"LITTLE WOMEN" SHOWING HERE TUESDAY & WEDNESDAY.

"Little Women," film transcription of the beloved story by Louisa M. Alcott, has been breaking attendance records wherever it has been shown throughout the United States, attesting the hunger of the American people for just such a production. The immense popularity of Katherine Hepburn in the leading role, following a sensational rise to the heights of film favor in three pictures, also was considered an important factor.

In the Oregonian following the opening of this show in Portland, Leone Cass Bar wrote the following review:

"Under a heading which read in part: 'Play shows world not so awful bad'; 'Memories of good, wholesome home life preserved in 'Little Women.' Miss Bar began her review as follows:

"Oh, this old world isn't growing so bad after all, we are, sophisticated to the point of horror on our feeding of fiction rank as weeds, poisonous as toadstools in damp, dark places, sit on the lowest branch of the old apple tree in memory's garden, smiling happily in delicious simplicity of 'film women.'"

"Bless the memory of Louisa M. Alcott!"

"What bright, clean, joyous stories she wrote!"

"It is 45 years since 'Little Women' made its bow to the world, but its charm is fresh and fine and true. The soul of youth immortal lives in its lines. It is still heart-grIPPING and tender, a heart idyl."

"Little Women" has been surrounded with a supporting program which makes it eminently suitable for family patronage."

DODD QUITS RACE IN DUNN'S FAVOR; VIEWS COINCIDE

DODD SUPPORTERS INFORMED THROUGH PRESS.

Duty to Cause of River and State Development Declared Reason for Withdrawal.

Supporters of E. P. Dodd of Hermiston in his campaign for the nomination for governor of the state of Oregon, first received word of Mr. Dodd's withdrawal from the republican gubernatorial primary contest in favor of Joe E. Dunn, this morning when a story broke on the front page of the Portland Oregonian. Mr. Dodd wired Mrs. Dodd here early this afternoon that he would speak over radio station KEX in Portland at 6:45 p. m. today.

No official statement was received from Mr. Dodd today. His name will appear on the ballots because they are already printed, at least in most cases, but in the number of contestants in the republican primary from seven to six.

Besides Senator Dunn, the remaining aspirants are Rufus C. Holman, Sam H. Brown, Frank Lonergan, General U. G. McAlexander and Charles Hall.

The following statement, in part, appeared in the Oregonian:

"I satisfied myself after much inquiry," he said in his formal statement, "that by the adoption of these principles into his (Dunn's) otherwise splendid program his nomination and election as governor was assured. I was glad to find that he was on this matter of river affairs of the entire state and was a friend and advocate of the general development of upstate resources as well as for maritime improvements."

"His views so coincided with mine that I felt it my duty to the cause I advocated, to my friends and supporters, and to the republican party of the state, to set aside any personal ambition I might have and to cast my lot with him by withdrawing from the race and give his campaign my support."

Senator Dunn was in eastern Oregon when he learned of the Dodd action and statement. He was pleased. "I am happy indeed," he said, "to accept the assistance and help of such an estimable citizen and candidate as E. P. Dodd, with whom I see as one on this matter of river development. It is, therefore, an easy thing for me to pledge him a continued support of the program upon which he had based his gubernatorial candidacy."
