BENEFITS DERIVED FROM LADIES AID THRIFT SHOP.

The Union Christian Aid elected new officers for the coming year and has started its sixth year of service. Officers are Mrs. F. Moore, president; Mrs. Minnie Norton, vice president; Mrs. A. W. Turnblad, treasurer; Mrs. Wm. Bensch, secretary; and Mrs. Huff and Mrs. Turnblad, thrift shop managers.

Although sales for the last year from the Thrift Shop total less than the first year, 1928-29, when over $200 worth of second-hand garments were sold, the Thrift Shop service is recognized as real service in the community.

Wherein the first year the rummage sales were considered mostly of no consequence—many mothers now look to the shop for garments that will cut down the expense of clothing their families. The aid members give many hours in cleaning, mending and pressing. It is very grateful for any donations of clothing, shoes, hats, wool or cotton rags, or anything that can be used in a home.

A record is kept of every sale by both secretary and treasurer. The aid takes this opportunity to thank the public for its cooperation during the past year.

HOME DRYING SALVAGES WASTE APPLES AND PEARS.

The drying of apples and pears that would otherwise go to waste is recommended as an economy measure by Miss Lucy A. Case, extension nutrition specialist at Oregon State college. A serving of dried fruit contains a larger proportion of minerals and certain vitamins than fresh fruit because the dried fruit has become concentrated and does not swell to its original volume again when prepared for the table.

Dried apples and pears have many uses in sauce, desserts and salads and may be made more flavorful by stewing with a small amount of orange or lemon peel. Stewed dried pears in a salad with shredded cabbage and sour cream dressing are excellent, says Miss Case.

peel and core the fruit and slice it of an inch thick into a salt water bath, to keep the color. Use one level teaspoon of salt to a quart of cold water. Drain and remove surplus moisture. Spread on racks, shelves or pans in thin layers and dry at a temperature of 140 to 150 degrees F. Drying time varies with the thickness and texture of the fruit.

Stir the fruit and turn the shelves or pans occasionally in order to secure a uniform product. Test by breaking a section in two at its thickest part. If no moisture can be squeezed from the broken end, the food has dried sufficiently. Dried fruit should be leathery and pliable. Food insufficiently dried will mold.

Directions for drying fruits and vegetables and sulphuring pears, hints on storage, and directions for making inexpensive homemade dryers are contained in Extension Bulletin 450, "Home Food Preservation," which may be obtained free of charge from county extension agents or by writing the home economics extension service, Corvallis.
