

FARM CO-OPERATIVE DIVISION

A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

BANG'S DISEASE PROGRAM WILL OPEN IN COUNTY SOON

The Bang's disease program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture will open in the west end of Umatilla county in the near future, says William A. Sawyer, assistant county agent, as soon as final details are received from Dr. S. B. Foster, with the Bureau of Animal Industry through which the campaign will be carried on.

Voluntary contracts will be signed by each dairyman wishing to take advantage of it, which provide that the administration will test free of charge all animals more than six months old; that indemnities will be paid of a maximum of $20 for grades plus salvage up to appraised value, and a maximum of $50 plus salvage up to appraised value for purebreds. Appraisals will be made by the Bureau of Animal Industry inspectors, the same as with the T. B. test, and provisions are made where the owner does not accept such appraisal that he appoint an appraiser, the inspector appoint one, these two men select a third, and the appraisal of this committee is final. Registration papers on all animals more than two years old must be presented at the time of appraisal. On animals two years old or less, the registration papers must be presented prior to payment. Reactors shall be marketed for slaughter within a period of 30 days after the date of appraisal, except that at the discretion of the Chief of Bureau of Animal Industry the time limit of 30 days may be extended. Animals will be ear tagged at the time blood samples are drawn, and reactors must be branded with the letter "B" on the left hip.

FARM BUREAU AUXILIARY CANCELS SECOND SEP. MEETING

The Farm Bureau Auxiliary cancelled its second meeting in September which fell on the date of the annual Umatilla Project fair, September 21-22. The next meeting will be held Friday, October 5, at which time election of officers will be held. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. P. Corman, Mrs. Barham, Mrs. A. Linder, and Mrs. Struthers.

NATIONAL SEED SHORTAGE BOOMS OREGON PRICES.

Very light production of red and alsike clover, a small carryover, and a good demand, have resulted in a firm market situation, according to the Oregon State college extension service.

Production for the United States is expected to be about half that of 1933, when only 84 million pounds were produced. Most of the reduction appeared in the north central states. The Pacific northwest is expected to produce near a normal crop. Carryover stocks are smaller than for several years and imports have been light.

During the prolonged drought much of the old seedlings as well as the new were lost, resulting in a strong demand for seed now, with prices ranging $3.50 to $6 a cwt. higher than a year ago.

Recent reports indicate that Arizona has nearly a normal alfalfa seed crop but Kansas and Oklahoma will have only about 60 per cent of normal. Sales of alfalfa seed in August were heaviest for the month on record and were due largely to the excellent manner in which alfalfa withstood the drought.

The feed situation in the 17 states most affected by the drought are the most serious ever known. Pacific coast states are, in general, a bright spot in the dreary feed picture, though even here range conditions are now abnormally dry, reports show.

Recent rains east of the Rockies, particularly through the southwest, have improved the pastures and ranges there, though they came too late to help hay and similar forage crops.

Hay has been moving out of Oregon to the middle west in what to some has seemed an alarming extent. Cancellation of the half-rates into the drought area has now placed hay from this area entirely out of line for such distant shipment for the present, however.

FARM DEBT ADJUSTMENT MAKES RECORD IN STATE.

Probably three-fourths to four-fifths of Oregon's farm-debt adjustment cases are already settled, according to information given out at a meeting of the State Agricultural Advisory council held recently in Salem. However, at least several hundred cases are still not adjusted, some of which are a good deal more difficult than average, reported L. R. Breithaupt, college extension economist and secretary of the council.

E. M. Ehrhardt, president of the Federal Land Bank of Spokane, told the members that that institution has closed approximately 5300 farm loans in Oregon since May, 1933, for nearly 15 million dollars. About one-fourth as many additional loans are approved and pending, of which from 500 to 600 involve debt adjustments before they can be closed, he said.

This record of loans made and pending, together with a large volume of farm-debt adjustment and refinancing done in connection with other farm mortgage credit agencies, has greatly relieved the farm debt situation as compared with the extremely critical condition which prevailed two years ago. Officials of the Land Bank present at the meeting gave hearty credit to Oregon's 250 state and county farm-debt adjustment committees for having redered unusually outstanding service in the farm refinancing program.

In addition to state council members, the meeting was attended by several county farm-debt adjustment committees, a number of county agricultural agents who are serving as county conciliation commissioners, rural rehabilitation officials, and others interested in the financial rehabilitation of farmers who are over-burdened with debt. O. M. Plummer, chairman of the council, presided, and E. A. McCornack, vice-chairman, reported on the status of the work.

