The Season Wanes.

The shadows are lengthening; the evenings are cooler; the long, gourd like squashes, marking the end of summer, are appearing in market.

From now until frost, county fairs will be in full swing all over the state. They are part and parcel of rural and small town life, and the city resident is fond of them, too.

They come at a time when the crops are for the most part in. There is a little leisure between harvest-time and the activities of autumn.

He is not averse to taking a fling at the ponies or otherwise engaging in the gaming spirit upon which the state frowns, but which manages to find some form of outlet at most fairs worthy of the name.

Misinformation.

It seems that seekers of public office are using political campaign data which attacks the auto license department operated through the Secretary of State's office at Salem.

There are not 60 officers maintained over the state to give operators' examinations. There are two: one in Salem and one in Portland.

The office force at headquarters consists of one manager, one examiner, and seven clerks.

The operation of the division does not add one dollar to the tax burden of the state.

There is no provision in the law for requiring 500,000 motorists to be examined.

The secretary of state has never said that he would require compulsory examinations of the present 100,000 operators.

The law in its year of operation is credited, along with other instrumentalities, with reduction of accidents, reduction of fatalities, and better driving conditions, by all who have come in contact with it.

Drunken driving, recklessness, unfit and incompetent drivers, and misunderstanding of the traffic laws have been curbed and reduced through the operation of the law.

The law was passed with only one dissenting vote by the last legislature, and with its companion measure, the traffic code, has been cited as the outstanding constructive legislation of the entire session.

The dam at Helmick state park, built annually in the Luckiamute river to provide suitable depth for swimming, is being replaced by shifts of workers from among Monmouth's Lions club members and other volunteers. The park, a traditional recreation ground, is four miles south of Monmouth on the west side highway.

Plans for opening the upper Deschutes river above Steelhead and Big Falls to ocean fish do not meet unanimous favor. Objection is based on the fact that during the irrigation season part of the river holds very little water.

Jackson county's claim for money from the Oregon-California tax refund moneys for this year will total $60,242 as compared with $92,938 last year. The reduction is due to the cut in county levies, according to Assessor Westman.

CHURCH NOTES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mind" was the subject of the Lesson - Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 21.

The Golden Text was, "The Lord hath been mindful of us; he will bless us" (Ps. 115:12).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the Lord thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his sight, . . . I will put none of these diseases upon thee, which I have brought upon the Egyptians: for I am the Lord that healeth thee" (Ex. 15:26).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Having one God, one Mind, unfolds the power that heals the sick, and fulfills these sayings of Scripture, 'I am the Lord that healeth thee', and 'I have found a ransom'.

When the divine precepts are understood, they unfold the foundation of fellowship, in which one mind is not at war with another, but all have one Spirit, God, one intelligent source, in accordance with the Scriptural command: "Let this Mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (1:27).

CANYON CITY—Sheep owners of this region are considering a campaign to eradicate liver flukes that cause the malady known sometimes as liver rot.

While the drug carbon-tetrachloride is effective in treating sheep that have these parasites, treatment is unnecessary where a simple campaign is carried out for eradication of the snails that serve as alternate hosts for the flukes.

Dr. Robert Jay, federal veterinarian from the State college, who was brought here by County agent R. G. Johnson. Copper sulfate or bluestone scattered in marshy places where sheep graze destroys the snail hosts.

LAKEVIEW

Ten acres of crested wheat grass planted on dry land by H. M. Parks on his ranch at Fort Rock is producing a lot of forage this year and has remained green after other vegetation has dried up.

PRINEVILLE

Potato grower of this region are interested in the results of some tests with so-called scab-proof potatoes being made this year. Nursery plots of these varieties said to be immune from scab are planted on the E. W. Stewart, Geo. C. Truesdale, E. N. Hall and R. R. Roberts farms. They all showed excellent growth when last inspected by County Agent Tucker who obtained the start of the seed.
