Twenty-nine declarations for candidacy had been received when the time for filing expired at 5 P. M. Of these, 20 were republicans, and 9 democrats, the majority registering on the republican ticket.

Clive Cheshire, Milton, Jim C. Hoskins, Stanfield, Norborne Berkeley, Pendleton, Joe Hawkins, Adams, and E. C. Presbye, Athena, have filed for county judge. All are republicans except Presbye.

Aspirants for the office of county clerk are equally as many. Republican candidates are E. B. Casteel, Pendleton; Robert Bond, Pendleton; Alex Manning, Pendleton; and Chas. L. Pinkerton, Weston, democratic candidate.

Five candidates have filed for the office of county commissioner, three are republicans, R. C. Todd, Hermiston, W. A. Gilliam, Pilot Rock, and J. M. Harris, Reith. The two democratic candidates are Wm. R. Meiners, Pendleton, and Lane Hoon, Umapine.

Ernest E. Waldon, Freewater, and R. J. Wheeler, Pendleton, are republican candidates for assessor, and O. F. Steel, Pendleton, is the only democratic candidate for that office.

J. A. Yeager, incumbent, of Pendleton is the only republican aspirant for county school superintendent, and Della Rush, Pendleton, has an open field on the democratic ticket.

WELL KNOWN STANFIELD MATRON PASSES SUDDENLY

Mrs. C. M. Jump who had been ill in the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland for some time, passed away suddenly last Friday morning. Mrs. Jump was highly esteemed by all who knew her and was very active in, and ready to identify herself with, all community work. She will be greatly missed by all who knew her. She was a member of the Eastern Star, Grange Study club, Home Economics club, Polly Anna club, Ladies Aid, and Bridge club.

Viola D. Benter was born in Ohio 63 years ago. In her youth her family moved to Colorado where she later met and married C. M. Jump. The ceremony was performed in Denver, and the two had lived together for 42 years last Thanksgiving day. They lived in Denver for 15 years when they moved to Powell, Colorado, where Mr. Jump was engaged in reclamation work for 19 years. They came to Stanfield five years ago this June where Mr. Jump is still engaged in reclamation work.

Besides her husband she leaves two sisters, Miss Ruth Benter of Seattle and Mrs. Hattie Jones who lives in Colorado.

Funeral services were held in Seattle Monday and interment made in the family plot.

HERMISTON TAKES FIRST TWO BASEBALL GAMES OF SEASON

The first two baseball games played here this season were won by Hermiston teams. The town team won from the Mission Indians by a 9-0 score and the high school team defeated Stanfield high Friday afternoon 11-3. The splendid pitching of "Tommy" Stewart was a big asset in the winning of the game for Hermiston.

Jim Neary brought in the first run in the first inning and Stanfield crossed the plate for their first marker in the third inning, making another two runs in the last inning chalking up a total of three runs.

Moore pulled out a nice 3-bagger in the second inning bringing Stewart and Cox safely across the home plate. Stewart slugged a 3-bagger in the third inning while Martin was on bases. The score at the end of the third inning stood 8-0 in favor of Hermiston.

Neary and Klages each brought in a run in the fourth inning bringing the score to 10-1. The remainder of the game was a battle between the two teams.

JACK'S, BROWN BOBBY SHOP WILL OPEN SATURDAY.

J. L. Hause of Pendleton has announced that he will open a new lunch counter in the building next to Bowman's Shoe Shop Saturday, April 9th. The place will be called "Jack's Brown Bobby Shop," and Mr. Hause announced that his daughter, Twila, who graduates from the Echo high school this spring, will assist him. She is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bailey of Hermiston.

Mr. Hause will serve sandwiches, pastries, and specialize in doughnuts which are made with a doughnut machine. The place will be kept open late in the evening and especially after shows and dances.

Freak Lamb Exhibited.

