20TH 4-H CLUB SCHOOL AT O.S.C. TO BREAK RECORDS.

The twentieth annual 4-H club summer school to be held on the Oregon State college campus June 11 to 23 will be the largest ever held in Oregon, with an enrollment of at least 20 per cent greater than last year, judging from advance registration reports received at the state club office at Corvallis. For the first time in history every county in the state will be represented.

Students representing the Hermiston 4-H club who will attend the summer school are: Edith Clarke, winner of the county scholarship; Nina Rae McCulley and Bill Jackson, winners of the Farm Bureau scholarship; and Rosella Matott, who will pay her own expenses.

A number of new features for both boys and girls have been added this year to the already comprehensive program of instruction and recreation for the two-week period. These include a course in plant propagation, a practical course in welding as applied to farm machinery; seed cleaning and testing, home-made electric brooders, caddling moths, their life history and control, judging and management of horses, dollar dinners, new methods of vegetable cookery, a glimpse of the activities in the home management houses, and a class in games.

A more extensive recreational program for the afternoons than ever before is being planned, according to H. C. Seymour, state club leader, giving everyone an opportunity to participate in his or her favorite sport. The general assemblies at 1:00 o'clock each day will be held as usual, with prominent citizens of the state as speakers, and arties, movies, smokeless smokers, and other entertainments to be staged in the evenings. The assembly programs will be broadcast over OAC, and at some time during their stay on the campus each county delegation will put on a program over that station.

The girls will be housed at Walla Walla hall again this year, and the boys at the men's dormitory. Any 4-H club boy or girl of 12 years or older who has his or her club project in good shape is eligible to attend. Hundreds of members will attend on scholarships won for outstanding club achievement, others are being sent as delegates of their clubs, and still others have saved their own money to pay the $12 cost of the two weeks session. All railroads and bus lines are offering the boys and girls special rates of 1 cent a mile for the round trip.

OLMAN TAKES DUAL ROLE IN POPULAR PLAY.

The thrill and the heart throbs of one of the world's favorite plays will be brought to the Oasis theatre Sunday and Monday in Ronald Colman's performance of the dual roles a "The Masquerader." It is the English melodrama in which Guy Bates Post encircled the earth three times, playing in it for an uninterupted run of six years.

"The Masquerader" is the story of the young Canadian journalist who, finding that he is the living image of his dissipated, drug-crazed cousin, agrees to assume that political leader's place during England's reat crisis. A jealous mistress and an adoring wife have a part in exposing the masquerade.

Playing with Mr. Coleman in his dual roles are Elissa Landi as the life and Juliette Compton as the other woman. The distinguished cast of character players includes falliwell Hobbes, David Torrence, Helen Jerome Eddy and Creighton Hale.

A Silly Symphony Cartoon and "New York" complete the program.

HOUSEWIVES APPRECIATE STAINLESS STEEL DISCS.

"Housewives who use a stainless steel paring knife in their homes know why the use of stainless steel discs with electrically-welded stainless steel spacers in McCormick-Deering cream separators is a real feature," remarked F. C. McKenzie of the Oregon Hardware & Implement Co., the other day.

"Stainless steel paring knives are used in nearly every home because they are acid-resistant," continued Mr. McKenzie. "They may be used for peeling apples, oranges, or other acid fruits without any danger of their rusting. This same stainless steel is used in the McCormick-Deering cream separator discs because it is also resistant to the lactic acid in the milk." Adv
