PAULIST FATHERS OPEN MEETINGS

A Mission opening Sunday morning in Our Lady of Angels church in this city at the 8:30 Mass is to be conducted by Rev. Wilfred G.
Hurley of the Paulist Fathers, New York City, according to announcement of Very Rev. Dominic O. Connqr, O.M.Cap. Pastor. Each morning service will consist of Mass and instruction. Evening services will be preached by Father Hurley. The question box, always a feature of the Paulist mission is to be used. A box is placed at the entrance of the church where any questions regarding the church, the Bible, faith or religion may be placed. The questions are then taken out, read and answered by the preacher.

The following sermons will be delivered during the week: The Real Idleness; The Greatest Adventure in Life; Is one church as good as another? Which is the One True Church of Jesus Christ? The Confession of Sins or Why Should I Tell My Sins to a Priest? Why I am a Catholic.

The Paulist Order, of which Father Hurley is a member, was founded by five non-Catholic ministers who came converted to the Catholic faith and later became priests. Members of the Paulist Order have a sympathetic understanding of the mind of non-Catholics and Father Hurley extends to them all a cordial invitation to attend any or all the lectures. There will be no insinuations against any man's faith or attack on any man's religious principles. Father Hurley's object in living this Mission is simply to state what Catholics believe and why they believe it as they do. The lectures on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings will be given at Hermiston, and on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at Umatilla.

Father Hurley was a former officer of the United States Navy, at the end of the World War, resigning his commission to study for the Catholic priesthood. For several years he was chaplain of Post No. 1 American Legion. Father Hurley ranks as one of the leaders of modern thought in the Paulist Order and his eminence among his associates is evidenced by the frequency with which he is called upon to broadcast lectures over the radio.
He is also author of several articles and pamphlets.

LOTHING SPECIALIST GIVES TIPS ON STYLES.

To be well dressed the stout woman should observe six rules, according to Mrs. Azalea Sager, expansion specialist in clothing, textiles and related arts, in conducting the clothing clinic over KOAC recently. These basic rules are:

Do not wear tight undergarments; they emphasize the curves of the figure.

Be conservative, never wear extremes.

Be sure that your clothing fits well but is not tight in any part.

Do not wear elaborate sleeves; they emphasize the breadth of the shoulders.

Do not emphasize any cross lines, such as a broad band across the hips.

Emphasize lengthwise lines in the center front and center back of costumes.

For the slim woman, Mrs. Sager emphasized three rules, as follows: Accent the outside lines of the figure, shoulders, sleeves or hips.
Have clothing fit; too loose clothing will emphasize the thinness of the figure. Use flaring lines rather than straight lines.

Mrs. Sager pointed out that in general the bottom of the skirt, angles and feet need study. "The beginning styles of 1933," she said, "call for medium and long skirts.
The longer the skirt the taller the figure appears. Long skirts also add dignity and age. Thick ankles and large feet are not so noticeable with the present styles as they were a few years ago when skirts were knee length."

In the matter of fitting dress patterns, Mrs. Sager advises extremely large and extremely small persons to find a pattern which will fit the shoulders and then alter it to conform to the bust and other body measurements before cutting the dress.

"Good style," the clothing specialist concluded, "is produced not by following the latest fad or the newest idea, but by choosing from many suggestions those that will best express the character of the individual, that will suit her face and figure, that will accent her good points and hide her less attractive ones so that she will appear as herself at her best all of the time.

HIGHER EDUCATION TAKES BIG EXPENSE SLASH

"Such changes in organization will insure the greatest possible efficiency at the lowest possible cost," the board's report concludes. "Effort is being made in all cases to retain as many as possible of the most essential types of work in the various institutions.

"While reductions have already been such that efficient service is threatened in many phases of work, the board is deeply conscious of the economic emergency through which the state is passing and is resolved to make the best of the situation."

20TH AMENDMENT

WINS U. S. ADOPTION

20. The 17-day difference is to give congress time to canvass and certify the election results.

The popularity of the change has been attested by the speed with which states have acted. Virginia ratified without even waiting to get a copy of the proposal. Seventeen states had ratified before last summer's campaigns. The remaining ratifications have all come since legislative sessions began again the first week of this month.

Formers Plan Fertilizer Use.
DALLAS—Polk county farmers who have lost prospective hay crops through the December freeze are considering using more landplaster this spring as applications to remaining legume crops, such as alfalfa, clover or vetch, reports J. R.
Beck, county agent. In western Oregon this material will almost always increase the hay yield of legumes, if put on early enough, thus tonnage can be boosted to replace acres frozen out. Many substitute crops are also being planned.

Pruning Demonstration Started.
MONROE—A long-time pruning demonstration has been started on the William Ide farm east of here by O. T. McWhorter, extension horticulturalist, in cooperation with the county agent. Peach trees particularly will be pruned and followed up by a thinning demonstration later in the year. A definite plan of pruning and thinning will be followed on the same trees for five years, according to the plan.

Cow Peef Distributed at Cost.
BEND—Lower grade beef cattle are replacing old fat ewes in this county now as the chief source of low priced meat for those able to pay something for such supplies. Recently the management of the Sherlin Hixon Lumber company asked the county agent to get 56 cows for slaughter and delivery to the mill to be distributed at cost. The agent was able to obtain offers to get such animals at two cents a pound.
