LEAGUE OF OREGON CITIES NAME KEHRLI EXECUTIVE.

EUGENE, Oregon — Organization plans for the coming year were made here by the League of Oregon Cities last week, and the group formerly named Herman Kehrl, director of the bureau of municipal research and service at the University of Oregon, as its executive secretary.

Mr. Kehrl, who will take over his duties immediately, outlined plans for regional meetings of the league in various parts of Oregon. His office, which will be located on the campus of the University, will act as a clearing house for interchange of ideas, and will assist municipalities in many ways.

More than 30 officials, representing 16 municipalities, were present for the session.

Full control of the liquor situation, especially the right to raise revenue from licenses and taxes on beverages, will be sought by the cities, through the legislative committee of the league, it was decided at the meeting. A legislative program will also be presented before the special session of the legislature expected in the near future.

Cities were urged to prepare and complete data on public works projects, and the next session of the legislature will be called upon to pass legislation so that tax moneys can be used to liquidate these projects. Burton E. Palmer, executive secretary of the Oregon committee on Public Works Administration told those present at the meeting.

The aims of the university bureau for municipal affairs was outlined at the meeting. Subjects on which the university will give aid and information include regulation of public utilities, distribution of tax burden, city planning, sanitation projects, legal questions, recreational and social service programs.

Mr. Kehrl, new executive secretary, comes highly recommended for his position. Last year he studied the famous Minnesota league of municipalities, and did graduate work at the University of Minnesota, and previous to that served for many years as the secretary of the City club in Portland.
