Mrs. W. L. Morgan and Mrs. D. M. Deeter entertained at a bridge luncheon last Friday at the home of Mrs. Deeter. Guests came in kid costumes and their pictures were taken by O. A. Hills. Tables and house decorations consisted of toys, balloons, and lollypops. Covers were laid for thirty-six with high honors being won by Mrs. H. T. Fraser; consolation by Mrs. F. D. Wilson, and costume prize by Mrs. W. J. Warner.

Do not fail to look over the 1932 line of Process Engraved personal Christmas greeting cards which will be on display at the Hermiston Hotel November 4th and 5th. Prices are no more than plain cards.

SENATOR FREDERICK STEIWER

Fredrick Steiwer has the distinction of being the only Republican in the seven western states to be re-elected to office in the Senate. Other posts in the Senate were filled by the electorate with Democratic contestants. Steiwer polled 318 votes to 188 given to Gleason, his biggest competitor in the Hermiston precinct.

AUDIENCE RECEIVES JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

holds the audience in some interesting scenes where he is attacking his nephew and charging him with infidelity.

The gossip of Jennie Baldwin and the family preferences of Pa and Ma kept the audience in continued laughter. Bill, in a side-splitting scene, plays up the enormous cost of living to Rollo who, as a result, breaks his engagement with Hazel, leaving the way clear for Bill, who takes advantage of it immediately.

The troubles of the young married couple worry only the family. Bill finally kicks his uncle into giving him a partnership in the coal business and everyone is quite satisfied, even Rollo, who continues to have lingering thoughts of the high cost of living for a married man.

Miss Margaret Elliott, director, was presented a gift by the cast as a token of appreciation.

ANSWER TO LAST WEEK'S "YOU'D BE SURPRISED."
The siege of Troy is largely a myth. Even in Homer's own account Helen must have been sixty years old when Paris fell in love with her.
