CLAUDETTE COLBERT HEADS CAST IN UNDERWORLD STORY.

Claudette Colbert in the role of an amateur sleuth, William Boyd as a gang leader, Lilyan Tashman as his henchwoman and Melvyn Douglas as a gang-cleaning prosecutor are principal figures in "The Wiser Sex", playing at the Oasis theatre Sunday and Monday.

The story starts with Douglas in love with Miss Colbert and intent on ridding the community of a dangerous gang. He is so wrapped up in his work that she refuses to marry him. Boyd kills a relative of Douglas and with the aid of Miss Tashman makes it look as if Douglas had committed the crime.

Thus with the cards stacked against Douglas, Miss Colbert steps in as an amateur detective in an effort to save him. Her cleverness and sometimes lack of it in her sleuthing form the basis for much intrigue and speculation. Before she finally traps her man she gets into some very compromising situations and there is some table turning not in her favor but she scores in the last trick in a highly dramatic climax.

The charm of Miss Colbert and the capable playing of the entire cast make this smart picture of the underworld very entertaining. In addition to this feature there is a comedy-short, "Spot on the Rug" and the Fox News.

RESEEDING PRECAUTIONS LISTED BY PROF. HYSLOP.

Care in choice of varieties for reseeding frozen out wheat in eastern Oregon, and precautions in treating seed for smut this spring, will go far toward preventing serious loss from low yields or grade discounts for the coming crop, says G. R. Hyslop, head of the farm crops department at Oregon State college, who has studied the situation with college representatives and leading farmers east of the Cascades.

"Turkey wheat that was well established and that which was planted very late and just sprouting seem to be injured less than much of the wheat in the intermediate stages," says Hyslop. "Wheat on well prepared summer fallow apparently suffered less than that on late plowed or poorly prepared summer fallow."

Selection of similar varietal types so as to avoid mixtures in the harvested crop is particularly important where a partial stand remains, Hyslop points out. Where Hybrid 128 needs reseeding the same variety may be used if seeding can be done by the middle of February, but after that the comparable spring varieties are Hybrid 143, commonly called shot hybrid, and Federation, often called soft Federation. Fall seeded Federation can be planted back to Federation in the spring, and records show that its spring yields average well with fall plantings.

With Turkey wheats that have been injured, Turkey may be planted back till the middle of February, after which Marquis is probably the best bet, Hyslop believes. This will cause some mixture but it is not seriously discounted at Portland.

"Where lighter soils were seeded to Federation in the fall, it may pay to reseed with a more drought resistant variety, such as Early Baart, Hard Federation or White Federation. These are better milling wheats than Federation. All are well suited to the thinner soils," Hyslop reports.

This is a golden opportunity to eliminate smut from fields by being extra careful with treatment of the spring seeded grain, he adds. Dry copper carbonate is recommended except in cases of very smutty seed when the bluestone treatment followed by lime water bath to prevent seed injury is safest.

The highlights of Governor Meier's message to the state legislature Monday were:

Governor Sends Message Recommends legislation conferring on the public utilities commissioner jurisdiction over public utility stocks, bonds, obligations, mergers, consolidations, purchases and sales of property.

"Had our national congress and the legislatures of the various states enacted adequate legislation for the control and supervision of public utility corporations exercised financial crashes could have been averted and the colossal losses suffered by innocent investors avoided.

"Since the holding company problem is national in its scope I respectfully recommend that this legislature memorialize congress for the immediate enactment of appropriate legislation on the subject.

"I also renew my recommendation for legislation vesting the public utilities commission with power to supervise and control utility stocks, bonds, obligations, mergers, consolidations, purchases and sales of properties so that citizens holding utility securities may be protected from further spoliation.

Burke Urges Salary Cuts A bill to cut the governor's salary $2000 and reduce the pay of the secretary and state treasurer from $5400 to $4500 and slash $500 from the $5000 wage of the attorney-general.

Tit on Inheritance Taxes Asked Representative Hilton introduced amendments to the present inheritance rates, substantially stiffer than those existing. Mr. Hilton lowers the exemption from $10,000 to $7000 and applies these rates:

Two per cent from $7000 to $10,000, 3 per cent from $10,000 to $30,000, 4 per cent from $30,000 to $50,000, 5 per cent from $50,000 to $70,000 and 25 per cent on all in excess of $1,500,000. Present rates are 1 per cent from $10,000 to $25,000, 1 1/2 per cent from $25,000 to $50,000, 2 per cent from $50,000 to $100,000, with a maximum of 10 per cent.

Representative Stockdale introduced a bill wiping out completely all county officials, elective and otherwise, save the county school superintendent, and placing dictatorial control in the hands of a manager.

Repeal Teachers' Pay Repeat of the section of the teachers' tenure law which sets up 7 1/2 as the minimum wage, is sought in a bill introduced in the house.

Four measures were introduced into the senate today by Senator Woodward. One provides that an entire day shall be devoted to the annual school election instead of a half day. Another would authorize school boards to issue warrants in an amount equal to the estimated pending receipts. A third would empower school boards and other municipalities to exchange real property holdings and the fourth would authorize the school board of the Portland district to fix the rate of interest on warrants at not to exceed the legal rates.

