Merits Promotion.

The many people who already know about Garnet D. Best's promotion to county agent of Walla Walla county, stationed at Enterprise, or who will read about it in this issue of the Herald, will regret to lose Mr. Best from the field where he has served farmers for more than three years.

but regret with them in losing an assistant county agent who has been a friend and source of information to every farmer in the territory he served.

W. L. Teutsch, assistant county agent leader from Oregon State college, who was here yesterday, stated that Mr. Best had merited the promotion because his work here has been so very satisfactory.

Mrs. Best, too, has been very active in community affairs, having been president of the American Legion Auxiliary for the past year.

William A. Sawyer, who, with the approval of the State Board of Higher Education, will succeed Mr. Best here, comes to fill a difficult position, but has had practical experience on irrigated farms in Josephine county under quite similar conditions as prevail in Umatilla county.

We join in wishing the Best family continued success and prosperity in the new field.

"FLYING DOWN TO RIO" TO BE AT OASIS SUNDAY AND MONDAY.

One of the most elaborate musical extravaganzas ever produced, "Flying Down to Rio," will show at the Oasis theatre Sunday and Monday, with a cast headed by Delores Del Rio and Gene Raymond. Other well-known players in the picture include Ginger Rogers, Roul Roulien and Fred Astaire, famed dancing comedian. Roaring airplanes, flying chorines, soaring pianos and a score of pretentious settings combine to establish a new mark for musical productions.

In the picture Gene Raymond, as an orchestra leader, takes his band to Rio de Janeiro to open a show in a new hotel and on the way falls in love with Delores Del Rio, daughter of the hotel owner. Rivalry develops between Raymond and Raul Roulien, which is complicated by the fact that through old family traditions Del Rio and Roulien have been engaged since childhood.

When a syndicate of Greek gamblers seeks to ruin Del Rio's father by having Raymond's show banned, the leader leads his chorines into airplanes and gives an aerial performance in full view of thousands of awe-stricken Brazilians. The chorus members dance on the wings of the planes, adagio dancers toss their partners from one ship to another and ballet dancers literally dance through space while floating to earth in parachutes. Comedy sequences are provided by Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire. This talented pair offers the "Carrioca," a wild exotic dance for which popularity in this country has been predicted.

Fly down to Rio with Delores, Gene, Ginger and Fred and you'll enjoy a grand piece of unusual entertainment.
