questions: "Must I take the examination?" and "What must I do to get a new license?"

The authority to waive the examination of an applicant for a renewal of an operator's license except in those instances when the applicant is 70 years of age or more, or when evidence is shown that the applicant may not be qualified to hold a license, has been granted to Secretary Hoss by the legislature. Mr. Hoss believes that the value of the examination law will not be decreased in any way, for under this plan any driver who is not entirely normal physically or mentally, or is crippled in any way, will be given a careful check-up.

Holders of new type drivers licenses and renewals issued since July 1, 1931, are not compelled to renew their permits until June 30, 1935, regardless of the expiration date they show.

Examinations will be continued for those not previously licensed in Oregon, the exams covering an actual driving test, a written quiz on road laws and a brief physical test to check eyesight and knowledge of road signs.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS TOGS
COST ONLY $25 FOR YEAR.

A complete wardrobe for a high school girl can be purchased at a yearly cost of $24.85, according to Mrs. Azalea Sager, extension specialist in clothing and textiles at Oregon State college, who has worked out a budget especially to aid relief workers and homemakers whose clothing dollar is at a minimum.

"This clothing allowance represents the absolute minimum requirement in number and kind of garments to maintain comfort, health and decency, says Mrs. Sager. "Such a budget can only be used as a guide and may have to be revised to meet specific needs of individuals."

Making of dresses and undergarments is necessary under this plan, and no allowance is made for purchasing patterns. The best dress is made of dotted Swiss, dimity, voile batiste or similar material which costs about 25 cents per yard. Undergarments are made from bleached or unbleached muslin at 10 or 15 cents per yard. Silk hose for party wear are not included in the budget and would cost an additional 49 cents.

A few of these garments, as indicated on the chart, will serve two years, depending upon the wear and care given the clothes. Although the budget is planned for girls from 14 to 18 years, it can be easily be adapted to younger girls at a slight reduction in cost.

The minimum clothing budget for high school girls is as follows:

	Num.	Yrs.	Orig.
			ber Use Cost
Hat or beret	1	1	$ 5.50
Coat	1	2	8.00
Sweater	1	2	1.00

SECRETARY HOSS FURTHER EXPLAINS AUTO LICENSE LAW.

Residents of Oregon who are carrying licenses to operate motor vehicles on the highways of the state are showing more than a passing interest in the new law providing for the cancellation of all outstanding operators licenses issued between 1920 and July 1, 1931, the law becoming effective September 1 of this year. The principal thoughts in the minds of some 400,000 automobile drivers has been summed up by Secretary of State Hoss into two