Phone Bill Introduced

A bill to give the city of Portland, as well as other cities in the state, the opportunity to go into the telephone business and set up its own communication system, was introduced in the house Monday by Representative Lewis of Multnomah county.

Jobless Relief Studied

A bill, by Senator Spaulding, authorizes the state to borrow $10,000,000, to be loaned to employers for the payment of wages. These loans would draw interest at the rate of 5 per cent and be limited to a period of five years.

Senator Lee has introduced a bill providing for a "back-to-the-land" movement. This bill provides that all lands reclaimed by the state foreclosures shall be made available to the unemployed.

Resolutions discussed at the meeting provide for the appointment of a new joint unemployment committee of the two houses and that all state armories and Camp Clackamas shall be opened for the shelter and comfort of those who are in distress because of financial conditions. The latter resolution was introduced by Senator Spaulding.

Richard Deich, Multnomah, introduced a bill, which specifies that incumbents of party organization offices shall not hold elective or appointive positions under federal, state or county government.

A new measure, introduced by Judd of Clatsop, provides that when a municipality defaults in the payment of its obligations its governing body may create the position of "municipal administrator," who would be no more than a receiver to liquidate the affairs of the municipality.

The senate approved the following appointments: P. E. Callister of Albany, member of the state board of higher education; Dr. J. H. Rosenberg, Prineville, reappointed; Dr. H. H. Foskett, Portland, reappointed, and Dr. Robert Benson, Portland, to succeed Dr. G. E. Houck, all on the state board of health.

Second Message from Governor Governor Meier's second message was received Tuesday afternoon recommending the consolidation of the World War veterans' state aid commission and the state land board.

Representatives Clarke and Nichols of Douglas introduced a bill compelling persons being admitted to county homes and institutions who own real property to turn the property over to the county.

Regulation of salaries of all judicial officers will be under the regulation of the legislature, if a resolution introduced by Senator Dickson is adopted by both the senate and house and later approved by the voters.

Representative Lonergan, Multnomah, introduced a bill as a remedy for evils which have grown up in the use of the recall feature of the Oregon political system. The object of the bill is to strip the cloak of secrecy from recalls.

To facilitate the presentation of proposed legislation to members of the legislature, Representative Deich of Multnomah county has proposed in a bill introduced in the house Tuesday that an interim legislation committee be set up.

The commercial fishing season in Tillamook bay and its tributaries would be extended two months by Representative Winslow of Tillamook.

Investigate Telephone Company Calling attention to the "mushroom growth of the telephone monopoly" during the past 20 years and the success with which the monopoly has evaded every effort at an honest investigation of its affairs, Governor Meier Wednesday afternoon in a message to the legislature urged the enactment of measures memorializing congress to confer upon the interstate commerce commission authority to investigate and regulate interstate telephone rates and services and the holding company and monopolistic features of the American Telephone & Telegraph company.

The house Wednesday passed a bill by Representative Clarke of Douglas which abolishes the fund for educational purposes for soldiers, sailors and marines. The fund, he explained, has not been used, and the balance would revert to the general fund.

At Clarke's request, another bill abolishing the soldiers' and sailors' commission, a body set up in 1920, was withdrawn.

The house Wednesday received from the state board of control a resolution asking that investigation of recent charges of Treasurer Holman against William Einzig, state purchasing agent and secretary of the board.

Senators Burke, Williamson and McFadden introduced a measure abolishing the office of the state public director, as it was created by the legislature of 1927 and restores the duties of that department to the state board of control.

Designed to put a stop to so-called "gin marriages," a bill introduced into the senate would require that a period of three days elapse between the time application is made for a marriage license and the actual issuance of the license.

The grand jury system as it operates in Oregon would be abolished under the terms of a proposed constitutional amendment involved in a resolution introduced Tuesday by Senator Goss.

TWO VARIETIES PURPLE RASPBERRIES RELEASED.

It is a regular occurrence for some new kind or variety of fruit or vegetable or what not to be called to the attention of the public in such manner as to stimulate undue interest. Of course, there are various reasons for such promotion.

In view of the fact that purple raspberries have been receiving some special mention recently, the following information is supplied by the Umatilla county agent, Dr. George M. Darrow, in charge of small fruits investigations for the United States Department of Agriculture, recently stated. "The only purple raspberries that we placed in Oregon last year were those asked for by county agents or the growers themselves, and in those cases purchases of plants were to be made directly from Ohio propagators." Two numbers of purple raspberries were sent out," said Dr. Darrow, "those being No. 231 and No. 161, the latter having been named the Potomac."

Dr. Darrow is authority for the statement that the purple cane raspberries are crosses between the black and red raspberry. The purple raspberry seems to possess the susceptibility to Verticillium wilt that is found in the black raspberry. In tests at the Oregon Experiment Station, five out of ten plants of the No. 161 purple raspberry easily acquired the Verticillium wilt, and seven of ten of the No. 231 took on the same trouble when they were exposed to it. Dr. Zeller, Pathologist at Oregon State Agricultural College, suggests that the purple raspberry be tested for Verticillium wilt before planting under Oregon conditions, it being his judgment that the red raspberry is much better for our purposes, is already established, and is adapted to the Oregon climate.

MEDFORD—Ten Jackson county communities have enrolled in a one-act play contest sponsored by the reaction leaders of the home economics extension service. More than 100 plays have been obtained from the state college and distributed to the various communities.
