Retains Prestige.

It was revealed last week that The Hermiston Herald still retains its prestige as a newspaper in this territory where it serves its readers in every way possible.

We happened last week to get the date for a shipment of turkeys about four days earlier than it should be and it seemed that growers considered it so official that they were penning up their turkeys, and getting ready to kill.

Of course we are glad to know that what we have in our paper is considered official, because we try to have it so, but—by some hook or crook this date was a little previous, and we would prefer that growers would depend definitely upon their turkey association headquarters.

Did you ever feel like the little chick in the garden when the leaves were falling? Well, we did last Friday—but such is the life of a country editor.

If the lid ever flies off over in China it is apt to land in the old United States.

Everyone is speaking of those who are hoarding their riches until the business depression is over. We would like to be in a position to be spoken of.

Rigid Economy—When Pa says the coal bin cannot be filled until the lump coal arrives tomorrow.

LA GRANDE—Bernal D. Hug of Elgin reports a five bushel yield of good yellow blossom sweet clover seed, says H. G. Avery, county agent. This crop is much more valuable than wheat and is being extended to a larger area each year, according to Mr. Avery. Mr. Hug also has 20 acres of Ladak alfalfa planted in rows, which will be harvested for seed in 1932.

CHURCH NOTES

HERMISTON BAPTIST CHURCH W. L. Wilson, Pastor. Sunday school, 10:00 a. m., Mrs. Serell, superintendent. Morning worship, Subject for sermon, "Bring Them To Me." Evening Evangelistic Service, 7:30 Strangers always welcome. If you do not worship elsewhere, come and find a welcome.

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, Nov. 8.

The Golden Text was, "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light" (Eph. 5:14).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils; for wherein is he to be accounted of?" (Isa. 2:22).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science separates error from truth, and breathes through the sacred pages the spiritual sense of life, substance, and intelligence. In this Science, we discover man in the image and likeness of God. We see that man has never lost his spiritual estate and his eternal harmony" (p.548).

Paul Miller was confined to the hospital for a few days on account of illness.

Several years ago there was a break in the A-line about a mile from the Cold Springs reservoir. It was fixed temporarily at that time. People in Columbia will be interested to know that this is being fixed permanently. The old flume has been torn out and a pipe put in to carry off the sub-water, which has been a menace to the safety of the A-line for some time. Over this pipe, dirt and gravel has been packed. It will be left as it is until spring, except for running water in it on occasionally to help pack the ground better. Just before irrigation time this coming spring, a concrete lining will be put in on the well-packed foundation. This is expected to be much safer than the way it has been in the past. The work on the foundation was finished Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Templeton and Frank Chandler were visitors at the Tom Stewart home Monday evening.

"THE BIG GAMBLE" EXCITING DRAMA. Exciting dramatic entertainment is afforded in "The Big Gamble," the Bill Boyd picture now screening at the Oasis theatre.

They have given Boyd a fine vehicle, splendid supporting talent and one of the best directors in the business for this picture.

The story, concocted by Walter DeLeon and F. McGrew Willis from a novel by Octavus Roy Cohen, hinges upon a man's struggle which he has imposed upon himself in a weird transaction.

In spite of its different plot, the story is at all times believable and is made completely plausible by the splendid performances of the star and the members of his imposing supporting cast, Dorothy Sebastian, Warner Oland, James Gleason, ZaSu Pitts, June MacCloy, William Collier, Jr., Ralph Ince and Geneva Mitchell. The directorial treatment of the veteran Fred Niblo has gotten the most from every situation. To pass up "The Big Gamble" is to miss a picture that entertains and shows our most virile film hero at his dramatic best.

A LIFE STORY OF ONE OF THE BIGGEST BROADWAY WINNERS.

Winnie Lightner's mother died when she was born and she was taken by an aunt and uncle who several years later moved to Buffalo where Winnie was educated. When in the early teens she persuaded her foster parents to let her try out her budding dramatic talents on amateur nights in a local theatre. Although Winnie had planned to deliver several rather tragic songs, she was late at the theatre and had to run a part of the distance in the rain. The result was that she was shoved onto the stage before she caught her breath and her serious songs were laughed at instead of being wept over.

From that time on Winnie decided to keep 'em laughing. Her progress was comparatively rapid, first in small time vaudeville and later on the big circuits. Finally her name appeared in lights on Broadway and eventually she was starred in such musical shows as "Gay Paree," "George White Scandals" and other equally preposterous productions.

Miss Lightner spent several seasons abroad in the London "Kit Kat" club and in Paris night resorts. Returning later to the American stage she was signed by Warner Brothers to play a supporting role in one of the early musical talking pictures "Gold Diggers of Broadway."

Miss Lightner was an overnight sonation in that picture and a long term contract was signed even before its release. This first success was followed by "She Couldn't Say No," "Show of Shows," "The Life of the Party," "Sit Tight," "Hold Everything" and "Gold Dust Gertie."

Miss Lightner was born in Greenport Long Island. She is of medium height, weighs one hundred and twenty pounds, and has red hair and greenish blue eyes.

DALLAS—With a total of 353 sacks of hardy red clover seed harvested from Polk county fields which passed final inspection, of which all but 80 sacks have been graded No. 1, farmers of this county are approaching the goal they have set for themselves—to have only the hardy type of red clover planted in Polk county in 1933. It is hoped by this means to re-establish the reputation of western Oregon seed in the eastern states, according to County Agent J. R. Beck, who is directing the campaign for the change from common to hardy red clover.
