LOCAL BANK WILL DO BUSINESS DESPITE HOLIDAY IN STATE

DEPOSITORS WILL NOT BE AFFECTED BY GOVERNOR'S ACT.

Restriction of Withdrawals Necessary During Holiday; Emergency Demands Will Be Met.

Word has been received here by wire that Governor Julius L. Meier has declared a bank holiday effecting the entire state, dating from this morning, March 2nd, 1933.

A statement made by F. B. Swartz, president of the First National Bank of Hermiston to the effect that this bank will not close and that no depositor will be affected in any way except that it will be necessary to restrict withdrawals until the holidays are over, which will be on Monday, March 6. The local bank will try to handle each case in such a way that no one will suffer and all emergency demands will be met.

The bank will accept deposits which will be kept segregated until the holidays are over. All out of town checks will be taken for collection only. It is the opinion of Mr. Swartz that normal business will be resumed on Monday, March 6th.

The move to close banks in Oregon was made necessary because of the closing in California, and also in the middle and western states. Most of the banks in Oregon are keeping their doors open but any business done will be illegal during the holiday. Business will be dated Monday, March 6th.

CLUB WORK ADVANCES IN MEMBERSHIP DURING 1932.

Oregon Four-H clubs can claim membership in the select group of enterprises that made a higher record in 1932 than in 1931—on the basis of total enrollment at least. The annual report issued by H. C. Seymour, state club leader in the Oregon State college extension service, shows that total enrollment for the year reached 20,202 compared with the previous record mark of 19,119.

Profits of the club members from their projects skidded to lower levels along with those of their elders, however, the gross income dropping 28 per cent and the net income about 30 per cent. At that the total net profits were about $64,000. Lane county led with the greatest total enrollment, followed by Douglas, City of Portland, Marion, Clackamas, Multnomah and Washington. Close to 1300 volunteer local leaders guided the 2184 clubs organized. Without their devoted service club work would be impossible, says Seymour.

THRILLING JUNGLE DRAMA AT OASIS THEATRES, INC.

"Nagana" which will be shown on the Oasis screen Friday, Saturday, and Sunday is a vibrant romance with a thrilling background presenting the picturesque and fascinating interior of darkest Africa.

The jungle animals are incidental to the main point of interest, the dramatic love story, but they do their parts well and their roaring, snarling, shrieking and trumpeting as they stalk through the various sequences create a thrilling atmosphere fraught with dangers. One especially breath-taking scene is a fire which brings about a stampede of these wild animals.

This African setting with its wild savages and wild beasts is most appropriate for the tempestuous love affair between the doctor in charge of scientific expedition and a notorious woman of the world. It lends color as well as excitement.

Tala Birell, exotic Viennese actress, in the role of Countess Tubeska, the woman of many loves, and Melvyn Douglas as Dr. Kohner, head the well-chosen cast.

The supplementary program includes a Slim Summerville comedy and a Tom and Jerry cartoon.

CITY OF HERMISTON AGAIN NAMED IN $100,000 LAWSUIT

HERMISTON LIGHT & POWER CO. ALSO NAMED AS DEFENDANT.

Renewal of Old Suit Brought Thru Supreme Court; Guardian of Minor Plaintiff.

A lawsuit involving damages to the amount of $100,000 was filed against the City of Hermiston and the Hermiston Light & Power company in the district court of the United States for the district of Oregon, and papers were served on corporations named, Monday.

The suit is a renewal of the case previously brought by Arthur Bruce, named guardian of Sylvia Bruce, a minor, who lost her right leg, three inches below the knee, in an automobile accident Saturday, July 23, 1932, on the highway southeast of Hermiston. The renewed suit names T. Walter Gillard as the plaintiff against the City of Hermiston and the Hermiston Light & Power Co., corporations.

A former suit named the City of Hermiston, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Taylor, who occupied the other car, J. D. Hutchison, owner of the truck in which the plaintiff was riding, and Dan Rothen, driver of the truck.

The case was dismissed following filing of demurrers. After establishing their residence in the state of Washington the plaintiff has filed a new suit in the supreme court under a new guardian. The defendants have thirty days in which to answer the complaint.

