MINNEHAHA NEWS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crowner of Pendleton visited Sunday at the Chester Flanagan home. Mrs. Crowner is Mr. Flanagan's mother. Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jackson entertained at dinner honoring their son Loren. Covers were laid for the following: Cleve Clark, C. M. Jackson, O. A. Hills, W. A. Hinesline, Enos Martin, Dick Martin, Mr. Ray, E. L. Jackson, and sons Loren and Donald.

Frank Rodda was a dinner guest at the W. H. Starr home Sunday. The U-Go-I-Go club met at the Hamman home Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rodda are spending a few days at Stanfield with Mrs. Rodda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baugardner.

All items appearing in this column are contributed by the Hermiston W. C. T. U.

The case for prohibition is well stated in a communication sent by the W. C. T. U. to the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, which had asked us why we don't join their repeal move; and also asked what the W.C.T.U. is fighting for. The W.C.T.U. letter was written by Mrs. D. Leigh Calvin, president of the W. C. T. U. of New York and sent to Mrs. John S. Sheppard, president of the New York State organization of the wet women.

In reply to the first of Mrs. Sheppard's question, "For what are you fighting?" Mrs. Calvin said:

"To discourage the use of alcohol because it is a dangerous, habit-forming narcotic drug," and "to oppose by every proper means the legal manufacture of and traffic in beverage alcohol."

To the question: "If your aim is temperance, how can you believe, after the experience of the past 12 years, that this can be achieved under the Eighteenth Amendment?" Mrs. Calvin replied:

"You and your associates may think that we of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union are women of one idea—prohibition. I hope you will believe me when I say that is not so; we have supported every idea which gave promise of limiting or preventing the legal manufacture and sale of the drug.

"We have tried moral suasion, going even to the extreme of visiting the saloons and pleading with the saloon keepers on our knees to cease this deadly traffic. We have supported high license and low license. We have tried local option, county option, state prohibition, and in the case of one state, government control. All were futile because the liquor traffic was corrupt, ruthless and law-breaking.

"We came to support national prohibition as the best method yet devised for controlling the liquor traffic. We recognize that the plan has not worked perfectly, and we say, in all kindness, that we are convinced that you and your associates, in constantly criticizing instead of supporting the law, have done much to make it ineffective.

DARING COMEDY — DRAMA

Ann Harding and Leslie Howard are co-starred in Phillip Barry's smart stage play, "The Animal Kingdom," the screen drama chosen to open the magnificent new Roxy theatre in Radio City. The foremost critics have given this picture their highest rating. Presenting a theme that is at once daring and intriguing; dialogue that sparkles with freshness, and situations that are racy, "The Animal Kingdom" is declared to be superb. According to critics, it affords Miss Harding her most suitable role since "Holiday," and gives Howard a latitude missing in his former screen appearances.

Howard played in the stage play for well over a year, as did William Gargan, who is reported to be a real asset as a laugh producer. Nell Hamilton and Myrna Loy head the strong supporting cast.

DEPRESSION ADDS TO WORK OF OREGON COUNTY AGENTS.

There is no six-hour day or five-day week in the business of Oregon county agents judging from the volume of work they were called upon to do during the past 12 months as shown in the annual report of the county agent leader, F. L. Ballard, of Corvallis. Depression years seem to increase the demands made by farmers on the agents, the statistics show.

In 29 counties maintaining agents last year, farmers made 80,733 personal calls at the agents' offices, an increase of more than 5000 calls or better than 7 per cent over the year previous. These in addition to 40,691 telephone calls seeking information and 25,065 farm visits made by the agents. Busiest offices were in Clackamas, Jackson, Josephine, Klamath, Washington and Yamhill counties.

What do the farmers ask about? An analysis of 36 calls in one day at the office of William Cyrus, Washington county agent, gives some indication. In that one day the subjects on which information was sought included alfalfa or other forage crops, irrigation with request for a survey, orchard spraying, application for federal seed loans, fertilizers, squirrel and gopher poisoning, dairy troubles, weed control, potato seed treatment, 4-H club work, corn growing, rabbit raising and mushroom culture.

An Iowa judge recently fined a woman for violating traffic laws and only when she looked up at him did he discover that she was his wife. After robbing Gino Bonaficio in his grocery and meat market, in Monroe, Mich., bandits locked him in the refrigerator.

Frank Rodda was a dinner guest at the W. H. Starr home Sunday. The U-Go-I-Go club met at the Hamman home Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rodda are spending a few days at Stanfield with Mrs. Rodda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baugardner.

OREGON STATE LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Brief Resume of Happenings of the Week Collected for Our Readers

Highlights of legislature Monday: Prohibiting circulating petitions for pay proposed.

House passes bill for municipal ownership of telephones. Plan suggested for using industrial accident money by general fund.

Five per cent tax on gross receipts on all utilities asked. Governor issues message on "loan sharks."

