SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 PER YEAR

TEACHING STAFF FOR HERMISTON PUBLIC SCHOOLS COMPLETED

ONLY THREE NEW NAMES APPEAR ON LIST.

Board Affects Economy in Salary Cuts; Prospects Bright After Tax Receipts are Received.

The teaching staff for the Hermiston Union High school and the elementary grade school has been completed by Superintendent R. H. McAtee for the coming school year, with all but three of the old personal.

Contracts signed for the school year beginning in September 1932 call for a twenty per cent cut for all high school teachers and a flat salary of $110 for all elementary school teachers. This action was taken by the board early this spring to take effect this fall. The music department was discontinued as another economy measure. R. A. Brownson, school clerk for the two Hermiston school districts, recently received the first half of the school tax money for the districts and says that the receipts compare favorably with those of last year.

The teaching staff for Union High School district No. 9 include Miss Esther Sibert, commercial; Henry N. Harger, social science and Spanish; Wallace J. Cochran, science and coach; Miss Jessie B. Brierley, mathematics and Latin; and Miss Margaret Elliott, English and girls athletics.

The faculty for the lower grades for district No. 14 include Miss Rachel Sloan, first grade; Miss Mary Petrie, second grade; Miss Catherine McBain, third grade; Miss Magdolene Buck, fourth grade; and Miss Eva Bartsch, fifth grade. Upper grade departmental teachers are: Miss Ingrid Bolling, sixth grade; Clarence Henning, seventh grade; and Millie Holm, eighth grade.

PLANS PREPARED FOR

POULTRYMEN IN BULLETINS.

Despite low egg prices, many Oregon poultrymen are taking advantage of equally low lumber prices to improve their poultry plants and get them in shape for more efficient production for the better times believed certain to follow.

To meet the demand for approved plans for poultry construction in this state, the Oregon State college extension service has just issued a series of three bulletins prepared by the poultry and agricultural engineering departments of the college which contain descriptions, bill of materials and detailed plans for constructing range houses, brooder houses and insulated egg rooms.

"Building Plans and Bill of Materials for O.S.C. Portable Brooder House" is the title of extension bulletin No. 446 by A. G. Lunn, head of the poultry department of the experiment station. The house described has been used successfully on the college poultry farm. It is built on runners so it may be moved at least once for each lot of chicks brooded.

"O.S.C. Range House" is the name of the second of the series, extension bulletins No. 442. This range house has been in general use for several years and has proved satisfactorily as a means of rearing pullets to maturity under sanitary and fresh-air conditions, says Professor Lunn W. J. Gilmore who are the authors.

"How to Construct an Insulated Egg Storage Room," is the title of the third bulletin, No. 445, by F. E. Price and A. G. Lunn. Plans for this type of building were developed to meet the situation reported by cooperative and private egg dealers to the effect that producers were losing large sums every summer from off grade eggs because of improper farm storage after first class eggs were produced by high quality flocks. The plans given in this bulletin will enable a farmer to build a room that will insure excellent storage for his eggs at a cost of materials of $15 to $40, depending on whether it is built as a separate building or as a room in an existing one.

These bulletins may be had free from county agents or the college direct.

UMATILLA CO-OP CREAMERY INSTALLS NEW CRANO CHURN.

The Umatilla Co-operative Creamery had a new 1200 pound capacity Crano churn installed last Saturday which will take care of 400 gallons of cream at one churning. It is one of the most modern churns manufactured. The cream passes through two sets of rollers twice during every revolution which insures a thorough and even churning. The churn is perfectly balanced and takes less power for operation. All cog wheels are boxed and run in oil.

At present the creamery is making two churnings a day, one with first grade cream and the other with third grade cream. The third grade cream has previously been shipped to Portland. Production of the creamery has more than doubled since it started operation nearly a year ago.

Refrigeration storage space was recently enlarged by moving the bin containing brine to the top of the storage room. Other improvements are being planned, including redecoration of the walls and ceiling on the interior of the building.

The latest cream test made by the state inspector averaged 35.87 and the state required test is an average of 35.50.

SERVICE STATION GOING UP ON WEST SIDE HIGHWAY.

W. G. Gifford, formerly of Stanfield, has started construction on a service station on the west side highway, directly across from the Union Pacific depot, which he plans to have ready for operation by the first of July. The station will be leased to John Grindstaff for one year, who will live in the old Ole-decker building next to the auditorium.

John Heckman of Stanfield is building the station which will be 16x26 with a two-way drive on either side of a 550 gallon pressure pump. The corner property was purchased from W. G. and G. W. Bailey and has an 80-foot front and is 110 feet deep.

Serving Fine.

Cecil Ledgett, arrested Saturday night in Hermiston by sheriff deputies, state police, and Bert Nation, deputy stationed here, was fined $100 later that same night in justice court, Judge West presiding, on a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor. He is now serving his fine in the county jail at Pendleton.

JANET GAYNOR IN NEW ROLE AS SCOTCH IMMIGRANT.

