Life Insurance Standardization.

In a review of the life insurance industry's experiences in 1933, Byron K. Elliott, General Counsel of the American Life Convention, observes that "in this period of national evolution the institution of life insurance stands with no well rounded fears. The business is unified as a natural result of a common basis of operation. The individual units of the industry are, with few exceptions, more homogeneous than the units of any other business."

Standardization and unification of life insurance practices and methods, among the legal reserve companies, have been of immense benefit to the insuring public. The buyer gets more that is genuinely valuable and sound when he buys a life policy today than he ever did before. He knows that he isn't going to be approached the next day by the representative of another legal reserve company with a cut-rate bargain policy. The old practice of rate-cutting tends to lower the security behind every policy written, at the policyholder's expense.

Selling methods have been vastly improved. The insurance counselor, who knows every phase of his business and has genuine desire to be of service to the buyer, has largely replaced the high-pressure "salesman."

In 1933 life insurance made definite progress in behalf of better service to the public.—Industrial Review.

Mrs. Mary Hedden of Glasgow, who has served many years in prison for stealing, has requested that she be sent back there to die.

SIX MONTHS UNDER AAA IN OREGON SUMMARIZED.

Start of the new year finds Oregon's agricultural industry well along in adapting itself to the almost revolutionary changes brought about by the application of the national agricultural adjustment act. What has transpired to date may be just a beginning, but when summarized according to major commodities he record begins to look formidable already. Here it is in the most brief outline:

WHEAT—Oregon growers signed up to remove 126,800 acres from production and in return qualified for $2,777,000 in domestic allotment benefit payments for the first year. All organization work is completed and some counties have received the checks for the first payments to growers. The northwest as a whole reports 14 per cent reduction in winter wheat acreage planted. Emergency export association moved 18 million bushels of northwest surplus.

HORTICULTURE—Northwest Tree Fruit Industries, Inc., formed as trade group of all northwest tree fruit shippers under trade agreements and code of operation designed to bring orderly marketing practices more profitable for the producers. Walnut industry organized under similar agreements in conjunction with California area.

CORN-HOGS—Emergency purchase of pigs and brood sows carried on to limited extent in this state. Corn-soy production control plan launched with possible maximum benefit payments on hogs totaling $720,000.

for hogs and $123,000 on corn. Full sign-up not expected, however, because of nature of industry here.

DAIRYING—Emergency butter surplus purchasing carried on by AAA in this region. Trade agreement among dairy products manufacturers drawn but not yet approved nationally. Milk marketing agreements provided for but none applied for in this state. Production control to be launched soon but details of plan not yet available.

LIVESTOCK—Beef may be included under dairy adjustment program.

FARM CREDIT—Reorganization of federal farm credit structure under farm act brought many applications for mortgage refinancing from Oregon farmers. State Agricultural Advisory council for aiding in farm debt adjustment set up under federal program. Four federal credit agencies set up at Spokane to handle all forms of government supervised farm credit in this district.

Barnett Silver of London, who has not spoken to his wife for two years, was held in court to have deserted her, though living in the same house.

James C. Darven, a bank official of Glasgow, is very fussy about his false teeth, and has different sets for morning, afternoon and evening.

NERVOUS, HEADACHES

Mrs. John Wright of 4th and Cedar Sts., Junction City, Ore. said: "I became very nervous and also suffered from headaches and pains in my side, back and limbs. After using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription my nerves were normal, the pains and aches had left me. I slept fine and felt strong and well again." Write Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y. New size, tablets 50 cts., liquid $1.00. Large size, tabs. or liquid, $1.35. "We Do Our Part."
