SCHOOL NOTES

Hermiston has been invited to participate with Milton high school in a debate to be held there November 25th, the tentative date set. The question under discussion will be, "Resolved that the United States should adopt the essential features of the N.R.A. as permanent policies." Mr. Harger, debate coach, will hold tryout for those interested, and will select a team to represent Hermiston next week.

A meeting of the tri-state Girls Federation was held Saturday, October 21 at Lewiston, Idaho. Delegates chosen from Hermiston were Rene Attebury, Helen Jendrzewski, Anna Rae Martin, and Betty Ralph. They were accompanied by Miss Sibert, league advisor, and Mrs. Enos Martin, in whose car the delegates rode. An enjoyable and interesting time was reported. Helen Jendrzewski entertained the high school with a few humorous sidelights of the trip. Later a detailed report of the addresses and discussion groups will be given by the other delegates before the local league.

Dean Permeal French, dean of women at the University of Idaho, was the main speaker. Over 200 delegates, representing between 15 and 20 high schools in Idaho, Washington and Oregon, attended the meeting.

The Torch Honor Society will give an assembly program next Monday at 1:00 p.m. The chief purpose of the program is to present the principles and standards for the special benefits of freshmen who must attain certain scholastic standing to be eligible for membership their sophomore year. ## FIRST NATIONAL TAKES OVER DEPOSIT LIABILITY ECHO BANK

TRANSFER NECESSARY THROUGH CHANGE IN BANKING LAWS.

State Bank of Echo Has Served Patrons Many Years; Larger Banking Facilities Available.

The first National Bank of Portland has assumed the deposit liability of the State Bank of Echo and beginning the first of the week checks drawn on the Echo bank are being honored at the Pendleton Branch of the First National, says C. C. Clarkson, manager of the Pendleton branch. The safe deposit boxes at Echo are not being moved to Pendleton but it is explained that depositors can arrange to have the contents of their boxes transferred to Pendleton.

The bank at Echo was first organized many years ago and at first was conducted as the Bank of Echo. In 1924 it was reorganized as the State Bank of Echo. The officers are Joseph Cunha, president, Fred W. Andrews, vice president and George J. Mitchell, cashier. The building at Echo is owned personally by Mr. Cunha. Mr. Mitchell will remain at Echo to close up the affairs of the bank.

The Echo bank is in a sound position but changes in the banking laws make it difficult for it to carry on with loans as heretofore.

"Echo is especially busy in the winter when stock men move their stock in from the range. A great quantity of alfalfa hay is raised in the surrounding district which makes it an economical place to winter stock," says E. B. MacNaughton, president of First National Bank.

"Moving the banking business to Pendleton will not greatly inconvenience these stockmen and will make available for them larger banking facilities than they have enjoyed before."

The Pendleton branch of the First National is sending out letters to all the depositors at Echo giving them information as to procedure concerning their accounts. The suggestion is made that depositors secure first National Bank check books, either here or from the bank at Echo.

At the time of the last statement all the State Bank of Echo had deposits totalling $104,000.—East Oregonian.

JUNIOR CLASS WILL PRESENT SPARKLING COMEDY FAMILY LIFE

PLAY FURNISHES EXCELLENT PARTS SEEN IN FAMILY LIFE.

Cast Directed by Miss Esther Sibert, Who is Shaping it for Presentation November 2.

A comedy in three acts, "Polishing Papa," will be presented at the Oasis theatre next Thursday night, starting at 8:00 o'clock. It is being directed by Miss Esther Sibert and the cast is made up of members of the junior class.

There is plenty of comedy in this sparkling play of family life, with passages of real drama. The story goes something like this:

Smith's Sausages were known throughout the land, but not the humorous troubles that he had with his children. Smith is altogether too ready to amble about his home minus necktie and shoes and grammar; and his son and daughter start to polish him. But Smith is a peppy papa, and when he grows resentful, plenty of dramas follow, what with an English Duke, on whose title the daughter has her eye, coming to be impressed, not to speak of the lovely Rose Parker. The son hates the sausage business, and wants to go into something "refined," like investment; banking; and that brings plenty of trouble to him. The English Duke doesn't turn out so well, either, but the children and the father all turn out much better than they ever thought they would, once the various complications and misunderstandings are straightened out.

The cast is:

Sydney Smith.....George Sale
Arthur Smith.....Bill Lindner
Dick Brainerd.....Fred Hensel
Marie.....Edna Turnblad
Jane Smith.....Neva Richards
Rose Parker.....Sylvia Shutter
Peggy.....Julia Colpitta
Karmen.....Floyd Pierce
Reginald Dabney.....Chester Dyer
Mrs. Stevens.....Florence Lewis

ALONG THE CONCRETE

It is peculiar how one will experience an illusion when shooting at a stuffed Chinese rooster. Three sure-shots won't even bring that kind of a bird down. Our new jeweler must have thought it was a coo-coo bird.

Unsuspecting patrons of the rolled-up sidewalk near the railroad track wading through tar without the remotest idea of the tragedy of the act. Victims of the dark.

Bill Davis assisting in the superintending of the work on the city water mains on Second street.

We happened onto a choice bit of news this week. Two unknown parties lost themselves while meandering along some of our country roads and when they tried to turn around, not only got stuck in the sand but flashed the headlights on a flock of some 1200 turkeys. Maybe you think there weren't turkeys everywhere. The owners became alarmed by this intrusion and fired several shots at said unknowns. The story all ended very well except that the editor was asked not to say anything about it in the paper.

We understand that the latest thing in sporting goods for the up-to-date pheasant hunter is sponge-rubber ankle pads. Logan Todd has just ordered a pair of these tailor-made and is eagerly awaiting their arrival before he again goes pheasant hunting.

What has become of the rich young man who made advances to a father's daughter. Some fathers are wondering about that too.

Our prominent democrat Thomas Campbell inspecting deer and elk horns in a trailer of a car passing through. He got in between the trailer and the car and might have been taken along.
