'I Am Still Rich'

We have passed through a panic, suffered from a crash on the stock market, and are now more than half way through the depression, and I am still rich.

It may be true that I have much less to live on than I had a year ago, but it is certainly true that I have just as much as ever to live for.

The depression has not lowered the value of a single friendship. Neighbors still greet us in the same cordial way, business associations believe in us, and our sons hold us in high respect.

No nation becomes great becoming rich. Neither does a man find enduring satisfaction in life by owning something—only by becoming something. The most degrading poverty is that which results from killing the spirit that the body may be served.

This depression is a challenge, not a catastrophe. A generation that has conquered the air and sent giant planes circling the globe, which has plunged into the deeps and disported on the ocean's floor, which has climbed above the clouds and lived in the stratosphere, is now faced with the challenge to rise above its dependence on mere things and seek an emancipation of the spirit of man.

The last six months have been for many a thrilling spiritual adventure through which they have discovered their real wealth. Bereft of dividends and profits, they are discovering the sustaining powers of a strong religious faith, the abiding values of courage, heroism, honor, charity, and trustworthiness.

A financial crisis can wipe out profits and bring business to a standstill, but character is beyond its reach. It can rob us of all we have, but it cannot affect what we are.

The deepest satisfaction of life—those which come from sharing and serving—remain secure.

I am still rich because I am independently rich—none of my wealth depends upon business conditions or market reports.—Roy L. Smith, in the Hub (Saskatoon, Sask.)

CHURCH NOTES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

God the Only Cause and Creator was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Dec. 6.

The Golden Text was, "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord; and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might" (Deut. 6:4, 5).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth" (Ps. 33:6).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Mind is the only cause or Principle of existence. Cause does not exist in matter, in mortal mind, or in physical forms" (p.262).
