What It Does.

A saloonkeeper at Tombstone, Ariz., published the following advertisement, the most striking feature of which is its truthfulness: "Friends and Neighbors: I am grateful for past favors, and have supplied my store with a fine line of choice wines and liquors, allow me to inform you that I shall continue to make drunkards, paupers and beggars for the sober, industrious, respectable part of the community to support.

"My friends will excite riots, robbery and bloodshed. They will diminish your comforts, increase your expenses and shorten your lives. I can confidently recommend them to cause accidents and incurable diseases. They will deprive some of life, others of reason, many of character, and all of peace. They will make fathers worthless, wives widows, children orphans, and all poor. I will train your sons in infidelity, dissipation, ignorance, lewdness, and every other vice. I will corrupt the ministry of religion, obstruct the gospel, defile the church, and cause as much temporal and eternal death as I can. I will thus accommodate the public: it may be at the loss of my neverdying soul, but I have a family to support, the business pays, and the public encourages it.

"I have paid my license, and the traffic is lawful; and if I do not sell it some one else will. I know the Bible says, 'Thou shalt not kill.' No drunkard shall enter heaven." And I do not expect the drunkard-maker to fare any better. But I want an easy living, and I have resolved to gather the wages of iniquity, and fatten on the ruins of my species. I shall, therefore, carry on my business with energy, and do my best to diminish the wealth of the nation, and endanger the safety of the state. As my business flourishes in proportion to your sensuality and ignorance, I will do my best to prevent moral purity and intellectual growth. Should you doubt my ability, I refer you to the pawn shop, the poor house, the police court, the hospital, the penitentiary and the gallows, where you will find many of my best customers have gone. A sight of them will convince you that I do what I say.

"Allow me to inform you that you are fools, and that I am an honest saloonkeeper."

HINTS TO HOME-MAKERS

An egg a day for the younger members of the family at least is a desirable standard to adopt, according to food specialists.

Now that egg prices are on the south slope of the annual decline such a standard may readily be maintained even from the slimmer purses, they believe.

Eggs are rich in protein needed for growth and repair of muscle, bone and blood. They contain iron, phosphorus and a small amount of calcium in usable form, and in addition are rich in vitamins A, B and D.

"Serve eggs" is the title of a four-page leaflet available from the home economics extension office at Corvallis. It contains numerous recipes and suggestions for utilizing eggs in custards, souffles, omelets, salads and sandwiches.

Today many women are following again in the footsteps of their grandmothers in making homemade floor coverings. It is almost unbelievable that so many desirable rugs can be made from worn-out hose, underwear, dresses, blankets, faded draperies plus a pot of dye, says Mrs. Azalea Sager, extension specialist in clothing, textiles and related arts at Oregon State college.

In making rugs, she suggests that all material be thoroughly cleaned and any undesirable color dyed to harmonize with the color scheme of the room. For restful and artistic effects the floor covering is the darkest color value in the room. The foundation of the rug, either medium burlap or firm gunnysacking, is cut three inches larger than the pattern in every direction to allow for edge finish. Patterns may be stamped, stenciled or created. Our grandmothers developed artistic designs, said Mrs. Sager, with the aid of a brick, a cup or a saucer.

The art of hooked rug making originated in America as early as 1700. Designs then were often realistic flower, landscape or animal patterns. Geometric and conventional designs are accepted now as most effective.

GRESHAM—A total saving of $204.52 was made by 20 women enrolled in the renovation and remodeling project in the Cedar Home extension unit, according to reports handed in to Frances Clinton, Multnomah County Home Demonstration agent. This saving represented forty-nine garments dry cleaned with an estimated saving of $14.35, one garment dyed with an estimated saving of $6, and 28 garments remodeled with an estimated saving of $189.32.

MEDFORD—Vegetable cookery meetings have proved extremely popular in Jackson county, according to Mrs. Mabel Mack, county home demonstration agent. How to cook strong-flavored vegetables, mild-flavored vegetables and green and white vegetables so as to preserve flavor, texture, color and nutrients were the aims of the demonstrations. Last year 28 meetings were held with a total attendance of 546 individuals. A typical remark of those attending is that of one woman who said, "I never before liked cabbage and rarely cooked it on account of the strong odor. Now cabbage is one of our main cooked vegetables." The recommendation for cabbage cooking is to place it in a large amount of boiling water and cook it, uncovered, for a short time (about 5 or 9 minutes after the water begins to boil again).

BROOKS—That the project on "Low cost meals" has met a real need is shown by the report of economics effected by 25 women of the Brooks home extension unit. Twelve families were assisted in saving money on their grocery bills, 35 persons were eating more vegetables, 21 were using more milk, 6 homemakers were using a more economical form of cereal, 13 were using more home produced and preserved foods, and 14 children had improved their eating habits. In addition, good suggestions from the project had been passed on to 181 other individuals.

WILLOWS—"This may not be considered a short cut," reports a homemaker of Gilliam county, but it is a saver of labor and expense. For $2 I purchased sufficient floor enamel to paint my old dining linoleum rug. Fawn color is the base with green, red, black and ivory spatter design. A tiny bit of red and black go a long way. This rug now will do service in the kitchen. I am painting the baseboard fawn to match the rug. The kitchen woodwork is ivory. The plastered wall is green.

Packs of coyotes are killing many deer along Jenny creek, near Pinehurst, about 25 miles from Klamath Falls, according to reports received. Both deer and coyotes are in a starving condition. The snow is deep and the deer, weak from hunger, and unable to run in the snow, fall easy prey to the attackers. Numerous deer may be seen along the Klamath Falls-Ashland highway.

