PROGRESS SEEN IN NEW HOP INDUSTRY; GROWERS ENCOURAGED

T. O. LOCHRIDGE EXPECTS FINE YIELD PER ACRE.

Bill Whitsett and Paul Miller Venture Into Industry; Market Expected to be Good.

Hop growers in Willamette valley sections are becoming discouraged with the outlook for the hop industry this year, according to Henry A. Cornoyer, prominent hop dealer and authority on the situation. The opposite situation has been found by T. O. Lochridge, one of the first growers to attempt planting a hop yard on the Hermiston project. Mr. Lochridge believes that his last year's stand is in fine condition although all new roots planted last fall failed to grow. Many roots in the valley fields are reported to have rotted during the winter, and this condition, Mr. Lochridge believes, will cut down production and cause an increase in the market price offered this year.

Mr. Lochridge is completing the second training which has taken four days to cover his nine-acre stand. Several hundred roots planted last fall failed to sprout this spring and Mr. Lochridge believes that condition is due to the extreme moisture content in the roots. They were not planted immediately and as a result, bled to death before they sprouted.

Mr. Lochridge secured a half-ton yield per acre on his baby hops last year and expects to more than double the yield this year. The hops will be picked in September.

A $1250 hop kiln will be constructed in the north end of the Lochridge yard this summer which will care for a 25-acre hop yield. The building will be 26-foot square and will take care of other hop yields on the project.

Other Yards Planted.

Bill Whitsett planted 7-acres in hops last fall, securing his roots from Mr. Lochridge. These were placed in the ground the same day they were trimmed from the year-old hop vine, preventing the escape of excess sap, and his stand has been reported as fine.

Paul Miller set out five-acres in hops last fall on his farm east of Stanfield and completed his first training this week. He expects to realize an average yield in baby hops this fall. Mr. Lochridge will take care of his hops in his kiln.

A recent report from Yakima this week states that hop growers there have sold more than 32,000 bales of 1933 hops out of a gross production of above 37,000 bales. The latest sale was made last week by Morrier brothers, 160 bales at 27 1/2 cents a pound.

BLACK WIDOW SPIDER FOUND, ON DISPLAY.

Many people have become acquainted with one of the deadly black widow spiders today, and will now be able to recognize the species. W. W. Felton house found and captured one in his hay warehouse and brought it to the Herald office in a glass jar as a display.

The spider answers the description of the deadly species which is shiny black, with body about the size of a small bean. The black overlaps a red stomach, which is revealed in the shape of an hour glass, as if to give sinister warning that when a victim meets the black widow, his hour has come.

A warning should be issued to be on the watch for the murderous insect, since it has been found in Hermiston. They multiply rapidly and all nests should be destroyed.

SECOND QUARTER TAX PAYMENTS DUE JUNE 15TH.

The second quarter of the current year taxes become due June 15th, and will draw interest if not paid on or before that date, a notice from the sheriff's office stated today. Due to heavy work in the tax department of the sheriff's office, books will not be held open.

Tax foreclosure proceedings will be started on all property July 1, 1934, that is delinquent for 1930 or prior years. Under Chapter 462, Oregon Laws 1933, a property owner may take advantage of the ten payment plan which allows a property owner to pay in ten equal semi-annual installments plus interest on the unpaid balance. The first instalment of one tenth must be paid before July 1, 1934, in order to secure the protection against foreclosure afforded him under this law. An instalment paid before July 1, 1934, will keep a parcel of property out of a tax foreclosure for another six months or until after January 1, 1935.

"BOTTOMS UP" AT OASIS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

"Bottoms Up", a musical comedy, will play at the Oasis Theatre Friday and Saturday.

"Bottoms Up" features Spencer Tracy, John Boles, "Pat" Paterson (an importee from England), Herbert Mundin, Sid Silvers, Harry Green and Thelma Todd. It is a Cinderella story, light but sufficiently entertaining, about an obscure girl who scales the heights of Hollywood to fame, fortune and true love, with the aid of a hardboiled "smoothie" and his two pals.

The producers have borrowed ideas freely from several recent films, including "Once In A Lifetime," "Man's Castle" and "Going Hollywood."

There will be another surprise matinee Saturday night.

Harold Briggs, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Briggs of Hermiston, underwent an operation for appendicitis this week. His condition is reported as satisfactory.

NEWS FROM MONTANA TELLS OF DRAUGHT.

W. Priszner, former Hermiston resident, writes from Canon, Montana, telling of draught in that state. His letter is published in part as follows:

To Hermiston Herald: "I am well as usual and hope you are well also. "The weather is dry here; most vegetation is in need of rain. Hardly any tree fruit of any kind, but few pie cherries. Most trees did not have blossoms. There have been some strawberries brought in, but most of them dried up here. No home-grown berries.

"I enclose $1.00 for renewal of the Herald. I would like to hear more about the election. "This is my 78th birthday anniversary. Yours, W. PRISZNER."

CERTIFICATION RULES FOR SEED GROWERS NOW READY.

New certification rules and application blanks for growers of certified alfalfa and ladino clover seed and seed potatoes have just been issued by E. R. Jackman, extension agronomist at Oregon State college, and may be obtained from any county agent.

No changes in the potato certification rules have been made and only minor additions to the others. Hereafter the presence of any dodder in a field of alfalfa grown for seed will automatically put the seed into the yellow tag class. Heretofore the old rule allowed two patches before the seed was put into the yellow tag class.

The chief change in the ladino certification rules has to do with establishment of tolerances for buckhorn. The market for ladino clover is expanding so that it is being sold in some states where growers object seriously to large amounts of buckhorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright of Bremerton, Wn., stopped in Hermiston last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bloom, while enroute to Denver on their honeymoon. Mrs. Wright, until her marriage, was head dietitian at the Santa Barbara hospital in California. She is a niece of Mrs. Blooms.

Along The Concrete

We have not kept a record of all the people who have viewed the Black Widow spider the past two days but the poor little widow has had some scandalous things said about her. It is amazing how many remark about the vicious-looking little beast, when all she wants is to be left alone and she will harm no one. She may have her faults, but who hasn't?

Guy Ambsberry captured another of the black widows and now we have two to look after the large family which has hatched out in the glass jar.

Fern Lindner and Melvin Follet heading north on foot over the prairie in the early evening.

Tommy Fraser with his new owl mascot perched upon his shoulder walking down the street, with Vance Matott, who looked with envy upon the wise little bird.
