition: Total cost of enforcement, $213,179,485; total collections from fines and penalties and revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented liquors, $460,502,792.76. Net balance, $247,323,307.76—a tidy sum indeed.

It would be too bad for America if she were forced to condone and encourage vice because of the tax money they would bring. No well-intentioned person would, for a moment have our government legalize interstate while slavery or traffic in drugs on the grounds that they could be heavily taxed. With liquor, as with these other vices, America has taken a fearless stand on the side of rationality, reason and public benefit.

The raising of needed revenue is no unsolved problem with our government. That was settled before the 18th amendment became effective.

(Article 8 next week.)

FATE OF MISSING U-BOAT UNSOLVED PAST WAR MYSTERY

Of the many unsolved mysteries of the war, one of the most baffling concerns the fact of some 28 German U-Boats, according to George O'Brien, Fox movietone featured player, a former naval officer himself, and the leading man in "The Sea Beneath," the first talkie of submarine warfare, that comes to the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday.

"After the war," O'Brien says, "the British naval experts checked their records of submarine sinkings with the German figures, and many interesting facts developed. The German lost 203 of their U-boats, including seven interned in various neutral ports, and 14 that were blown up by their officers when the Flanders submarine bases were evacuated.

"Of the other 182, 59 were sunk by gunfire from Allied warships. Allied mine-fields accounted for 43 of the German subs, and 18 more were sunk by being rammed by Allied ships. The Allies' own submarines accounted officially for 17 more and the 'mystery ships' or 'Q-ships,' are known to have destroyed 11 U-boats. Allied aircraft sank 6 more by aerial bombing, but 23 others are still unaccounted for, and neither the German nor the Allied records contain any clue to their fate."

There can be only one answer. In the final analysis the individual drinker paid every penny of the liquor taxes. It is always that way with indirect taxation. Producer and distributor each gets a price that takes care of the taxes without cutting into profits. Nothing wrong about that. It is just good business. Now consider this: The cost of running our government is nearly four times as great today as it was in 1914. There are three very good reasons for that. First, we have been through the greatest war of all time and are still paying the bill. Second: our population is 25 per cent larger than in 1914. Third: a dollar buys less in both wages and commodities, so that it takes more dollars to accomplish the same result. Yet we hear no talk of Federal insolvency. Our financial condition, in fact, has grown steadily better. We have become the richest nation in the world. Where is the tax money coming from? Ultimately it is coming, as always, from the individual taxpayer, but he is paying it in different ways. He pays more in direct taxes. He pays taxes on his motor car, theatre tickets and other things. But what about prohibition enforcement? Who pays for that?

The answer is simple. Enforcement pays for itself. Here are figures for the first nine years of prohibition—as supplied by Dr. J. M. Moran United States Commissioner of Prohibition: Total cost of enforcement, $213,179,485; total collections from fines and penalties and revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented liquors, $460,502,792.76. Net balance, $247,323,307.76—a tidy sum indeed.

It would be too bad for America if she were forced to condone and encourage vice because of the tax money they would bring. No well-intentioned person would, for a moment have our government legalize interstate while slavery or traffic in drugs on the grounds that they could be heavily taxed. With liquor, as with these other vices, America has taken a fearless stand on the side of rationality, reason and public benefit.

The raising of needed revenue is no unsolved problem with our government. That was settled before the 18th amendment became effective.

(Article 8 next week.)

FATE OF MISSING U-BOAT UNSOLVED PAST WAR MYSTERY

Of the many unsolved mysteries of the war, one of the most baffling concerns the fact of some 28 German U-Boats, according to George O'Brien, Fox movietone featured player, a former naval officer himself, and the leading man in "The Sea Beneath," the first talkie of submarine warfare, that comes to the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday.

"After the war," O'Brien says, "the British naval experts checked their records of submarine sinkings with the German figures, and many interesting facts developed. The German lost 203 of their U-boats, including seven interned in various neutral ports, and 14 that were blown up by their officers when the Flanders submarine bases were evacuated.

"Of the other 182, 59 were sunk by gunfire from Allied warships. Allied mine-fields accounted for 43 of the German subs, and 18 more were sunk by being rammed by Allied ships. The Allies' own submarines accounted officially for 17 more and the 'mystery ships' or 'Q-ships,' are known to have destroyed 11 U-boats. Allied aircraft sank 6 more by aerial bombing, but 23 others are still unaccounted for, and neither the German nor the Allied records contain any clue to their fate."

