

FARM CO-OPERATIVE DIVISION

A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

GOVERNMENT MAY FINANCE COLD STORAGE PLANT.

The matter of cold storage has been brought up on several occasions at Farm Bureau meetings and elsewhere but nothing definite was ever arrived at. Of late the project seems to have been revived but whether or not it gets beyond the discussion stage remains to be seen. The matter was brought up last week for discussion at a meeting of the Farm Bureau Auxiliary by a member who after explaining the advantages and convenience, suggested that the association might take up the matter.

Data on the matter has been obtained here but locker rates seem to vary considerably in nearby cities where cold storage plants are operated. At Pendleton a rate as low as $3.55 per year is available. Locker rentals at Walla Walla are said to be $5 per year. Kennewick has a slightly higher rate.

If such a plant were established at Hermiston it could probably be made available for both city and country people and many living at a distance. Open cold storage would be available to asparagus growers, poultry and egg producers, gardeners, and in fact anyone wishing to keep perishable products. Winter butchered meat is made available throughout the following summer, while fruit may be kept in the fresh state for an equally long period.

A government loan might be obtained for financing the venture and it has been suggested that the cooperative creamery might be the logical organization to take up the matter of providing the plant.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN IN CROP SUMMARY FOR OREGON.

Oregon crop prospects as a whole, on July first show considerable improvement over a month ago according to the regular monthly report of the Division of Crop and Livestock Estimates, the only exceptions being rye and spring wheat. This is a result chiefly of more seasonable weather and warmer temperatures. Rye condition is down about four points from a month ago but spring wheat, most of the acreage of which is made up of seeded land on which the fall sown wheat winter killed, shows a ten point drop from the relatively high condition reported a month ago. The big reduction in the spring wheat crop prospects is practically entirely due to deficiency of soil moisture during the last of June and rains were needed over most of the eastern Oregon wheat area on July first. June weather while not exceptionally warm, was very drying and soil moisture supplies in the wheat belt, so far as the season, have been largely used up and rainfall is needed. Winter wheat condition is unchanged from June first. Some what similar conditions exist over most of the Pacific Northwest, as will be noted in the comparison of a month ago. Condition of feed grains, oats and barley, is considerably improved over a month ago and acreages of both crops are materially increased over a year ago.

$8,000,000 Farm Loans Sought.

Spokane, Wn.—Since the enactment of the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act, May 12, applications aggregating $8,000,000.00 have been received by J. A. Schollard, agent of the Land Bank Commissioner for the Twelfth Federal Land district, covering Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho.

"It would expedite matters materially if farmers fully understood that if they expect to get a curtailment in their debts by offering cash to their creditors they should know how much cash it will take to pay off or curtail their accounts before they apply to the Commissioner's Agent for a loan.

"The principal purpose of making Commissioner's loans is to refinance farmers' indebtedness, particularly second mortgages and personal indebtedness. Before a loan can be made adequate security must be put up, and the property appraised and a report made."

Cooperative Cannery Planned.

BAKER—Plans are nearing completion for a cooperative community cannery in the Eagle Valley district. County Agent P. T. Fortner, accompanied by members of the organization committee plan to make a trip to Hermiston in the near future to observe the organization and set-up of the cooperative cannery which has functioned so successfully at that place.

HARVEY W. SCOTT STATUE TO BE UNVEILED JULY 22.

Unveiling of the Harvey W. Scott statue at Mt. Tabor park and presentation to the city of Portland has been announced for Saturday, July 22, at 2:30 o'clock. The statue is the work of Gutzon Borglum, sculptor of international recognition.

The statue commemorates Harvey W. Scott, pioneer editor of the Morning Oregonian of Portland, whose journalistic career was correlated with the pioneer development of the Pacific northwest. Fathering the destinies of the Oregonian through its formative period, Scott's forceful character, reflected in his writing, not only made a strong institution of the fledgling Oregonian, but influenced in a large degree the development of a pioneering country.

GAY PASSENGER LIST UPON 'MELODY CRUISE'

The passenger list of the U. E. Las Ondas, which embarks at the Oasis Theatre Friday and Saturday on a "Melody Cruise" from New York to California, includes one Broadway playboy in Phil Harris, a giddy husband on a bender in Charlie Ruggles, two gold-digging gerties, an adorable schoolmarm, a gossiping spinster, a bevy of devastating damsels and an irascible wife.

"Melody Cruise" is a musical production with innovations in rhythmic dialogue, its frivolous and spicy story is set to music, but lacks the conventional routine of interruptions to the continuity of the picture. In the cast, under Sandrich's direction, are Charles Ruggles, Phil Harris, Greta Nissen, Helen Mack, Marjorie Gatenso, Florence Roberts, Juppie Brewster, Shirley Chambers and Chick Chandler.

As an extra on the program there will be presented the first episode of the serial "Last Frontier."

Zane Grey Picture At Oasis.

The feature at the Oasis theatre Sunday and Monday will be "Under the Tonto Rim," a Zane Grey western picture. It is above the average in pictorial quality and also notable for its dominant note of comedy. Stuart Erwin injects his inimitable style of pathetic humor into the central role, that of a born cattleman whom the fates have marked for the unwelcome occupation of hog raising. Raymond Hatton and Fuzzy Knight help with cleverly portrayed supporting characters parts. Vera Hills, a new leading ingenue, is competent and attractive. Fred Kohler is better than usual because his villainy is more restrained and accordingly more believable.

The picture includes several remarkable panoramic scenes of cattle being herded across a river.

