

FARM CO-OPERATIVE DIVISION

A MESSAGE TO EVERY MEMBER.

OREGON DAIRYMEN TO GET CASH FOR CLEANING HERDS.

Provisions of the Jones-Connelly bill passed at the last session of congress provide Oregon dairymen with the first opportunity they have ever had of ridding their herds of animals afflicted with Bang's disease (contagious abortion) while being paid indemnities against excessive loss, say officials of the dairy department at Oregon State college.

This law, which considers the eradication of this disease to be a public health measure, is being administered by the bureau of animal industry of the United States department of agriculture, in cooperation with the state colleges and the state departments of agriculture.

In Oregon the work will be under the leadership of Dr. S. B. Foster, representative of the B.A.I. in Portland. Plans are now completed to cover the state county by county, giving farmers an opportunity to sign the contracts with the government under which they will be paid for disposing of reacting animals.

Under the new federal plan, those who sign the contracts will agree to have their herd tested free of charge and in case reactors are found, will dispose of them and clean up the premises in an approved manner, and will continue the testing at intervals after the cleanup is made.

In return the government agrees to have the animals appraised that are found to be reactors and to pay the difference within certain limits between such appraised value and the amount the animal brings for slaughter. The amounts of cash the government will add to the "salvage" value of an animal is $20 for a grade and $50 for a purebred.

The blood samples will be tested in the laboratories at Oregon State college where veterinarians many years ago worked out one of the first successful methods of controlling this disease in dairy herds.

Oregon is already in the forefront of the states in Bang's disease control work, thousands of herds already being accredited disease free under a plan administered by the state department of agriculture.

TWO WHEAT PAYMENTS DUE BY LAST OF NEXT MONTH.

With wheat contracts compliance forms for nearly all Oregon counties completed and sent to Washington, second payment checks for 1933 wheat adjustment benefits in this state are expected to start from Washington any day now, says N. C. Donaldson, head of the AAA compliance work in this state who is stationed at Oregon State college.

Following a visit to the state by George E. Farrell, chief of the wheat section, all compliance forms were routed through Corvallis where clerks rechecked every county list before it was sent to Washington, thus eliminating numerous errors that would otherwise have held up payment.

By August 15 compliance forms from 15 county associations had been forwarded to Washington from the Corvallis office, as follows: Baker, Benton, Columbia, Crook-Jefferson, Douglas, Gilliam, Lane, Linn, Malheur, Morrow, Polk, Sherman, Union, Washington and Yamhill. Marion, Deschutes and Clackamas compliance forms were nearly ready to go at that time, and the few remaining, including the large number from Umatilla and Wasco counties, were expected in a few days.

To speed up matters at Washington and avoid trying to adjust doubtful cases from a distance, the wheat section of the AAA is paying the expenses of E. R. Jackman, extension specialist in farm crops, to go to the capital and be there for about two weeks while the bulk of the Oregon forms are being handled.

"The wheat section takes the position that the money is in hand ready to be paid out to farmers, and hence those in charge want to do everything possible to speed up the detailed work so that the benefit payments will get to the growers just as soon as the necessary work can be rushed through," Donaldson explains.

Washington AAA officials have announced that no additional auditing will need to be made between the second payment on the 1933 crop and the first on the 1934. Getting out the first 20-cent per bushel payment on the 1934 crop will merely entail re-running the cards through the check-writing machines. Those in charge hope to complete that payment by the last of October.

CANNING SCHEDULE.

October 1st to 6th.

Monday A. M.—Tomatoes; P. M., Beans, No. 2 1/2s.

Thursday A. M.—Tomatoes; P. M., Beans, No. 2 1/2s.

Fish will be processed by making special arrangements. A special notice is issued for the benefit of all those who have canned goods in the cannery. Please have them all removed not later than October 10th. The canning season is nearly over and we must get everything cleaned out in order to meet our obligations.

NO PATRONAGE REFUND PAID DELINQUENT MEMBERS.

According to the by-laws governing the Co-operative Service Station, no patronage refund can be made to any member who has allowed his membership to become delinquent. Information as to the status of any membership is available at the main office of the Farm Bureau Co-operative.

Will Observe Booster Night.

Greenfield Grange at Boardman will observe "Booster" night with a program Saturday, September 29, starting at 8:00 o'clock. A "Zimmerman for Governor" club will also be organized at this meeting. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Stanfield Grange Dance.

Another of the regular Stanfield Grange dances will be given Saturday night at the Grange hall. The Cub Wranglers will furnish the music and the public is invited to attend.

