

FARM CO-OPERATIVE DIVISION

A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS EASTERN OREGON TURKEY GROWERS

A meeting will be held Monday, April 17, at 8:00 P. M., in the Assistant County Agent's office at Hermiston, for the purpose of deciding when to pool the breeding stock. If you are interested in disposing of your breeding stock, come to this meeting and if it is impossible for you to attend, send a card to Assistant County Agent Best stating the number of birds you have to sell.

It is necessary to know how many birds we have to dispose of so that the buyer will prepare and know what he can bid.

The highest reliable bidder will get the birds, and the grower will receive his money on delivery.

The shipment will be about the first of May if the growers desire.

Will let the growers know through this paper in next week's issue the exact date of receiving.

COLUMBIA PARK CLEAN-UP CARRIED OVER INTO FUTURE

Clean-up day at Columbia park which was carried on with the regular meeting of the Farm Bureau Auxiliary last Friday was delayed because of the weather conditions and not as much accomplished as planned. The painting of the club house was postponed.

Other improvements were made, however. Three new tables were made, trees pruned, new boxes made for irrigation ditches, and other general clean-up. Following the pot luck dinner served by the ladies the club house was thoroughly cleaned. C. L. Upham had charge of the outside work and Mrs. Jackson, Harr and Mrs. O. H. Buell the work in the kitchen.

The next regular meeting will be held April 21st with Mrs. Henry Hooker, Mrs. Baxter Hutchinson, and Mrs. Lester Hammer acting as hostesses. Gardening and exchange of plants will be discussed.

O.S.C. DAIRY SPECIALIST AGAIN HEADS FALL SHOW.

Declaring that the Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland is going to continue as a great show despite the denial of state financial aid, O. M. Plummer, manager, has already reappointed Dr. G. H. Wlister, O.S.C. dairy manufacturing specialist, as head of the dairy products division of the show with instructions to make it the best ever.

"Serve notice on your friends everywhere that you are prepared to show them a good time in every department of the dairy division," Plummer told Dr. Wlister. "The more entries you can get from any part of the United States the better it will be for the industry and for the exposition. You can't make the dairy division too good to suit us."

Last year the dairy products show was managed by Dr. Wlister was rated one of the biggest in the entire United States.

EXTENSION HOME COUNCIL FORMED BY OREGON WOMEN.

A state home economics extension council for Oregon was organized at the third annual conference for the study of home interests held at Oregon State college early in April. The purpose of the council, which includes representatives from every county maintaining extension work in home economics, is to encourage adult education in this field.

Heading the list of state officers is Miss Alice Hanley of Jackson county as honorary president. Miss Hanley, sister of the noted "Bill" Hanley of Burns, has been active in county home economics extension activities since 1918. Other officers are Mrs. Ralph Latrod, Lane county, president; Mrs. Vern Livesey, Deschutes, and Mrs. Alice Lindsay, Josephine, vice-presidents; Mrs. G. W. Thiesse, Clackamas, secretary; Mrs. O. H. Schwerdtman, Multnomah, treasurer, and Mrs. A. M. Winn, Columbia, recorder.

Early Lambing Successful. CANYON CITY—Grant county's early lambing operations were the most successful in the past six years, reports County Agent R. G. Johnson. Ewes twinned well and then had plenty of milk. Grass was slow in starting but by April 1 conditions were good. Stockmen are learning that the finest "medicine" is plenty of feed before, during and after lambing—plus cleanliness. With these prevailing generally this year disease was at a minimum.

To the Members of the Umatilla Project Farm Bureau.

Membership fees for the Umatilla Project Farm Bureau have been coming in in good volume, but we are still considerably short of our 100%. According to the by-laws of the Farm Bureau Co-operative, no person whose annual dues are unpaid, and is therefore not in good standing in some bona fide Farmers' organization, shall receive the services, and the consequent benefits thereof, of this organization; and this rule will be strictly adhered to by the Co-op.

The success of the Umatilla Project Farm Bureau depends on 100% of its members being in good standing in the organization, and we feel sure we will get this cooperation.

On and after May 1, 1933, the annual dues of $1.00 for the current year, will be considered delinquent.

C. M. JACKSON, Secretary.

NOTICE OF MEETING

A meeting of the Umatilla Project Farm Bureau will be held at the Methodist church in Hermiston, Oregon, Friday evening, April 21, at 8:00 P. M. Several items of important business will be taken up. As a special feature of this meeting, an entertainment consisting of vocal and instrumental music will be given by a group of musicians known as the Umatilla Wranglers. This company has acquired a considerable reputation in their line, so come for some good entertainment. After the meeting is adjourned, the ladies of the Auxiliary will have something to cheer the inner man, and it won't be beer. Visitors are always welcome at these meetings.

C. M. Jackson, Secretary.

Remodeling at Cannery-Laundry.