After a thorough discussion of the provisions of the Frazier-Lemke farm bankruptcy plan, it was the general conclusion that the bankruptcy plan is not likely to apply except in cases which cannot be settled satisfactorily by conciliation. Plans for continuing the farm-debt adjustment work were considered by the council, with particular reference to slow and tough cases.

The meeting adjourned after voting to meet again at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland about October 10.

JAY UPTON FAVORS FEDERAL RECLAMATION DAMS.

Klamath Falls, Sept. 11, 1934—Speaking before the Oregon Reclamation Congress this morning, Jay H. Upton, candidate for congress on the Republican party ticket, came out definitely in support of a policy whereby the government shall undertake the building and ownership of reclamation dams for the storage of water for irrigation purposes.

Prominent irrigationists in attendance pointed out that perhaps Mr. Upton's idea was only a little in advance of what President Roosevelt maybe expected to advocate, as was the Oregon man's support of unemployment insurance and old age pensions.

The announcement met with much approval.
"As long as rivers flow to the sea; after hundreds of generations of our people have vanished from the earth, and until some great revulsion of nature may destroy our continent, these dams will remain for the benefit of humanity," said Mr. Upton.
"Why then should the hapless farmer of today, striving to produce a profitable crop, striving to find a market, striving against economic conditions he cannot control, be compelled to stand alone the cost of these gigantic monuments which all the races of the world have found necessary to their economic development and advancement?"

Pruning Gives Increased Profit.

DALLAS — Correct pruning of prune trees pays, says County Agent J. R. Beck. This has been adequately demonstrated in the Andrew Verclair orchard near West Salem, Mr. Beck says, where harvest records taken on a pruning demonstration conducted there for the past seven years shows an increased yield and fruit slightly larger this year. The pruned trees this year showed an increase of 1,660 pounds of green fruit or 520 pounds per acre of dry fruit, averaging 41 size. At minimum code price this means an increased gross value of $21.32 per acre.

Spring Blowing Results Vary.

CANYON CITY — Experimental work in blowing out mud springs on cattle ranches of Grant county during the past month gave varying results, reports R. G. Johnson, county agent. One was blown on the Lew Morris ranch, two on the Oliver brothers place and five on the C. W. Craddock ranch. The one on the Morris ranch failed to give much increase in flow. One on the Oliver ranch gave only a slight increase, while the other gave enough water for a band of sheep. None of the springs shot on the Craddock ranch was entirely a failure, while one of them immediately gave a flow that filled a 1 1/2 inch pipe and later increased to a 2 inch intake.

22ND ANNUAL PROJECT FAIR WILL OPEN FRIDAY, SEPT. 21.

Other Features.

Lloyd Moore of the Oasis theatre of Hermiston will furnish the loud speaker apparatus over which events for the day will be announced. The "Cub Wranglers" have been secured to furnish music during the Saturday performance. This group is entirely local and has become known over the county for their entertaining western music. Clowns will keep things lively during the entire show.

Dairymen who anticipate entering stock at the fair are asked to observe Rule 13 in the premium list which reads: "No female dairy cattle of breeding age which have not been tested for and found free from infectious abortion within 30 days prior to the fair, shall be admitted to the grounds. A certificate showing said test must accompany the cattle."

Dr. H. H. Greer, assistant state veterinarian, was here Wednesday of this week testing stock, and will return again Monday, September 17 to complete the test.

During the progress of work at the fair grounds all orders filled by local merchants must be accompanied by a requisition signed by J. Jendzejewski, president of the fair board, it was pointed out at the meeting Wednesday night. The fair board will not be responsible for merchandise released without a signed requisition has been presented.

LESLIE HOWARD BACK IN FILMS; IDEAS CHANGE

Leslie Howard, star in "Of Human Bondage," which shows at the Oasis Sunday and Monday, has done an about-face in his ideas about talking pictures.

When Howard left Hollywood last year after his first attempt at motion pictures he called film stories "creaky" and thought film efforts futile and not worth the celluloid they were printed on. But he has now revised his opinion on the subject.

"I can imagine no more sophisticated drama, and no finer role than that assigned me in Somerset Maugham's 'Of Human Bondage,'" he continued. "There is a deep theme underlying the picture; daring to some, perhaps, but interesting to all."

Bette Davis plays the feminine lead opposite Howard in the film. Other feminine members of the cast are Kay Johnson and Frances Dee. The male contingent includes Reginald Denny, Reginald Owen and Reginald Sheffield.