Kilts, a flaming red tam o' shanter, a little Scotch terrier, and a delightful Scotch brogue are the chief properties of Janet Gaynor for her new role in "Delicious," Fox melody romance coming Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Oasis theatre.

As a Scotch orphan lassie, Miss Gaynor is first seen amid a gay and colorful peasantry in the steeple of a large ocean liner headed for America. Her wistful charm and bubbling sense of humor immediately endear her to everyone, including a troupe of talented Russian entertainers who adopt her as one of their own.

Charles Farrell, co-star in the picture, also becomes acquainted with her on the boat, as does El Brendel, who is seen as Farrell's valet. The romance which springs up between Janet and Charlie on their first meeting is the motivating theme of the picture. Their adventures, which include a strange misunderstanding between them and Janet's threat of a spite marriage, carry them ashore where their troubles are augmented by the persistence of Virginia Cherrill to win Charlie's affection, and of Lawrence O'Sullivan, an immigration officer, to arrest Janet for entering the country illegally.

Spontaneous gaiety and much comedy are woven through the picture which is set with a background of George Gershwin music. This includes six musical numbers by the famous composer, the words of which were written by his talented brother, Ira Gershwin. They are "You Started It," "Blah-Blah-Blah With You," "Delishious," "Somebody From Somewhere," "Katinitschka," and "New York Rhapsody."

The last named composition is symbolic of the spirit expressed in the building of America.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION PLANS BRING REMINISCENCE

COMMITTEE IS NAMED FROM PROJECT FARM BUREAU.

Committee Will Prohibit Use of Fireworks on Grounds; Free Lemonade and Coffee.

Just two weeks from Monday, June 20, is the date of the big annual Fourth of July celebration staged by the Umatilla Project Farm Bureau and the Stanfield Grange. It is a time looked forward to by many people and is a time that recalls something of the memory of the old Fourth of July celebrations with its picnic lunches, fireworks, sports, and greased poles.

One of the old time features that has been eliminated by the committee for this year is the use of explosives on the grounds. This decision was made in the interest and safety of pleasure-seekers.

The Umatilla Project Farm Bureau has charge of all arrangements for the celebration this year and the committee has named New Madden as a committee of one to handle the program for that day. Events will start at 10:30 a. m. in Columbia park, 3 1/2 miles northwest of Hermiston, where there is an abundance of shade, water, and green grass. An invitation is extended to the public to attend.

As is customary, each family will bring a basket dinner. Coffee, cream and sugar, and lemonade will be dispensed on the grounds free of charge. Ice cream will be for sale by 4-H club members.

A committee to have charge of parking arrangements has been appointed by the celebration committee, and ample space will be available.

A baseball game has been arranged as a climax for the day, but contestants have not been named.

The personnel of the committee includes A. E. Benschel, C. M. Jackson, New Madden, Henry Sommerer, C. L. Upham, and Henry Ott.

LOCALLY KNOWN CHILDREN PARTICIPATE IN PET PARADE.

Two youngsters, well known in Hermiston, received honorable mention as participants in the pet parade in Pendleton Monday night. Todd Holt, grandson of R. C. Todd, and son of Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Holt, of Pendleton, was mentioned as "undoubtedly the most popular feature of the parade as Mahatma Gandhi, who was cheered by everyone."

Todd, swathed in a sheet, wearing glasses and carrying a most Gandhi-like stick, was accompanied by the famous Mahatma goat. "The whole effect," said the East Oregonian, "was exceptionally realistic and clever and Todd received a big hand." Faith Wilson, of Hermiston, who was riding a shetland pony owned by Joe Hawkins, received the prize for the largest pet.

BUILDING PROGRAM ON DAIRY & POULTRY RANCH COMPLETED

CAPONS, FRIARS, TURKEYS AND DAIRY COWS FEATURED.

Oil Burners Used in Modern Brooder Houses; Removable Trays Insure Proper Sanitation

An extensive building program has recently been completed on one of the most modern poultry and dairy ranches on the Stanfield project which is being operated by Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Gregory and family for W. W. Coe, of Portland, manager of the Morning Side hospital, a government hospital for the insane of Alaska.

The farm is located about two miles east of Stanfield and includes 120 acres. An electric pump furnishes water as needed and the house is equipped with all modern conveniences.

At present Mrs. Gregory is caring for approximately 1500 capons and friars which are housed in a hen house with four compartments, each adjacent to a ranging yard and sun porch. A caponizing house with a capacity for 300 birds sets at the base of the hill from the brooder house.

Kenneth Gregory has charge of 2000 turkeys which are housed in modernly equipped brooder houses. The houses face west and are 8x16 with a 7 3/4x52 in. Hoover in the east end. The floors are covered with wire netting and the droppings are removed by small trays made of ply wood through a hinged door along the north side of the brooder house. This insures sanitation. Each brooder house is equipped with electric lights and an oil burner, totaling eight in all.

At least 50 turkey poulters out of every hatching are from Herman's prize-winning flock at Harrisburg, Oregon.

