BULLDOG LINE WEAKENED BY LOSS OF PLAYER

KENNEWICK CONTEST FRIDAY PROMISES TO BE REAL GAME.

Moore Will Fill Critical Position; Hermiston Lost Last Year's Game With Kennewick, 6-0.

The backfield is considerably lighter than last year's and lacks the speed which Bob Cox often displayed on reverses. Charles Hunt, left half, is doing well in practice and will do his share of ball carrying, assisted by Ed Benschel, quarterback, Mervin Evans, right half, and Dick Martin, fullback.

Despite the loss of Dawson, tomorrow's game promises to be a good one. Last year when the Bulldogs went to Kennewick, they were able to hold that team to a 6-0 score in the best game of the season.

Arlington high school will send its first team to Hermiston Friday, November 4, to play the Bulldog second team.

Immediately following the feed a short program was given. One of the out-of-town guests, R. M. Oswood of Portland, represented nearly 100 years of Odd Fellowship. Mr. Oswood's grandfather was an active member of the order for many years, and his step father, Mr. Sharon, is at present serving as state secretary, and is a member of the Rebekah lodge. Mr. Oswood remarked on the splendid feed which had been prepared by the Odd Fellows and congratulated them on their ability.

The North Morrow County Fair was held at Irrigon last Friday and Saturday, September 16-17. The annual fair rotates between Boardman and Irrigon and represents the irrigated sections of Morrow county.

Despite the heavy wind the attendance was good. According to Mrs. W. C. Isom, president of the fair board, the largest number of exhibits and the best quality exhibits were entered this year than have been placed for show in the past five years. This was true in every division. Products from these districts are always of a high class and this year was no exception.

O. I. Paulson, assistant superintendent of agriculture for the Union Pacific System, judged the fruit, vegetable, and livestock divisions, assisted by Chas. Smith, Morrow county agent, and Miss Helen Heath, Irrigon high school teacher.

Mrs. Houston and Miss Palminter of Leppner were the judges in Divisions F, G, and H, 4-H club displays and women's division. Some splendid work was shown in the 4-H club division. The art of quilting has not been lost as shown in the display of quilts in the women's division.

Demonstrations in 4-H club work was given Saturday afternoon. In the morning a parade was staged, direction of Frank Leicht. A ball led by the Irrigon band under the game between Irrigon and Boardman high school teams was won by Boardman in the afternoon.

Irrigon and Boardman are to be congratulated on putting over such a showing of exhibits from small communities. Splendid cooperation was evident from the success of the fair. The district is noted for its fine melons, and this was emphasized by the large display.

The fair closed with a dance in the evening. The fair board feels that it has succeeded financially on this year's fair despite the inclement weather conditions which existed both days.

LOCAL WOMAN AWARDED FIRST PRIZE ON BABY GIRL STORY

Mrs. R. French, local woman who submitted a human interest story in The Oregonian "story behind the classified ad" contest, was awarded first prize, according to announcements in the Sunday Oregonian. Mrs. French wins a $200 Westinghouse dual-automatic flavor-zone electric range.

The brown eyed baby girl, Zella, named in the story is well known by Hermiston residents, and is now 9 years old, and has grown into a splendid child.

The judges, Joseph R. Grier of Gerber & Crossley, Inc.; Walter W. R. May, The Oregonian, and Edward D. Smith, Jr., Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, all of Portland, spent the most of the week studying the entries in the contest and it was not until yesterday afternoon that final decision was made.

Second prize winning story, telling how the bartering of three cows paved the way to acquiring a home, went to Mrs. Lillian Nielson, 726 East Fifty-eighth street North, Portland. This award brings $25 cash.

Third prize of $10 cash went to Mrs. C. F. Bradford, 215 St. Clair street, Portland. Her story told of a grown son who found his mother through the medium of an Oregonian want ad.

Mrs. French's prize winning story follows:

"She wanted a baby left on her doorstep—and she got one. All through an Oregonian classified ad."

"The account of this unusual occurrence takes first prize today in The Oregonian's 'story behind the classified ad' contest. It was submitted by Mrs. R. French, Hermiston, Ore."

"Nine years ago this fall I read of a baby being left on someone's doorstep. I remarked to a friend that I wished someone would leave a baby on my doorstep."

"She said maybe they would if it was known that I wanted a child, and suggested that I make my wants known through The Oregonian. We laughed about it and as a joke I sent in this ad:

"Wanted—Someone to leave a bright brown-eyed baby girl on my doorstep."

"A few evenings later several friends and myself were seated in our home. The bell rang. My aunt answered the door.

PERMANENT FAIR DISPLAY BUILDING BEING CONSTRUCTED

HORSESHOE TOURNAMENT FEATURE NEW.

Concessions Handled Locally; Prizes of Merchandise Offered in Booths; Football Game Saturday P. M.

Now that the crisp air reminds us that summer has gone and that fall is with us, we are also reminded that the date of the Umatilla Project Fair is close upon us. Just two weeks from tomorrow and the exhibits will be on display, the stock and poultry entered, and the fun concessions, including the merry-go-round, on the fair grounds. Friday and Saturday, October 7-8 are the dates for the project fair this year.

After obtaining the consent of the school board for district No. 14, the fair board has started the erection of a permanent display building to run east and west from the poultry building beyond the north end of the athletic field. Always before the display building has been put up temporarily each year at a great expense to the fair. Work is being started this week and the building will be in readiness by the time it is needed. Volunteer workers are erecting the building under the direction of a carpenter.

All stock entries must be on the fair grounds by 1:00 P. M. October 6, and in all contests of registered stock the papers of registration must be filed with the Secretary not later than 6:00 P. M., October 6, if so requested.

All exhibits in the women's department must be entered and placed by 10:00 A. M. Friday, October 7. Sewing prizes having previously won prizes are not eligible for premiums, although welcome for exhibition.

Horseshoe Pitching Feature.

A decidedly new feature for the fair this year is the horseshoe tournament which has been planned by the board with continuous play both days of the fair. Final plans as worked out by the fair board Friday night give each day's winner, both in the junior and senior tournament, 25 per cent of the entrance fee for the day. Final prizes of, first, $5.00; second, $3.00; and third, $1.00, will be offered for both junior and senior winners in the tournament finals. An entrance fee of 10c will be charged each player.

Interest is being created in the tournament and it is anticipated that some snappy contests are to be staged between veteran horseshoe pitching pioneers.

Irrigon Band Engaged.

The Irrigon high school band has been engaged to furnish music the last day of the fair and will give a number of concerts on the streets of Hermiston and on the fair grounds. Last year the high school band from Pendleton and the band from Irrigon strutted in competition on the streets of Hermiston and later during the football game, adding color and gusto to the occasion.

Concessions Handled Locally.

Instead of bringing in outside concessions the same as has been done in the past two years, the fair board (Continued on last page)

ALONG THE CONCRETE

"The wedding bells are breaking up that old time gang of mine," says Al.

We haven't heard anyone give Hoover credit for the wonderful fall weather we've been having.

News item: "Shoe factories reopening." Well, that ought to put the country on its feet.

A Portland woman who had been a visitor on the project for one week returned home. During her stay here the wind blew slightly. Not long after that, her hostess received a set of wind screens through the mail.

It has been suggested that if business gets rather slow for Jim Pearson at his new service station he can easily pep it up by greasing the road on the turn in front of his establishment; he'd surely catch all westbound cars, but Bill Warner might walk into his office some morning and find it filled with Pen dleton bound tourists.