City Attorney W. J. Warner and A. S. Cooley of Pendleton will defend the city. Raley, Raley & Warner, and Lord Moulton & Krause, are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Pfouts & Hobson of Portland are the insurance adjusters for the Hermiston Light & Power Co., and will handle the case.

The Umatilla town team, champions of the Upper Columbia League, showed an exceptional brand of basketball Wednesday night on their own floor when they defeated the famous Helix Red Devils with a count of 53 to 28. Helix started out with a neat basket before Umatilla could get their hands on the ball, but Umatilla soon got under way fast and swamped the Helix boys, leading at the half 31-8. In the second half Helix found the basket against the Umatilla reserves, but the large lead obtained in the first half was too much. A very good crowd was present to witness the game. ALL COUNTIES BUT ONE RETAIN EXTENSION MEN.

Every one of the 29 counties in the state that had county agricultural agents, assistant agents, or 4-H club agents have rehired these men for 1933 with the single exception of Josephine county, announces the Oregon Extension service at Corvallis. In other words, of 42 full time and one part time man on the county extension staffs, all but one has been retained for the coming year.

In all but two of the counties the budget needs of these officers were met in regular manner. In Lane and Cook counties, however, the items were left off despite protests of the farmers interested, with the result that farmers themselves have since raised and certified an adequate amount from each county to match the state and federal funds needed to insure continuation of the work.

Heavy deductions have been made in all these county budgets over the past two or three years, in keeping with the retrenchment in other lines, says F. L. Ballard, state county agent leader. Most of these reductions were submitted voluntarily by the agents. The staff now includes 28 county agents, six assistant agents, and eight Four-H club agents.

UMATILLA DAIRY HERDS RANK FIFTH STATE ASSOCIATION

H. B. REISE OF STANFIELD OWES HIGHEST PRODUCING COW.

Yamhill-Washington Cow Testing Ass'n. Gains Lead Over Nine Members in Oregon Association.

Oregon State college, Corvallis, Feb. 28.—After relinquishing their top position to the Rogue river group last month, the Yamhill-Washington Cow Testing association again led the nine members of the Oregon Herd Improvement association in butterfat production for January, according to the summary of the monthly association reports just compiled here by Roger W. Morse, extension dairyman.

The Yamhill-Washington association's 446 cows on test averaged 548.2 pounds of milk and 20.83 lbs. of fat. The Rogue River association which ranked second, had 213 cows on test averaging 576 pounds of milk and 23.29 pounds of butterfat. The Linn-Benton group, which was third in December, retained its place with the Central Oregon association ranking fourth, and the Umatilla county group fifth.

TATT FIRE MARSHAL SENDS OUT WARNING

State fire marshal A. H. Averill, sends out a letter stating that reports and inspections have brought to the attention of his department the fact that there is a statewide violation of the state code relative to the proper use of exit lights in occupancies where said lights are required.

Mr. Averill says that "in many hotels, apartments and rooming houses, the exit lights are being turned off or are being replaced with kerosene lights to save electricity." Such lights, he says, must not at any time be permitted to be out of order and when out of order must be immediately repaired.

"This violation," continues Mr. Averill, "constitutes a life hazard, and a statewide check-up by deputies of this department will necessarily require so much time that casualties may occur before the work can be completed."

Moving Day in Washington

ALONG THE CONCRETE

The depression has made an impression on two members of the Ford garage force. Don Jackson was seen peddling along to work on a bicycle this morning, and not far behind him came Clark, displaying his horsemanship.

The state legislators jump from one extreme to another. They pass a bill protecting wharves in Oregon waters, and then follow with a bill appropriating money to combat the mosquito. The first is a whale of an idea and the latter a mighty small item.

Rev. Payne dropped his dignity while standing in front of the church one day this week to glance first east, and then west, and then dashed cautiously up to a basement window. Again he paused. Then it dawned upon us that he had forgotten his key.

We might drum up a little business by having cards printed reading something like this: "I owe you (blank). If you ever get it. Compliments of the bank holiday."