A herd of 40 dairy cows is tested monthly for abortion and tuberculosis and a permanent record kept of butterfat production. The milk is sold to a whole milk market. A modern dairy barn with 25 stanchions houses the herd. The milk house is equipped with an oil burner, sterilizer, cooler, and refrigeration all of the most modern type.

A 100-ton sloe overlooks feed sheds, machine sheds, calf barn, and corral which is properly drained by tiling.

Mr. Stillings received a personal message from Franklin D. Roosevelt, candidate for nomination, transcribed on a phonograph record, welcoming him to the convention. Mr. Stillings won the nomination by a large majority in this district.

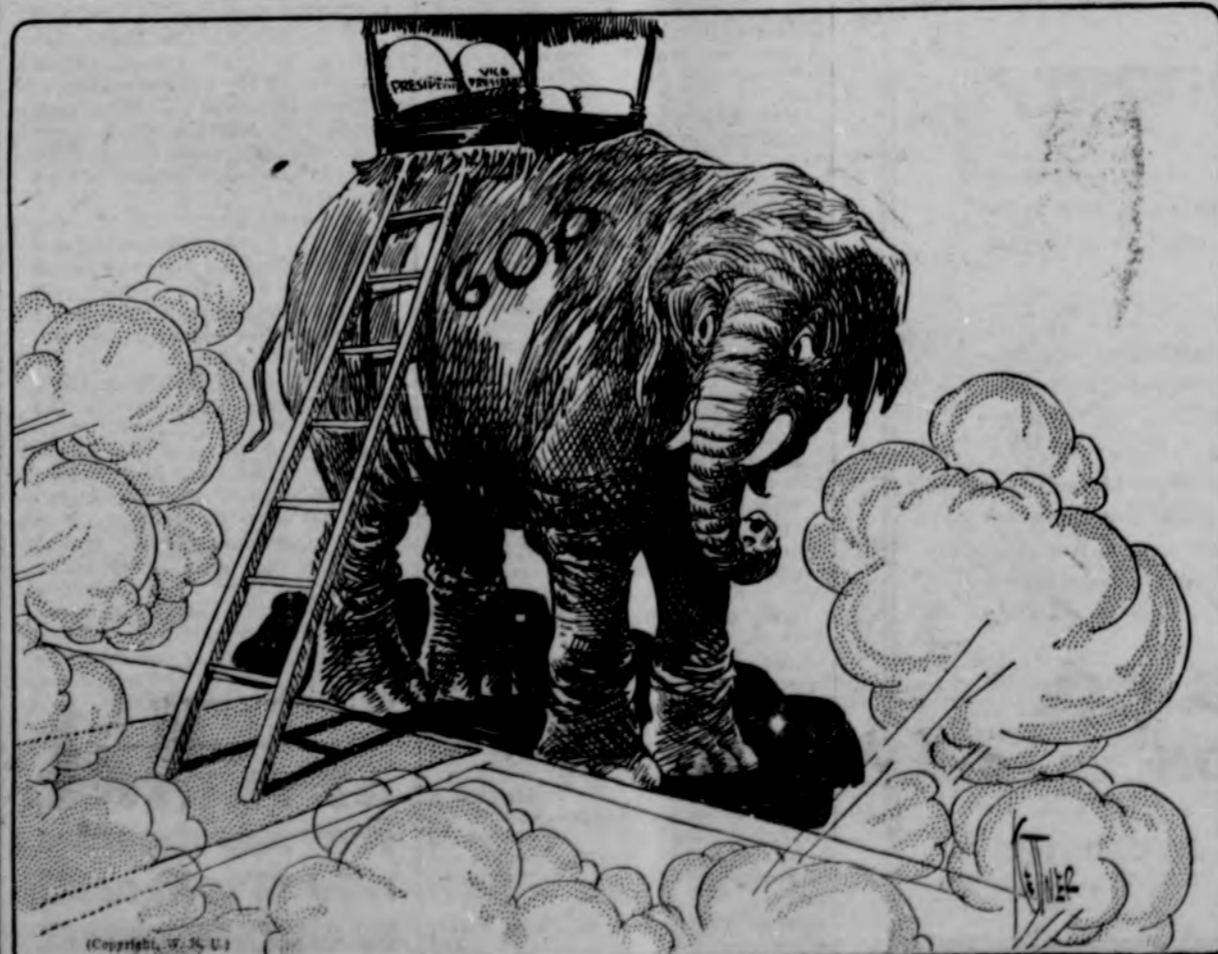

ALONG THE CONCRETE

It's perfectly all right for a woman to hold on to her youth, but not while he's at the steering wheel.

Just try and find A. F. Rohman these days. His fate is in the hands of Old Uncle Sam, at least for the next month, and then it may be transferred to more capable hands. The mileage on the new Ford V-8 is rapidly increasing, and not especially from frequent visits to prospective buyers either.

The city council has been considering widening the main street along the business section since local printers and pharmacists are unable to miss the only car parked along main street when they pull up to the curb early in the morning. It is imposing on their good nature to hinder them when they are so eager to get to work.