Two comedies will complete the program.

OHIO MATCH COMPANY BUYS BIG STAND OF WHITE PINE.

Spokane, Wn.—The Ohio Match company has purchased 13,500,000 feet of white pine timber on the Little North Fork river above Hudlow, according to an announcement made in Spokane this week. The REGIONAL FORESTER ANNOUNCES FIRE REGULATIONS.

About this time of the year many people are planning summer vacation trips into the woods. According to the regional forester's office, Portland, many requests are being received from prospective forest visitors as to the forest fire regulations which they must observe. This office has accordingly compiled the following information on this subject:

Special federal laws govern the tourist or camper who enters the national forests in Oregon and Washington. The following violations are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both:

A. During the period from July 1 to September 30:

1. Failure to secure a camp fire permit before building any camp fire on any national forest land (other than the Siuslaw national forest) except in safe stoves or at those forest camps where no camp fire permits are required, as shown by posted notices.

2. Going or being upon any national forest land, except at designated and posted forest camps (other than the Siuslaw national forest) with automobiles, other vehicles or pack horses, with the intention of camping thereon, without being equipped, for each vehicle or pack train, with the following fire fighting tools:

- a. One axe, with handles not less than 26 inches in length and head weighing two pounds or over.
- b. One shovel, with handle not less than 36 inches long, and blade not less than 8 inches wide.
- c. One water container, capacity one gallon, or more.
- 3. Failure to stop when smoking while in timber, brush, or grass areas on national forest land except on paved or surfaced highways (and on the Siuslaw national forest).
- B. Throughout the Entire Year:
- 4. Building a camp fire in grass, leaves, rotten wood, or other dangerous places, or in windy weather, without clearing around the fire pit and confining the fire to a hole.
- 5. Leaving any fire to burn unattended or failing totally to extinguish a fire before leaving it.
- 6. Throwing or placing lighted cigarette, cigar, pipe heel, match, fire cracker, or other burning substance, or discharging fireworks, in any place where they may start a fire.

The above rules of general application are frequently supplemented by special restrictions necessary for the protection of certain small areas of unusual high fire hazard. Special notices are always posted at trail and road entrances to areas where any additional precautionary measures are effective. Such restrictions may include closures: (a) to all smoking; (b) to all camping; (c) to all public use except by settlers within the area; (d) to entry except after registering at designated places and securing permits authorizing entry under certain conditions.

The requirements of these six federal regulations also are embodied in the state laws of both Oregon and Washington, pertaining to forest fires. Violations of these provisions are handled by local justices of the peace.

Other acts which constitute a violation of the state fire laws in Oregon and Washington and which are punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, are:

- 1. The willful and malicious setting of fire on any forest land.
- 2. Accidentally setting fire on any forest land without extinguishing the fire or using every possible means to do so; allowing fire to spread to the property of another.
- 3. Burning any brush, stumps, slash, grass, grain, etc., during closed fire season without written permission from state forester, (Washington closed season, May 1 to October 1; Oregon closed season, May 15 to October 1).
- 4. Refusing to render assistance in fighting a forest fire when called upon by the state forester or any of his agents.

The United States supplied France with more than $2,385,000 worth of agricultural machinery in 1931.

sale by the U.S. forestry service was reported to be at $4 per thousand feet.

This will give no additional employment, officials say, but will mean continued operation of the company's logging camp, mill and match block plant.

We are fighting a business which makes money every time a non-drinker is made into a drinker and a moderate drinker into a hard drinker. So long as powerful financial interests are in a position thus to make money by extending the drink habit they will use every resource at their command to accomplish that purpose. They will employ the most skillful salesmen and advertisers, they will adopt every device known to modern psychology to popularize drink and increase drinking. They will organize a campaign of education for intemperance.

They who are in favor of that business will, of course, vote wet. They who are opposed to that business should think twice before voting to license it to start its campaign of education for intemperance.

SERGEANT ALVIN C. YORK THE OUTSTANDING HERO OF THE WORD WAR.

It is truly to be deplored that there are those Americans who find no more intelligent reason to offer for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, than that it should increase the revenue of the U.S.A., patently ignoring recognition of the incalculable harm, misery, and the economic ruin and havoc it will release in countless homes, but more particularly in the lives of the boys and girls of our great country.

That the brewers and alcoholics welcome repeal, is not in the least hard to understand; but that those controlling the destiny of our people should be sponsoring a thing as manifestly evil as alcohol, historically a wrecker of homes and of happiness, and breeder of violence too numerous to catalogue, is indeed incomprehensible, if not woefully tragic.

NO TAX ON POOR MAN'S SPREAD.

The Oregonian is firm in the conviction that tax-levying should not depart from its fundamental function. That fundamental function is the raising of needed public revenues. To employ the government's tax-levying power to the purpose of equalizing competition between similar products, or to destroy trade in the other, is wrong in principle, and once applied will lead to many abuses.

The proposed tax on oleomargarine is not presented as a revenue measure, nor even as an attempt through taxation to regulate or suppress the use of an article in the interests of public health. Its purpose is to limit the sale of oleomargarine or bar it completely from the market.

The object, of course, is to enhance the use and price of butter. It is purely theoretical that removal of oleomargarine from the market would do this. The plan, tried elsewhere, has generally resulted solely in denying a wholesome substitute to those persons whose means are so limited that they cannot buy butter.

A similar measure to the one on the ballot for the forthcoming election has been defeated three times in Oregon. It should be defeated again.
