Consistency Wins.

Six months ago it was thought an impossibility to obtain sea locks at Bonneville. Now we have seen the authorization for the big locks which came August 14, and four days later the work was underway.

Verdict, Please.

The girl who was the inspiration for the following editorial appearing in the Journal Thursday morning, is a graduate of the Hermiston Union high school.

"If a girl wants to work her way through college by selling milk, if she finds that 900 pounds of milk sold to individual customers buys for her as much education as 4500 pounds of milk sold to the condenser, but if the state milk control board says her town is fully supplied with milk distributors and she is thus not entitled to a license, what ought to be the next step?"

To the Journal has been brought the problem of Mary Elizabeth Ward, student at Pacific university, Forest Grove, Education-bound under her own power, she secured 10 cows. Her stepfather became herd manager. Returns from factory sales not being encouraging, she canvassed the opportunity to sell milk to members of the Pacific university faculty and others.

So inquiry was made at the Portland office of the milk control board. And the answer was that the stabilization of the milk price brought about by the board has made much more attractive the retail business in fluid milk on the part of producer-distributors. But if additional distributors are permitted when a community is already oversupplied, then stabilization fails and the milk, in a manner of speaking is spilled.

"This question was then gently intimated: Suppose faculty members and other prospective customers formally told the milk control board that they wanted to buy milk from this young Oregon woman who is so gallantly trying to fight her way, what would the board do? And the board, it appears, would then undertake an inquiry into the special circumstances of the case.

Thus, the milk control authority of the sovereign state of Oregon would be brought to bear upon the momentous issue created by a girl who wants an education and who thinks she should be encouraged by the milk control board.

Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:30 P. M.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 13.

The Golden Text was, "Cause me to hear thy loving kindness in the morning; for in thee do I trust; cause me to know the way wherein I should walk; for I lift up my soul unto thee" (Ps. 143: 8).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants; and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate" (Ps. 34:22).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When reading the Scriptures, the substitution of the word sense for soul gives the exact meaning in a majority of cases. Human thought has adulterated the meaning of the word soul through the hypothesis that soul is both an evil and a good intelligence, resident in matter. . . . As used in Christian Science, Soul is properly the synonym of Spirit, or God; but out of Science, soul is identical with sense, with material sensation" (pp. 431, 432).
