A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

NATION-WIDE BUTTER CONSUMPTION CAMPAIGN ENDORSED BY CREAMERY OPERATORS.

A nation-wide butter consumption campaign, patterned after the very successful consumption drive of 1930, is now under way. At a recent meeting in Chicago, attended by representatives of all branches of the butter industry, a nation-wide plan was formed to reach all sections of the country. This work is now under way in some mid-west states and reports indicate a great success.

Last week, in Portland, at a meeting of 33 of the creamery operators, this plan was unanimously endorsed for both the national and state program. The national work will be carried on through the facilities of the National Dairy Council. The work of this state will be conducted by a committee through the Oregon Dairy Council. Plans for a program reaching all parts of the state have been outlined.

Government figures showed a total butter storage of 160,390,000 pounds on November 1st of this year as against a total of 66,828,000 pounds on November 1, 1932. Recent purchases of butter through the Dairy Marketing Corporation have been of great value to the industry but it seems probable that these Federal purchases may be discontinued soon and if so, a chaotic condition in the market may again prevail.

The present fact of greater production than consumption of butter must be dealt with at once. Production control cannot be expected to do it all. Butter consumption must be increased if the surplus is to be reduced. Government buying should be recognized as only temporary, partial aid. The dairymen and the creamerymen must help themselves.

Actual per capita butter consumption is now at a low figure all over the country. Advertising and promotion of other food fats have made serious inroads into the natural butter market. We must both regain our former market demands as well as conduct an educational campaign which will be permanent and far-reaching in its effects.

To insure success in this plan in Oregon, a committee has been appointed to work with the council and to collect the funds necessary for such an extensive campaign. At the Portland meeting last week the group voted unanimously to invest 10c per thousand of butter, based upon the butter-make of 1932, in this work, and this sum should be paid to this committee at once. During 1934 the amount is to be paid monthly, based upon the corresponding month's production of 1933. Of this amount 40% will be used in national work, with a proportionate part influencing consumption in Oregon, but 60% of the amount raised will be used in direct advertising and promotion of butter in this state.

Under this plan the amount paid by any one creamery or cheese factory is very small but with all co-operating, the total amount raised would be about $3500 which will permit a very extensive and valuable campaign for the industry, which will continue to come back in dividends of increased demand many fold to us all.

If American consumption of butter was near the 29 pounds per capita consumption figure of Canada, instead of the present figure of about 15 pounds, there would be an actual shortage of dairy products rather than a price-depressing surplus. The educational value of this work will have an immediate and lasting result in increasing the greater use of butter.

New Tomato Appears Valuable.

The Pritchard tomato is a new variety developed by the United States department of agriculture which is worthy of a place in Oregon gardens, according to a new circular of information concerning it just issued by A. G. Bouquet, professor of vegetable crops at O.S.C. This variety is a moderately heavy productive variety, ripening soon after Earliana, bearing scarlet fruit that is medium large, smooth, globular and solid. The plant is a vigorous grower but "self-topping." It was formerly called Scarlet Topper, but the name has been changed to that of its originator, F. J. Pritchard, who died recently.

Ladies Enjoy Social.

The social hour was the high spot in the regular meeting of the ladies of the Farm Bureau last Friday in the Columbia school house. The committee in charge included Mrs. J. H. Reid, Mrs. Buell, and Mrs. R. French.

The "Merry Troupers" gave a skit "Pink Tea" with the old fashioned grandmother, who became a flapper creating many amusing situations. Mrs. French has charge of this group and has been asked to return to Columbia during the holidays and give another presentation. A small charge will be made and the funds will be split fifty-fifty, part to be used on the piano fund.

Friday, December 15, has been set for the next regular meeting with Mrs. C. L. Upham as chairman, assisted by Mrs. L. Hammer and Mrs. J. Jendrzewski.

START OF CORN-HOG PLAN AWAITS WORD ON DETAILS.

Just how much of a part Oregon will take in the forthcoming corn-hog reduction program now started by the agricultural adjustment administration will depend largely on the details of the plan, such as the number of sows necessary to make one eligible, and other factors, believes H. A. Lindgren, livestock field man of the Oregon State college extension service.

Such details had not been received the first of December but just as soon as they are the information will be disseminated to all counties of the state through county agents and the press so that all Oregon hog raisers can decide what the best course will be in relation to the control program.

Decline in export demand has been one of the principal factors in bringing the hog market to its present low position, figures gathered by the AAA reveal. While hog production in this country has increased at about the same rate as the population exports of hog products have steadily declined since the world war until this year they were less than a quarter of the amount taken by other countries in 1919, and barely half of the 1925 exports.

Oregon stands to gain much by the corn-hog program, it is pointed out, for though this is a deficit hog producing state, prices here reflect directly the middlewestern market levels.

AAA officials are repeatedly asked why there should be concerted curtailment of production as long as there is a single hungry mouth in this country. To this reply that if there was being consumed now all the wheat, pork, corn and similar basic products that were being used at the peak of prosperity, there would still be great unused surpluses as the result of the loss of the export markets. These huge surpluses here at home depress the markets, keep growers from getting enough money to buy the products of the cities, and hence industrial workers are thrown out of employment. The very surpluses thus add to the "hungry mouths."

Australia is nearly as large as the United States, but it has fewer inhabitants than California.

In the past few years attendance at motion pictures in this country has ranged from the depression low of 60,000,000 a week to a peak of 100,000,000.

BERRY CRINKLE DISEASE DESCRIBED IN BULLETIN.

The first publication of a bulletin dealing with the now widespread crinkle disease of strawberries has just been issued by the Oregon State College experiment station as written by Dr. S. M. Zeller, plant pathologist. Though noticed first in 1925 and not considered of major importance until more than five years later, this disease has caused the gradual degeneration of the Marshall variety of berry and is serious on others as well, the bulletin states.

The disease is a mosaic-like trouble appearing first as yellowish pinpoint spots on the leaves, which soon become crinkled and streaked with yellowish tissue. Affected plants yield less than 50 per cent as much crop as that produced by healthy plants.

The disease is carried by the strawberry leaf louse and once established spreads to all runner plants from that diseased stalk. Methods of developing practically disease free planting stock by selection are described in the new bulletin which may be had free from the college or any county agent.