The Hermiston Co-operative Cannery & Laundry has not only added a 22-horsepower boiler to its plant but is now adding office space and other improvements in the cannery department. A door has been cut through the east side of the cannery room into a small office. O. L. Barlow, manager, says that canning activities will start soon.

4-H CLUBS ORGANIZED RECENTLY BY COUNTY AGENT.

Several 4-H clubs have been organized by Assistant County Agent Best within the past two weeks at Hermiston and Stanfield. They are: Holstein Calf Club: Organized April 22 with Glenn Pierson, president; Dorcas Throop, vice president; and Mary Ward, secretary.

Stanfield Calf Club: Organized April 3 with Merrill Hutton, president; Leo Ruesher, vice president; and Jim McDermott, secretary.

Stanfield Poultry Club: Organized April 3 with Byrtha Hoskins, president; Patricia Richards, vice president; and Ruth Rowell, secretary.

Stanfield Sheep Club: Organized April 3 with Byrtha Hoskins, president; Merrill Hutton, vice president, and Cleo Green, secretary.

FARM RELIEF

I see no hope for relief of the farmer except by his own efforts—cooperation.

Most everyone is familiar with the local and state dairy associations as outlined in the "Oregon Farmer" last week.

As I look at it, the greatest local need is a cooperative poultry and egg selling association, especially of the American, or heavy birds the Mediterranean or white egg class being fairly well taken care of.

A short time ago I was compelled to sell some poultry locally at four cents per pound or $4.00 per 100, below Portland price, a loss of $2.85 per 100 pounds net to me.

Another party told me he had sold a lot on which he gave away about $25. Another party was offered $7.00 here, shipped to Portland and net $3.25 per 100 lbs.

The Hamilton Farm Bureau in Allegan County, Michigan, was organized to help the farmers buy cooperatively, similar to our own. They have added a modern egg handling plant, and the egg business amounts to $100,000 a year. They are now considering the problem of marketing poultry.

If you are further interested in your own welfare something might be done along this line.

CALCIUM ARSENATE BAIT BEST FOR SLUG CONTROL.

Slugs, those slimy, repulsive, voracious garden destroyers! What to do about them is an ever recurring question in the many regions where they thrive. Large bulletins have been written about them, but still they prosper while gardens they feed on do not.

Despite the attacks of science, control is even yet a difficult problem, admits B. G. Thompson, entomologist at the Oregon experiment station. Many insecticides are ineffective, but calcium arsenate is the best yet found.

Calcium arsenate prepared as a bait of one part to 16 parts of finely chopped lettuce leaves is highly toxic to slugs and is readily devoured, tests show. The bait is scattered over the infested area during the late evening. Fair weather is best as rain will wash off the poison.

The old reliable method of "catch 'em and kill 'em" is still good in slug control, however. Boards laid on the ground after rubbish is all cleaned up will trap large numbers every night. The next step is better done than written about.

Notice.

There will be a meeting of the "We Can Canning Club", at the Hermiston Union church, Saturday at 2:00 p. m. Election of officers, plans for 1933, and other important business will be brought up at this time.

Corrosion in Dairy Equipment.

The effect of corrosion in the dairy industry each year amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars of loss. This corrosion factor, from the manufacturer's viewpoint, is reflected in his bookkeeping under the heading of depletion and depreciation, which is the economic problem of equipment replacement.

In addition to the economic problem, we have also to consider the effect on the products, such as flavor and food values. From the physiological treatment of the subject, a considerable amount of information has been developed on the effect of metals in food upon animals and human beings. In some instances it has been shown that some of these metals are of actual benefit and in other instances, dangerous.

Assuming that they are of some benefit, their introduction into dairy products has positively been shown to give a very decided metallic taste, thus destroying the palatability of the food product.

The corrosive action of dairy products, such as milk and cream or their combined products such as ice cream, is by no means a new thought. It has been known for a long period of time that milk and milk products have the peculiar properties of corroding iron, copper, tin and nickel and the alloys of these metals.

The nature of this corrosion has been the subject of much investigation. First, we have corrosion going on by simple solution. Second, the electro-chemical action. Third, the actual oxidation due to the presence of oxygen. These different forms of action in the corrosion process are subject to a number of factors. This, in part, accounts for the fact that in some cases we have very rapid action and in others, very slow.

Recently we were requested to investigate the reason for a high bacterial count. After plating and examining the types of organisms present, we concluded that the cause was contamination at some point in the process. A plant investigation disclosed a condition of pitting in the nickel tubular pasteurizer, which made it practically impossible to properly clean and sterilize the equipment. It was established conclusively that the spore forming types of bacteria found in the product were actually coming from the pitted piping in the heater. These types, being heat-resistant, were surviving the pasteurizing temperature. Here again we see that corrosion of equipment can and does play a big part in the quality of the product.

