Merely Postponement.

Lawmakers in Oregon have discovered that the policy of waiving the penalty on delinquent taxes has not remedied a bad situation but has made the collection of taxes almost impossible.

It has been proposed by the governor that loans be made on the security of unpaid taxes, and federal loans be made against warrants and other obligations that are unpaid because taxes are unpaid.

The creditors as represented by local governments are as hard up as their debtors. The state expects the tax assessments to be paid by their creditors and at the same time make collection laws so soft and ineffective that counties and school districts cannot collect enough taxes to pay their own obligations.

By receiving aid from the federal government the debt burden is only increased and the inevitable collection of taxes merely postponed.

so why not at least try to work out our own problem in the state. The tax collection problem cannot be ignored longer and the state legislature must act during the present session.

PIERCE DISCUSSES RECOVERY BILL

(Continued from Page 1) which until now have been hopelessly sought after. The $31,000,000 alone for development of the Columbia river at Bonneville will bring cheap power to the state of Oregon. In speaking of the river development, Mr. Pierce said, he did not oppose the Bonneville dam, but he did oppose the people who say that the Bonneville dam will solve the problem of navigation on the river.

Mr. Pierce stated, "and a million dollars dropped into the country will not be a benefit to a few but to all, and this is only a few of the projects under the recovery bill."

He went on to say that the fundamental development leading up to the need for the recovery act were industrialism, capitalism, and nationalism. With these came the invention of machinery; dividends profits; interest; and national trade competition. The era of machinery has taken the place of man labor used to produce certain commodities but the cost of that commodity has not been reduced proportionately bringing the need of the control of industry, to dissolve the monopoly of the national wealth. At the time of the entrance of the recovery bill (Mr. Pierce represented the wealth of the nation by $100 and the population by 100) one man controlled $59, one had $9, 22 had $1.22, and 26 had less than seven cents apiece, due to the control of business in industry. The object of the administration is to reach the man receiving less than seven cents.

The following statistics show how this condition was brought about: Approximately 1-6th of the population pay no taxes; 1-6th engaged in government; 1-3d are working; and 1-3d in the bread lines—12% of the population of the United States is without means of support. Money and the control of it has much to do with these conditions, and as a measure of values it controls commodity prices.

Congressman Pierce stated that he was not wholeheartedly in favor of the administration's present gold buying policy but that he would much rather have seen the use of silver for free coinage of silver. What the outcome will be, he said, was uncertain. He touched upon the question of tax-exempt bonds which is a means of avoiding payment of taxes to the federal government.

Tells of Life at Capitol. Mrs. Pierce gave a most interesting talk, telling of the busy life of a congressman at Washington, and describing the setting for the sessions, including the arrangements of buildings, and the habits and haunts of the senators and representatives.

Some of the issues to be considered by a congressman from the west he said, include reclamation, roads, forestry, Indians, public lands and much business on the question of agriculture.

One of the startling revelations made by Mrs. Pierce is that out of the 435 representatives in the house at 159 are rarely present during a session. It is vitally important, he said, that a western congressman be present at every session due to the fact that he is outnumbered by representatives from the densely populated eastern states.

The two phases of the last session that interested Mrs. Pierce most were the fact of sectionalism, and that for the first time in the history of the U. S. government all bills were framed by the president and his advisors and presented to the senate and house for their approval, instead of being framed by the committees and sent to the president.

Of all their visits to historic places, Mrs. Pierce said, the scene on the battle field of Gettysburg, 90 miles north of Washington, was the most outstanding to her. Huge monuments stand in memory of the greatest three day hand to hand battle ever fought in the history of the United States.

Mrs. Pierce mentioned the part women are taking in national governmental affairs, naming Miss Perkins, secretary of labor; Ruti Bryan Owen, minister to Denmark; Mrs. Ross, director of the mint; and the five women in the house, and one woman in the senate.

Committee on Arranges Meeting H. J. Stillings, district committee man, arranged for the meeting here. A hearty response was given to Mr. Pierce and his wife.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
" soul and body" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 19.

The Golden Text was, "Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee" (Isa. 26:8).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God" (Ps. 84:2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit . . . As astronomy reverses the human perception of the movement of the solar system, so Christian Science reverses the seeming relation of Soul and body and makes body tributary to Mind. Thus it is with man, who is but the humble servant of the restful Mind, though it seems otherwise to finite sense" (pp. 223, 119).