A freak lamb was exhibited in town this week which had no eyes, nose or mouth, and the ears were branched from what would be the center of the forehead. The lamb was from a flock of mixed breed sheep on the Paul Seliger ranch. It was born dead, but was apparently normal otherwise.

Two Arrests Made.

Two arrests were made last week by Bert Nation, deputy sheriff stationed here. John Kerren was picked up on the Stanfield place, wanted on a bad check charge, and Ray Shockey Thursday on the Bob Allen place below Umatilla on the Columbia caught skinning a beaver. He was taken to Pendleton and turned over to Geo. Glen, state game warden. Stokard is 16 years old and it is his first offense.

R. C. Todd, candidate for county commissioner seeking the republican nomination, and F. C. McKenzie were business visitors in Pendleton Saturday.

Irrigated Agricultural Adaptations Of the Umatilla Project.

The territory between Echo and Umatilla presents quite a varied aspect as regards soil conditions and resulting types of farming which are followed.

In the Meadows, west of Echo and Stanfield, and on Butter Creek, considerable hay, largely alfalfa, is grown and shipped. Some of the larger farms feed most of their hay to beef cattle and sheep, only the surplus hay is sold. Dairying is only a minor farm enterprise on most of the large ranches, but is slowly gaining ground. When livestock prices come up, the tendency will be for less and less hay to be shipped, and more livestock to be fed.

The territory north of Stanfield is similar to the Meadows in crop adaptations. The soil is more sandy. The farms are smaller and dairying rather than livestock feeding, the major farm enterprise. Poultry and turkeys are raised to quite an extent in the region also. This year there is a decided tendency for improved pastures here. Several new Ladino pastures are being seeded in suitable ground.

The territory adjacent to Hermiston has still a more sandy type of soil than north of Stanfield, this makes a very ideal condition for chickens and turkeys. The sandy soil being well drained, and disease-free. Dairying is a major project on most of the farms, the skimmed milk being used for poultry or hogs.

Improving of asparagus is also occupying the attention of the farmers here. Sweet clover for the er, or sandler soils, is the recommended pasture, with Ladino being used on ground having higher moisture retentivity without alkali.

The Westland district southwest of Hermiston is quite an alfalfa growing, dairy region, poultry and turkeys being minor enterprises. Throughout all this territory, some potatoes are grown and shipped and near Hermiston asparagus, second to none in quality, is grown as a market is developed there will probably be quite an expansion of asparagus acreage.

Marketing is taken care of largely by means of cooperative organizations, but private buyers operate in the territory. The Umatilla Project Growers' association, which is affiliated with the Kennebec growers, market the early potatoes, asparagus, and such products, that is marketed in carload lots.

Most of the poultrymen are members of the Pacific Egg & Poultry Producers association, and ship to the Portland plant.

The turkey crop is handled largely through the eastern Oregon Turkey Growers association which is affiliated with the Oregon Turkey Growers and through them with the North Western Turkey Growers.

Butterfat is taken care of by the Umatilla Cooperative Creamery, which, except for local print trade, markets through interstate associated creameries of Portland.

There are two buying organizations, which sell to members only. The Grange Cooperative and Farm Bureau Cooperative. The Grange Cooperative handles such products as fuel, oils, farm machinery, hardware lumber, etc.

The Farm Bureau Cooperative buys grain and concentrates in carload quantities, mixes and processes feeds, and sells the finished product to member dairymen, poultrymen and livestock feeders. This organization also handles seed for the farmers.

Just to show that men are not the only folks doing things in a progressive way here, the ladies have organized and operate three cooperatives, which tend to make farm work less burdensome for farm women.

The Ladies of Stanfield Grange operate a laundry where members bring their washing weekly and enjoy the benefits of electric machines.

The Farm Bureau Auxiliary operates a cooperative laundry at Hermiston and also a cannery where various fruits, vegetables, and meats are prepared by the housewife, put in tin cans and processed and sealed by the cannery manager.

Mr. Upham has a flue heating system for his early planting.

