Dr. George F. Zook, president of the University of Akron, who has been invited to visit Oregon in connection with the selection of a chancellor, seems extremely ill fitted for that position.

The gentleman in question is credited with making a speech at an educational gathering at Washington in November, 1929, in which he said:

"The crux of this matter, therefore, relative to the control of education lies in this simple fact: Is not the administration of education in the various states of the union, both state and local, adequate at the present time to take over the entire control of education, or perhaps, to put this a bit more concretely, are you, as representatives of the various states in this union, not equal to the task of going forward and developing all types of higher education as well as elementary and secondary education; or, to put it even more concretely, are you not as able to develop the program of extension education in agriculture and home economics and whatnot, with the same degree of virility that you have given to that other field of education, namely, resident teaching in agriculture and mechanic arts, WITHOUT THE HEAVY HAND OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT controlling you?"

His language is involved, but what he says is an attack on federal appropriations for the agricultural extension service, experiment station work, etc. Dr. Zook is said to be of a group that is hostile to land grant college work but if he should come to Oregon and put his theories into practice it would not only be injurious to Oregon State College but disastrous to every section of the state, Umatilla county included.

The local experiment station is almost entirely dependent upon federal support. So is the Hermiston station. The Moro station derives 50 per cent of its support from that quarter. The extension service was organized under the Smith-Lever act, passed in 1914. We also receive much federal support under the Smith-Hughes act. All told, Oregon receives hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for these purposes. This support is justified because 50 per cent of our state's area is owned by the federal government and is not subject to taxation.

Dr. Zook's ideas about the "heavy hand of the federal government" may seem brilliant to him but they are singularly inappropriate in Oregon. Without federal aid the work of the college would be much impeded unless additional state money is provided, and there is not a farmer or businessman of the state who would not suffer through the destruction of the extension service and the station work. In connection with highway work federal aid is dominant. The special construction work now being planned is based entirely upon federal funds.

The East Oregonian is amazed that a man of Dr. Zook's type should be considered for the chancellorship if a chancellor is chosen he should be a man who has some conception of the situation. We have troubles enough without employing a man to come here and fight against the obvious interests of Oregon and its people.—East Oregonian

"I Like the Depression."

Written by Henry Ansley of the Amarillo (Texas) Globe News.

I like the depression. No more prosperity for me.

I have had more fun since the depression started than I ever had in my life; I had forgotten how to live, what it means to have real friends, what it was like to eat common every-day food. Fact is, I was getting just a little high hat.

Three years ago, only one man of the News-Globe organization could be out of town at a time and he had to leave at the last minute and get back as soon as possible. Many times I have driven 100 miles to a banquet sat through three hours of bunk in order to make a 5-minute speech, then drive the 100 miles back so as to get ready for the work the next morning.

I am getting acquainted with my neighbors. In the last six months I have become acquainted with folks who have been living next door to me for three years. I am following the Biblical admonition, "Love your neighbor."

Three years ago, I ordered my clothes from a merchant tailor—two and three suits at a time. All my clothes were good ones. I was always dressed up. But now, I haven't bought a suit in two years. I am mighty proud of my Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes. When I dress up, I am dressed up and I don't mean maybe. I like the depression.

My wife belonged to all the clubs in town. She even joined the young mother's club. We have don't have any children, but she was studying—and between playing bridge and going to clubs, she was never at home.

I haven't been out on a party in 18 months. I have lost my book of telephone numbers. My wife has dropped all the clubs, I believe we are falling in love all over again. I am pretty well satisfied with my wife.

I am feeling better since the depression. I take more exercise. I walk to town and a lot of folks who used to drive Cadillacs are walking with me. I like the depression.

My digestion is better. I haven't been to see a doctor in a year. I can eat anything I want to.

I like the depression. My salary has been cut to where I can't afford to buy lettuce and spinach and parsley and we can't afford to have sandwiches and frozen dessert and all that damnfoolishness which has killed more men than the World War.

I like the depression. Three years ago, I never had time to go to church. I played golf all day Sunday and besides I was so darned smart that there wasn't a preacher in West Texas who could tell me anything. Now I am going to church regularly, never miss a Sunday. And if this depression keeps in, I will be going to prayer meeting before long. I like the depression.

CHURCH NOTES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 7.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh" (Gal. 5:17).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "No more sympathy exists between the flesh and Spirit than between Belial and Christ". "This material world is even now becoming the arena for conflicting forces. On one side there will be discord and dismay; on the other side there will be Science and peace. The breaking up of material beliefs may seem to be famine and pestilence, and want and woe, sin, sickness, and death, which assume new phases until their nothingness appears. These disturbances will continue until the end of error, when all discord will be swallowed up in spiritual Truth. Mortal error will vanish in a moral civilization. This mental fermentation has begun, and will continue until all errors of belief yield to understanding" (pp. 171 and 96).

Agnes Roberts returned Thursday from Portland where she has been with her sister. She spent a few days visiting with her parents before returning to Portland Sunday.

The house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas was destroyed by fire early Friday morning. Most of the furniture was saved. The damage and loss was partially covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Reid and Barbara left Monday for Mt. Adams and surrounding country where they will vacation for a few days.