Home brewers threatened with tax on malt syrup. Senate urges improvement of Willamette river.

Investigation of all health agencies proposed. Willamette River Memorial

The senate Monday passed the house memorial asking the Oregon delegation in congress to get behind a program for improvement of the Willamette river.

Another Message Continuing issuance of special messages, Governor Meier sent a communication to the senate and house Monday in which he discussed mortgage foreclosures and the operating of the small loan concerns. He urged legislation to give the mortgagee every opportunity equitably possible to meet his obligations. And also urged "stringent regulation" of the small loan companies.

Highlights of Message "May I suggest that during your deliberations you give earnest consideration to remedial legislation with respect to mortgage foreclosures and the small loan business.

"In common with other states, Oregon is passing through an era of mortgage foreclosures. "It is primarily due in the case of our land owners to low prices and the lack of markets for farm produce. "It is primarily due in the case of our urban home owners to lack of employment.

"Both are as helpless victims of the economic depression as our army of unemployed men and women. "If there is any way of avoiding it, our farmers should not be deprived of their land and be left without means of supporting their families, nor should our urban residents be deprived of their homes simply because of inability to meet mortgage obligations after having made every bona fide effort to do so.

Loan Shark Active "Loss of employment, illness and death are the chief causes, which bring the borrower to the wicket of the loan company.

"Although an outraged public has done much to restrict the activities of unscrupulous lenders, the loan shark still continues to operate.

"The small loan business was intended to afford financial aid to that large portion of the public unable to secure bank credit. It has become a part and parcel of our economic structure and every safeguard should be provided to protect the borrower from unjust, oppressive and exorbitant interest rates and considerations.

Stringent regulation should be provided by law on this subject."

Reclamation Loan Measure Governor Meier in a message Tuesday urged the legislature to memorialize congress to enact U. S. senate bills 5417 and 5471, as being of vital importance to the state. The first provides for a suspension in payment of charges due from federal reclamation project settlers. The enactment of this bill, he points out, would deplete the reclamation fund or at least delay amounts due for the period of suspension. The second bill, which is complementary of the first, provides for a loan to the reclamation fund to replace the lost income.

Under suspension of the rules the house Tuesday passed the state relief committee act and sent the bill to the senate.

Child stealing would be made punishable by death or life imprisonment under a bill introduced in the house Tuesday by Paget of Multnomah. The bill "ups" all the penalties in kidnapping and child stealing statutes.

New Measures Discontinuance of the practice of hiring attorneys outside the attorney general's office to handle special legal work for the state is sought in a bill introduced in the house Monday by Representative Abrams of Marion and Senator Hess of Union.

Quarterly payment of taxes instead of the present semi-annual basis is provided in an amendment to the tax laws proposed in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Herman of Clatsop and Columbia.

Having as their announced purpose the "breaking up of the growing monopoly of the oil companies in their control of the retail sale of gasoline," four bills sponsored by the Portland Automotive Trades association made their appearance in the house Monday.

Highlights of Thursday in Oregon legislature: Mortgage foreclosures declared against public policy. Flat $2.50 fee for autos until June 30 proposed as emergency. Legislation for state-owned radio, telegraph and telephone systems. Unemployment relief commission bill passes senate. Senate approves Woodward marriage bill. Freight train regulation proposed. One-man tax commission urged.

Tuesday's highlights at legislature: Office of secretary of board of higher education under fire. Reduction of hunting and angling license fees proposed. Senate receives 34 new bills; House 99. Lower Columbia river highway improvement sought. Wooden bridge construction is urged. Child labor federal amendment approved. Old age pensions proposed. Thirty-hour week for labor is suggested. Consolidation of four medical boards asked. Repeal of Tenure Law Sought. Outright repeal of the teachers tenure law is sought in a bill introduced in the house Tuesday by Representative McPhillips of Yamhill and Nichols of Douglas. The bill repeals all sections of the code which protect the school teachers from being discharged without proper cause. The 3-mill property tax, or part of it, would be repealed under a bill introduced in the house by Clarke of Douglas. The bill provides that the tax commission show how much money it receives from other sources of revenue and that a property tax of so many mills or fractions thereof shall be levied to make up the difference.

Senate OK's Child Labor Amendment The house by a vote of 33 to 22 Tuesday adopted a senate resolution ratifying the child labor amendment to the constitution. The resolution has been before the legislature on several occasions but has always been voted down. Today it gained enough support to give it a good headway toward passage.

Gas Tax to Be Reduced Cities would be granted refunds from gasoline taxes on the automobiles they use within the corporate limits of their cities, under a bill introduced in the house by Snedecor of Multnomah. The bill was drawn by City Attorney Grant of Portland, Snedecor said.