FIRE TOTALLY DESTROYS DAN PARKER RANCH HOME.

Fire totally destroyed the Dan Parker ranch home Monday night in Columbia district, and for a time endangered the barn on the M. M. Smith farm. A high northwest wind was blowing but by keeping water on the building, neighbors were able to save it. The fire was discovered about midnight by Mrs. Parker who awoke to find the rooms filled with smoke. She succeeded in getting herself and six small children out before the roof collapsed. The origin of the fire was not known. The home was valued at between $1500 and $1800.

MIKE PUT IN CLASSROOM TO BROADCAST LECTURES.

Moore, professor of sociology, will deliver a weekly lecture to his class in general sociology. Radio listeners tuned in at 11 o'clock each Tuesday morning may hear this lecture exactly as he gives it to the students.

Two examinations will be given the radio class and certificates will be issued those "passing," though no college credit will be allowed.

The course will deal with general sociological problems such as crime, poverty, family life, recreation and social and economic conflicts.

HERMISTON SCOUTS BACKED FINANCIALLY BY COMMERCIAL CLUB

LEADERS HOLD TROOP TOGETHER UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

$20 Dollars Voted for Immediate Use; Committee Will Receive Instructions from Executive.

For the first time since the Hermiston Boy Scout troop was organized by Walter Warner, eighth grade teacher, six years ago, it is being backed by a local organization. Tuesday the Hermiston Commercial club voted to furnish financial backing for the troop and in so doing makes it a community enterprise. O. W. Payne, local scout master for the past two years has struggled along with the troop under difficult conditions and presented his problems before the club Tuesday, when the club acted favorably upon his suggestion that they back the scouts financially.

An executive committee was appointed with H. A. Pankow as chairman, and W. E. Jones, M. L. Watson, Harry Kelley, and Alfred Quiring as members, who will receive instructions from the Elue Mountain Council Scout Executive, Robert H. Hayes, at Walla Walla, to learn what their work will be. The club also voted $20 for immediate use by the Boy Scout troop.

Heretofore the scouts have found it necessary to use what dues could be collected to purchase merit badges and finance trips to rallies and summer camps, which has often worked a hardship on the Scout Master as well as the members. The boys have often had to stay at home from summer camps and hiking trips for lack of finances. Last year 90 merit badges were awarded members of the local troop, and all were paid for by the boys.

Benefits derived from a scout troop will be realized more in later years when the present membership become grown citizens of our country, then the training received now will be brought out in dealings with their business associates. It is a worth-while enterprise and is deserving of the financial backing of a community organization.

It was stated that the Farm Bureau possibly would also contribute to the movement.

ALONG THE CONCRETE

A familiar sight; J. H. Reid driving down Main street in one of Henry Ford's first offsprings, with the back seat loaded down with egg crates. The Reid Ford is the latest thing in open air egg coolers.

We were all set to make a bet with one of our citizens on which candidate would be elected sheriff when we were informed that "one of them" would make it up stream.

Logan Todd and Al Clayton were getting a sun tan early in the season while they were talking over the latest development along the political lines. (It could have been fish lines.) Logan's Ford runabout has no top, you know.

The portrait of Baxter Hutchison may be recorded in the Hall of Fame after two small boys sketched his likeness while he puffed away at one of those famous "5c cigars" Wednesday. The boys could not have chosen a more outstanding figure.

Even the horses are unemployed these days. An old plug walked into the service department of the Rohrman garage this morning with a rather uncertain look. Whether he wanted lubrication or a new radiator was not learned but he felt so badly about being clubbed out by Jack Smith and Salesman Clark that he struggled along until he espied the soft, velvety lawn on the O. O. Felthouse place (the one Oran has labored over by the hour) and quietly walked up the steps and laid down for a nice long rest. Oran discovered him there a little later and immediately informed H. A. Pankow that it was his job to remove him. Pankow replied that they would take the matter up with the Commercial club next Tuesday.