There can be only one answer. In the final analysis the individual drinker paid every penny of the liquor taxes. It is always that way with indirect taxation. Producer and distributor each gets a price that takes care of the taxes without cutting into profits. Nothing wrong about that. It is just good business. Now consider this: The cost of running our government is nearly four times as great today as it was in 1914. There are three very good reasons for that. First, we have been through the greatest war of all time and are still paying the bill. Second: our population is 25 per cent larger than in 1914. Third: a dollar buys less in both wages and commodities, so that it takes more dollars to accomplish the same result. Yet we hear no talk of Federal insolvency. Our financial condition, in fact, has grown steadily better. We have become the richest nation in the world. Where is the tax money coming from? Ultimately it is coming, as always, from the individual taxpayer, but he is paying it in different ways. He pays more in direct taxes. He pays taxes on his motor car, theatre tickets and other things. But what about prohibition enforcement? Who pays for that?

The answer is simple. Enforcement pays for itself. Here are figures for the first nine years of prohibition—as supplied by Dr. J. M. Moran United States Commissioner of Prohibition: Total cost of enforcement, $213,179,485; total collections from fines and penalties and revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented liquors, $460,502,792.76. Net balance, $247,323,307.76—a tidy sum indeed.

It would be too bad for America if she were forced to condone and encourage vice because of the tax money they would bring. No well-intentioned person would, for a moment have our government legalize interstate while slavery or traffic in drugs on the grounds that they could be heavily taxed. With liquor, as with these other vices, America has taken a fearless stand on the side of rationality, reason and public benefit.

The raising of needed revenue is no unsolved problem with our government. That was settled before the 18th amendment became effective.

(Article 8 next week.)

FATE OF MISSING U-BOAT UNSOLVED PAST WAR MYSTERY

Of the many unsolved mysteries of the war, one of the most baffling concerns the fact of some 28 German U-Boats, according to George O'Brien, Fox movietone featured player, a former naval officer himself, and the leading man in "The Sea Beneath," the first talkie of submarine warfare, that comes to the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday.

"After the war," O'Brien says, "the British naval experts checked their records of submarine sinkings with the German figures, and many interesting facts developed. The German lost 203 of their U-boats, including seven interned in various neutral ports, and 14 that were blown up by their officers when the Flanders submarine bases were evacuated.

"Of the other 182, 59 were sunk by gunfire from Allied warships. Allied mine-fields accounted for 43 of the German subs, and 18 more were sunk by being rammed by Allied ships. The Allies' own submarines accounted officially for 17 more and the 'mystery ships' or 'Q-ships,' are known to have destroyed 11 U-boats. Allied aircraft sank 6 more by aerial bombing, but 23 others are still unaccounted for, and neither the German nor the Allied records contain any clue to their fate."

There can be only one answer. In the final analysis the individual drinker paid every penny of the liquor taxes. It is always that way with indirect taxation. Producer and distributor each gets a price that takes care of the taxes without cutting into profits. Nothing wrong about that. It is just good business. Now consider this: The cost of running our government is nearly four times as great today as it was in 1914. There are three very good reasons for that. First, we have been through the greatest war of all time and are still paying the bill. Second: our population is 25 per cent larger than in 1914. Third: a dollar buys less in both wages and commodities, so that it takes more dollars to accomplish the same result. Yet we hear no talk of Federal insolvency. Our financial condition, in fact, has grown steadily better. We have become the richest nation in the world. Where is the tax money coming from? Ultimately it is coming, as always, from the individual taxpayer, but he is paying it in different ways. He pays more in direct taxes. He pays taxes on his motor car, theatre tickets and other things. But what about prohibition enforcement? Who pays for that?

The answer is simple. Enforcement pays for itself. Here are figures for the first nine years of prohibition—as supplied by Dr. J. M. Moran United States Commissioner of Prohibition: Total cost of enforcement, $213,179,485; total collections from fines and penalties and revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented revenue from taxes on lawful spirits and fermented liquors, $460,502,792.76. Net balance, $247,323,307.76—a tidy sum indeed.

It would be too bad for America if she were forced to condone and encourage vice because of the tax money they would bring. No well-intentioned person would, for a moment have our government legalize interstate while slavery or traffic in drugs