Combat Coccidiosis.

Usually at this time of the year, there is an outbreak of coccidiosis among chickens and turkeys.

VEGETABLE CANNING NEEDS MUCH CARE, SAYS OSC MAN.

With the return of the canning season, Oregon homemakers are once more faced with the problem of how to be certain that the home-canned product is free from the organism known as Bacillus botulinus.

The Bacillus botulinus grows under conditions where little or no oxygen is present and where the acid content is low or the condition is slightly alkaline.

Since not less than six hours at boiling temperature—which would completely disintegrate vegetables—are required to kill some strains of the botulinus organism.

In cases where it is impossible to use a pressure cooker to obtain complete sterilization, however, Mr. Wiegand recommends cooking with boiling water and adding acid to the vegetables to prevent the development of Bacillus botulinus.

Use of this treatment does not mean that the vegetables used taste sour, as the acidified liquid may be poured off when the can or jar is opened.

Mr. Wiegand emphasized the fact, however, that safety requires that all home-canned vegetables, however prepared, should always be cooked at least 15 minutes at boiling temperature after opening before they are even tasted.

Henry M. Sommerer made a business trip to Weston Thursday in the interest of the Farm Bureau Co-operative.

CANNING SCHEDULE.

COUNTY AGENTS IN OREGON EXPERIENCE BUSIEST YEAR.

Oregon county agents put in the busiest year in history during 1933 when emergency work was added to their regular projects, according to the annual report just submitted by F. L. Ballard, state county agent leader.

Advent of the agricultural adjustment act and the other emergency relief programs gave the agents the added task of explaining the wheat adjustment program, the corn-hog plan, and assisting with seed loans, farm mortgage adjustment, and state and federal relief activities.

Despite this added emergency work, marked progress was made during the year in the major regular projects. These included furthering the expansion of alfalfa acreage in the Willamette valley, seeking new disease resistant varieties of alfalfa in eastern Oregon.

Marketing assistance constituted an important part of the work in many counties, while additional help was given the 4-H club work in counties not employing regular club agents.

More county agents and assistants are now employed in Oregon than ever before, every county except Harney and Josephine either having an agent of its own or a co-operative agreement with a neighboring county for the service of a joint agent.

INTEREST ON PRODUCTION CREDIT LOANS CUT TO 5%.

Interstate rate on new loans made by the 31 production credit associations in the four Pacific north-west states has been reduced to 5 per cent effective May 16, it was announced today by John A. Schoonover, president of the Production Credit corporation of Spokane.

The reduction came as a result of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank of Spokane lowering its interest rate one-half of 1 per cent. The Credit bank's reduction, which is the second in two months, was brought about when its new issues of debentures were heavily oversubscribed in a few hours after being offered in the New York market.

"Most production loans are made on a budget basis and are made payable from date. In this way, only the amount of actual interest earned is charged to the borrower," explained Mr. Schoonover.

Since the associations were organized in the latter part of March, there has been 9917 loans approved for more than two and a half million dollars.

89 CENTS OF DOLLAR LOANED USED FOR REFINANCING DEBTS.

Eighty-nine cents out of every dollar of Federal land bank and Land Bank Commissioner's farm mortgage loans closed since last June have gone to refinance farmers' indebtedness.

A total of over 251,000 loans aggregating approximately $628,700,000 were closed from June 1, 1933, through March 31, 1934, of which about $559,400,000 was used for refinancing.

The classes of creditors to whom the proceeds of these refinancing loans were paid, the approximate total and proportion to the total in terms of cents of the loan dollar, are as follows:

Commercial banks, $173,400,000 or 27.6 cents, including about $6,800,000 of debts to banks in the hands of receivers and conservators; insurance companies, $65,840,000, or 10.5 cents; joint stock land banks, $36,300,000, or 5.8 cents; tax authorities, $17,320,000, or 2.7 cents; merchants, $6,000,000, or nine-tenths of a cent; "others," or creditors not separately classified, including mortgage companies, private mortgage lenders, retired farmers, and many others to whom farmers owed debts, $255,750,000, or 40.7 cents, and miscellaneous, $4,790,000, or eight-tenths of a cent.

Approximately $69,300,000, or 11 cents of the loan dollar, of loans made from June 1, 1933, through March 31, 1934, was used for other purposes than the refinancing of farmers' indebtedness. Of this, approximately $34,650,000 or 5.5 cents of the loan dollar was used for the purchase of land and equipment, the construction or improvement of buildings, and for general agricultural uses, including the provision of capital, while the balance, about $34,650,000 or 5.5 cents was used for various other purposes.

BRIGHT AS EAST SUFFERS.

In the face of the smallest eastern and middlewestern fruit crop in many years, indications now are for Oregon to produce a normal crop in most respects with exceptionally heavy crops of some fruits in certain sections.

This is the conclusion drawn by the office of the extension economist at Oregon State college from reports obtained the last week in April from county agents and other officials in the major fruit regions of the state.

The season in general is fully a month ahead of normal, with some kinds of fruits coming on the market at the earliest date on record. The first Oregon raspberries reached Portland market April 27, after local strawberries had been on hand from at least two sections of the state for several days.

The prospective southern Oregon peach and apricot crop is reported to be the largest ever produced. Wasco county expects three-quarters of a crop, while both peaches and apricots in Umatilla county were practically cleaned out by frost.

This is the only section reporting major frost damage. In Wasco and Jackson counties and some parts of the Willamette valley the peach crops are expected to be good. The pear crop of Jackson county promises to be about normal, barring possible reduction because of a shortage of moisture reserves.

The pear crop of Jackson county promises to be about normal, barring possible reduction because of a shortage of moisture reserves. Some frost marketing on Bartlett's may show up but the total crop is expected to equal that of last season.

The state pear crop as a whole may be somewhat less in total tonnage than last year. A total apple crop in the state in excess of the light crop of last year is in prospect.

Most sections report fair to good cherry prospects, except Umatilla where frost cleaned out most of the crop. Wasco and Polk expect less than half a crop while the Jackson

Among the berries the strawberry crop will be well above last year's short crop, and the raspberry crop prospects are good on an acreage somewhat reduced in leading producing sections.
