"Every board, every person handling public money, should publish an account of it."

A Super-Executive.

Committee reports adopted at the meeting of the state board of higher education held in Portland Monday contained plans for consolidation of schools and courses, reform of campus living conditions, and establishment of military science as an elective. Under the consolidation plan six major schools will be located at Eugene, six at Corvallis, and one, the medical school, at Portland. These schools together with the Normal schools at La Grande, Ashland, and Monmouth will be under the direction of one super-executive.

The super-executive or chancellor, is in itself a redeeming feature in this plan. Since the beginning of time there has been one head, a center from which instructions have been sent out. The ruler of the universe controls the elements of nature; Kings and Presidents have controlled the destinies of nations; organizations, schools, and even the home must have a head, someone to direct. If the chancellor is an honest man, possessing splendid business ability, and understands the curricula of the Oregon institutions of higher learning from A to Z, the plan should eventually be carried through to completion in effecting a $2,000,000 less cost yearly sought by the curricula committee.

The medium for our economic system, money, has been withdrawn from circulation causing all lines of industry to be checked to the point that many millions of people in the United States are unemployed. It has caused the board of higher education for Oregon to seek consolidation whereby an economic program may be outlined. All business will be dispatched from the super-executive to the dean of the school as the plan now stands, in the hope of reducing overhead costs.

ENROLLMENT FOR CITIZEN'S TRAINING CAMP OPENS.

Vancouver Barracks, Wash., Mar. 8, (Special)—What is expected to be the largest enrollment in history of the citizen's military training camp at this post since its inception in 1926 by Brigadier General Paul A. Wolf, is in process now.

Approximately 525 young men of Oregon and southwestern Washington have applied for the 1932 session of Camp Hurlburt, the 30-day training period given annually without cost by the government.

Of this number 3 have applied from Umatilla County.

Only physically qualified youngsters of good repute in the community in which they reside are eligible. Every means is taken to assure parents of their physical, moral and mental protection and development during this month. Two chaplains of christian denominations and a score of officers trained in physical and mental education, compose the staff of General Wolf, it is announced at Post Headquarters.

Applications to date have been received here from the following Umatilla county youths: Blaine B. Casteel, Meachan, Ore., Myles P. Farrell, and Rex P. Baumgardner, both of Pendleton.

BAPTIST CHURCH

E. James Cain, Pastor.
 The meetings at the Baptist church are well attended this week. They will close Sunday night when Rev. Hunderup will preach on, "The Leader of a Hard Gang in a Bad City." In the morning he will speak on, "Seeing a Vision and Hearing a Voice."
 The children's meetings began Tuesday afternoon with seventy children present. They will close Friday afternoon. By that time there will probably be more than a hundred in attendance. The children like Rev. Hunderup as also do the older folks. His Southern wit and humor just make people like him. His sincere desire to preach the unadulterated gospel of Jesus Christ makes God loving people come back for more.
 Come and hear Evangelist Hunderup. We are sure you will like him. Perhaps, too, he will help you to a closer contact with God.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Men" was the subject of the Lesson - Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 6.
 The Golden Text was, "O man greatly beloved, fear not: peace be unto thee, be strong, yea, be strong" (Dan. 10:19).
 Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (II Cor. 5:17).
 The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace" (p. 255).

Two Chicago Bankers Prominent In Drive Against Depression

Charles G. Dawes (left), Chairman of the New Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago Banker.

CHICAGO and the Middle West have a double interest in the success of the gigantic Reconstruction Finance Corporation which is now being organized in Washington following speedy action by Congress.
 Charles G. Dawes, whose name is almost synonymous for the business community of Chicago will sit in the driver's seat as the active head of the great $2,000,000,000 Federal corporation just authorized by Congress.
 Another Chicago banker, a Democrat who is being repeatedly mentioned as a man of Presidential timber, has the distinction of making a vital contribution to the initial strength and success of the Reconstruction Corporation. That man is Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, who was the first to visualize and propose that the Reconstruction Corporation render some service to thousands of depositors of small banks which had failed during the past two years. The gist of Mr. Traylor's proposal before a Senate Sub-Committee was that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be authorized to make loans to closed banks as well as to financial institutions and others needing its aid. Such a step would release substantial amounts of money to depositors whose funds had been "frozen" by the failure of such banks.
 Mr. Traylor's suggestion made such an impression that it was embodied in the Bill as finally passed by Congress. He, more than any other man, is responsible for the timely assistance that will now be possible for many depositors of small banks throughout the country.