Small loan companies would be required to state in their advertising the amount of interest per annum that is charged on all loans and would be prohibited from using the expression "legal rate of interest charged" in their ads under a bill introduced in the house by Hilton of Multnomah. The bill carries the emergency clause.

Sale of merchandise, either at wholesale or retail, by utility corporations, except such articles as might be manufactured by them, would be forbidden under the terms of a bill introduced by Senator Burke. The measure it is said, strikes particularly at the retail merchandising activities of public utility corporations in competition with independent dealers in electric and gas appliances.

Spaulding reduces 75 per cent cut in automobile licenses. Sale of state-owned automobiles proposed. Portland school elections extended to full day. Banks promise $2,000,000 loan, with stipulations. Allegations against Port of Portland to be investigated.

Banks to Make Loan After adjournment of the legislature, $2,000,000 will be loaned to the general fund of the state by six Portland and one New York bank; that is, the banks will make the loan when they have discovered what the legislature does about retaining the property tax levy or substituting some other source of revenue. The final $800,000 to make up the total sum was promised today by the Chase National bank, New York. Portland banks were committed to $1,200,000. Pending these bank loans, the state highway commission will supply money from its fund to meet obligations until April 1.

Only 2 Voice Opposition to Measure Twenty-two of the 39 senators joined in support of the Lee-Hazlett bill providing for quarterly payment of taxes when the measure was up for final consideration Wednesday.

The measure in addition to providing for quarterly payment of taxes reduces the interest rate on delinquent taxes to 1/2 of 1 per cent, for taxes which are not paid by the date of the last quarterly payment and offers a discount of 2 per cent, on taxes paid in advance of the due date.

A measure introduced by Senator Dunne would prevent cities from compelling pasteurization of milk or cream except in case of an epidemic.

Highlights of Thursday in Oregon legislature: Mortgage foreclosures declared against public policy. Flat $2.50 fee for autos until June 30 proposed as emergency. Legislation for state-owned radio, telegraph and telephone systems. Unemployment relief commission bill passes senate. Senate approves Woodward marriage bill. Freight train regulation proposed. One-man tax commission urged.

When Andy Keller of Empire hid his life's savings of $1400 where thieves would not break in nor moths corrupt, he forgot about Australian sheep dog. He buried his treasure near his dwelling. The dog, whom he left to guard the premises during a two-day absence, promptly dug up the money, abandoning it when he found it tasteless. The treasure lay exposed when Keller returned.

Property in the city of Hillsboro will be made available for gardens for the unemployed, George McGee, city manager, announced. The city has taken over numerous vacant lots. William F. Cyrus, county agent, volunteered assistance in directing care of the gardens and recommendations as to the types of seeds to be used.

Wasco county's income has reached the lowest point in years and the county will be placed on a warrant basis this week. The warrant basis will probably continue until the first half of the taxes is due, May 5. The county has not been on a warrant basis for 15 years.

Manville Robison of Taft was awarded a bronze medal by the Carnegie hero fund commission for saving the life of Mrs. Myrtle J. Petri, July 19, 1931, according to word received. It was the second time Robison had risked his life to save another from drowning.

Thirty men are now at work on the county's new road camp on the Eluslaw. They are working on a road project being carried on jointly by Lane county and the national forest service. The road is known as the short cut from Eugene to the coast.

The men who have been cutting down the large shade trees in front of the city hall at Milton have completed their job and the wood has been piled back of the hall, at the disposal of the relief committee, which is doing it out to the needy.

Thirty-five Klamath Falls business houses will operate on a new time schedule, beginning Monday. They will open at 9 a. m. and close at 5:30 p. m. except on Saturday, when the closing hour will be 8 p. m. This will cut down overhead expense.

A checking of less than half of the 859 names on petitions asking the resignation of District Attorney Codding and Commissioner Nealon shows that 199 signers are not on the roll of taxpayers of Jackson county.

The lease of Robert N. Paris on the Brownville woolen mill expired last week and he has moved all his machinery and supplies and sent them to Stayton, where he is opening up the woolen mill at that city.

The new city council at Milton has cut city employees' salaries "to the bone." "Salaries" now range from $99 a month, to the city manager and marshal, as low as $2 a day for common labor.

Several members of a coasting party at Hood River were injured when their bobbed, piloted by Gordon Mansver, got out of control and crashed into a parked car on State street last week.

The Bowman-Hicks sawmill resumed operations at Wallowa last week, after being shut down since November.

A road is now being surveyed by way of Spoon's mill, through Sisters to Redmond to serve three sawmills.

Possibly it is not uncommon for Mary's lamb to follow her to school, but when Larry's deer enters the portals of education, that's another story. A pet deer, reared at the state fishing hatchery at Union, followed Larry Ronney to his classes at the Union school near La Grande last week.

There will be no "Trail" pageant at Eugene this year. The committee having the matter in charge has decided that it is not practicable to promote a celebration on the basis of the donating of all material and services.