It is therefore of the utmost importance that we eliminate this metallic contamination by the use of proper metal equipment that will retain its original metal and give to the dairy products no metallic contamination.

Butter Creek-Minnehaha

By Mrs. Wm. Hineline

Deputy County Assessor Davis was working in the neighborhood Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhode and family have moved to their place on Butter Creek road about two miles from town. The place is known as the Stone farm. They have been busy fixing the house up.

Tuesday afternoon at about four o'clock, a fire broke out in the roof of the W. A. Hineline home, but due to prompt action of those present and the quick arrival of help, the damage was slight.

Chas. Rogers, uncle of Mrs. Hineline, saw the blaze from the barn and called to Mrs. Hineline, who was in the house. While they applied water to the blaze the were reinforced by Mary Rodda and Margaret McDadd who had seen the blaze when she got off the school bus.

Margaret brought more help. Mrs. F. B. also saw the fire from her home and telephoned for assistance. Uncle Charley at the pump, Mary with the bucket, and Mrs. Hineline on the roof made a very efficient fire squad and kept the blaze in bounds until the neighbors came and soon had it under control.

Mrs. Kate Bryant of Walla Walla is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lena Lage on the West side. A delicious dinner was served after which the ladies tied a woolen comforter for relief work.

Those present were Mrs. J. M. Prindle, Mrs. J. W. Hamman, Mrs. Lena Lage, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. W. G. Rodda, Mrs. A. W. Turnblad and the hostess, Mrs. Carson Linder. The guests present were Mrs. Kate Bryant, Mrs. Frank Seeliger, Mrs. Chas. Seeliger, and Mrs. Wayne Mulkins.

Next month the club will be entertained at an afternoon meeting by Mrs. Lena Lage.

BOARDMAN NEWS

By Mrs. Dan Ransler

The engagement of Miss Rachel Johnson and Ray Barlow was announced Sunday morning at a breakfast given at the W. O. King home. The yellow and green color scheme was beautifully carried out in the decorations placed about the rooms. The announcements were made in the form of small jig-saw puzzles which were placed in each favor.

Guests included the Misses Rachel Johnson, Rhoda Shellenberger, Marian Campbell, Mabel Brown, Katherine Brown, Mildred Allen, Beth Meryl Miller, and Gladys Wilson; Messrs Ray Barlow, Robert Bicker, Delbert Johnson, Elmer Wilson; and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. A. Nan Crary, Mrs. Jess Mathis and her mother, Mrs. Hendley of Echo were visiting on the project Friday.

CONSTANCE BENNETT FINDS SIXTH SENSE OF STYLE

Constance Bennett believes that dressing to type is the most important key to feminine chic, and that is the advice she gives her feminine fans who ask her advice.

"I think it would be a fatal mistake for many women to copy my clothes," she declares. "I choose them, not only because they may be smart or attractive or feminine, but because they are suitable to my individual personality."

"There is a sixth sense of style appropriateness which is latent in every woman and should be developed until it is a matter of second nature. Everyone should study her own type until she is able to classify her personality and know its requirements."

"Dressing within one's income is also an indication of good taste. Charm lies not always in the most elaborate, but often in the simplest attire."

In "Our Brothers," her newest picture which is to be shown at the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday, Constance Bennett wears a tremendous wardrobe of ravishing clothes, ranging from tennis frock to a formal court presentation gown.

PINE CITY NEWS

By Oleta Neill

(From last week) The car Mr. Mathews of Walla Walla and Mr. and Mrs. James O' Mohundro was in tipped over near Lexington one day last week when their tire went flat. Mr. Mathews got his thumb hurt, otherwise none of them were injured. The windows and top of the car were broken.

A Farm Bureau meeting at Alpine was attended by a few Pine City folks. The young people from Pine City to help furnish the program were: Miss Audrey Moore, a monologue; Misses Marie Healy and Yvonne Neill, a song; Miss Naomi Moore, a monologue; Miss Oleta Neill, a song; and the Misses Lila Bartholomew, Neva Neill, Marie Healy, Oleta and Lenna Neill, a three act skit, representing an old time movie.

Ralph Moore who has been working on the Roy Neill ranch left Sunday evening for Portland.

Clarence Neill was struck on the head by a horse a week ago Sunday while visiting at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Charlie Plourd near Pendleton. Not thinking the injury serious, he did not go to the physician until Tuesday, when an X-ray examination of his skull of about 2 1/2 or 3 inches. He has been in hospital since but is improving.

The skit presented at Alpine Farm Bureau program by the Misses Lila Bartholomew, Neva Neill, Marie Healy, Oleta and Lenna Neill will be presented at the Pine City auditorium after band practice Friday evening for the benefit of the people who were unable to attend Farm Bureau.