The sawmills in the vicinity of Lakeview plan to start cutting just as soon as the weather will permit logging operations to start, according to operators. The R. S. Adams sawmill, now under construction, will be the third mill within the city, not counting the box factory. In 1932 exports of lumber from Lakeview reached their peak, as every mill operated at full capacity.

An extensive project of land settlement and rehabilitation is being considered by the Clatsop county court and the Astoria Chamber of Commerce. It is proposed to divide several hundred acres of county-owned tideland in the Warrenton section into small tracts to be rented at a nominal figure to persons unemployed or partly employed.

High school students of Grants Pass headed by Kenneth Smith, student body president, are starting work on a huge letter G on Mount Baldy. The letter will be more than 100 feet long. Something more advanced than anything yet suggested in the way of relief from taxation is being urged by Washington county's Pomona grange, the Farmers' union and the Tax Conservation and Equalization league. The abolishment of taxes on real property is demanded.

The city council of Roseburg has authorized the appraisal of all property foreclosed by the city for delinquent lien payments, and the sale of the property on contract, to meet obligations due on benefit bonds. The city has due $99,000 in benefit bonds this year.

The latest freak of nature in southern Oregon, purple snow, fell last week at Gold Hill, astonishing residents. A handful of the colored flakes were studied under a microscope and found to be literally alive with tiny purple bugs, resembling beetles.

A committee composed of members of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs of Ashland and the Chamber of Commerce has been appointed to make a fact-finding survey of Ashland, its city operations, its schools, its industries and other activities.

A two-headed lamb, alive and with both heads perfectly formed and joined to a single neck, was born to a ewe owned by Charles Jones of North Myrtle. The animal, a male, lived for nearly an hour. It will be stuffed.

J. M. Royer, for 40 years a hotel proprietor at Pilot Rock and a pioneer of Umatilla, is dead. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

The largest winter road-building Lane county has seen for years will swing into action this week. On funds loaned to the county by the federal government 450 men will be put to work in practically every road district of the county. They will be paid in groceries and clothing at the rate of $1.50 per day.

John Shattler, pioneer of the Tumble Lake region, north of North Paul, is a patient at Keizer Bros.' hospital and is thought to be afflicted with sleeping sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Rudd of Seaside believe they have the original "rubber baby." Their 18-month-old son fell from a second story window of the Rudd home to hard ground 14 feet below. His mother rushed frantically downstairs to find he had walked back into the house. An examination failed to reveal even a slight bruise.

Klamath Falls warrants to pay the salaries of city employes and officials, which will be protested, are being issued in denominations of $5 and $10 to assist in getting them used on a par basis. A number of merchants and the California-Oregon Power company have agreed to accept them at par.

Roseburg's proposed milk ordinance, which will establish grades on all milk offered for sale and will place dairies under strict supervision, is to be revived. Unless it is passed, it is claimed, local dairymen will not be able to bid on the supply of the national soldiers' home.

The Douglas county court has ruled that hides presented to the county clerk for coyote bounty must be submitted immediately after killing. Heretofore bounties has been paid on cured or salted hides, which made it possible to bring hides from other counties.

Circuit Judge Calvin Sweek has been elected president of the Pendleton Chamber of Commerce. F. H. Hughes is vice-president and the following are members of the board of managers: Charles Bond, Austin Landreth, E. C. Olsen and A. C. Koepner Jr.

A writ of review, made returnable February 27 and charging that County Judge Fehl acted outside his authority in ordering the arrest and trial of former Judge Lamkin and Commissioner Bursell, has been filed in the circuit court of Jackson county.

Groundhogs in the vicinity of Brogan already are out of their holes, Arden Reed, Brogan orchardist, near Vale, has reported. A trapper saw one enjoying the warm spring sunshine of last week although groundhog day is still a month off.

The Roseburg Chamber of Commerce has lodged a vigorous protest with the county court against the proposal of Commissioner Nichols that the burial of deceased indigents be taken care of by the county instead of by professional undertakers.

The Clackamas county court has adopted a plan whereby all road districts in the county shall be placed on a cash basis and that road supervisors shall not expend more than cash paid in, for road purposes.

The Lane county court has applied for a loan of $20,000 from the federal Reconstruction Finance corporation. The loan is to be repaid out of secondary highway funds over a period of several years.

Enviably Disease Record Made.

HOOD RIVER—This county is taking steps to maintain its enviable record in regard to dairy cattle disease, and is now conducting new tuberculosis testing of herds supplying fresh milk, and others desiring such tests. Hood River county now has an accredited rating as T. B. free and a record of having reduced infectious abortion from 12 per cent to about 3 per cent and with not more than 10 per cent of the herds having a single reactor or suspect.

Squirrels to Get Deadly Mix.

DALLAS—One and a quarter ton of barley, harboring 115 ounces of deadly strychnine alkaloid, has been prepared by County Agent Beck to use of Polk county farmers this spring in combating the trouble some gray digger this spring. Farmers here have found that earline applies to more than birds and worms, as it is the early poisoner that gets the diggers.

Strawberry Plants Scarce.

OREGON CITY—Strawberry plants uninjured by the December freeze are reported to be so scarce this year that growers in this county having surplus stock have been asked to notify County Agent J. J. Inskeep. Most growers here believe that the yield of strawberries this season will be but 30 per cent of what the acreage would ordinarily indicate. Growers are advised to examine roots of young plants before offering them for sale, as these may be killed or badly injured even though the tops appear normal.

Seeking a big rat under his barn with a silver dollar in its mouth, Charles Holscomb of Bartley, Neb. investigated and found $250 buried in a rail under the shed.