Irrigon Grange Booster Night.

The Irrigon Grange will hold their annual "Booster Night" program at the regular meeting Wednesday, October 3, in the Grange hall. Mrs. Minnie McFarland of Umatilla, who is master has arranged an interesting program and urges all members to be present.

SOIL EROSION SERVICE HAS PREPARED BROADCAST.

Soil Erosion Service is preparing a series of radio broadcasts that will be of special interest to people living in the Pacific Northwest. The programs will originate in the studios of Station KWSC of the State College of Washington, Pullman.

Featured on many of these programs will be short talks on erosion problems and control methods by W. A. Rockie, Regional Director, A. L. Hafenrichter, Agronomist, G. R. McDole, Agronomist, and C. C. Johnson, Agricultural Engineer.

Entertainment as well as educational information will be heard on these programs as the Radio Guild of the State College of Washington is cooperating with the Soil Erosion Service. Through plays, skits, and musical programs, the Radio Guild will present the most outstanding talent on the State College campus. A full hour a week will be used by the Soil Erosion Service. The first program will be presented each Monday evening from 6:45 to 7:00. The second will come at the same hour on Thursday evening and the final program of the week will come from 7:30 to 8:00 each Friday evening.

Rail Fares Reduced.

Portland, September 24—A further reduction in coach fares from Pacific Northwest points to Chicago, effective October 1, was announced today by representatives of the Western Railways. The new fare of $34.50 from Portland and all eastern Oregon points to Chicago brings the cost of rail travel to the Central states to the lowest price ever offered. Present coach service in these trans-continental routes have added greatly to the comfort and convenience of this mode of travel. Officials of these railways expect that this new reduction in fares will serve to stimulate further travel between the Pacific Northwest and eastern points.

CORPORATION COMMISSIONER SENDS WARNING TO PUBLIC.

Charles H. Carey, Corporation Commissioner for the State of Oregon, has issued the following statement to the people of Oregon.

"Almost every day complaints are made to the Corporation Commissioner that one A. K. Wilson, of Portland, is getting assignments of building and loan shares from members. These assignments are taken in the name of Union Bond and Trust Company. He does not pay anything more than one dollar to these members, but promises to pay them fifty per cent of 'all the net proceeds realized from the sale or adjustment of said certificates as and when received'. Whether or not he makes fraudulent misrepresentations I cannot say, but doubtless he convinces them that he can do something for them or they would not sign. I do not believe he can do anything whatever to justify giving him such assignments as the Corporation Department is doing without charge all that anyone can do in the interest of the members."

BANKERS SUPPORT SOUND EXPANSION

By R. S. HECHT Vice President, American Bankers Association

BANKERS universally recognize that the prime economic need of the nation is the stimulation of sound industrial and commercial activities and recent travels over a wide stretch of the country have shown me that they everywhere are making all efforts possible to lend constructive financial support within the scope of their proper banking functions to promote the expansion of business activity.

Frequently in times past when our country suffered from an economic depression and consequent unemployment on a large scale, the rise of some broad new industrial development, such for instance as a new industry like the automobile industry, has been a powerful factor in stimulating a return or an accelerated growth of national prosperity. Such a movement means the creation of new wealth, the employment of large groups of people on useful lines and as a consequence the production and distribution of sound, effective purchasing power, which is a form of wholesome economic stimulant that has none of the evils of monetary inflation.

A New Force for Business Improvement Perhaps we have at hand, if not the rising of a wholly new industry, a measurable equivalent in the potentialities of a widespread rebuilding and modernizing movement such as home renovating, plant remodeling, the putting of our railroads on a high speed air conditioned basis and other valuable developments in the construction field. The effects of such activities on employment and many lines of business would be most beneficial and I can repeat without reservation that we bankers are willing and eager to play our full economic part in any such constructive developments.

It has been made to appear that money has not gone to work because of the timidity of bankers rather than what is a true explanation, because business men have not had enough confidence in the business outlook to borrow the dollar from the banker and put it to work. The basic requisite to the expansion of commercial bank loans is sound, normal business conditions on which to conduct sound, normal banking operations. The best business a bank can wish for is the opportunity to loan money to successful business men and manufacturers imbued with confidence to enter upon aggressive business enterprises and endowed with the ability to bring them to successful conclusions. Such loans mean business activity for the community, growing pay rolls and prosperity, and the banker wants to make them because to be identified with such activities not only means profits to him but, additionally, brings him the reward of good will in his community.

There is no better proof of the great desire of banks to take care of the short term requirements of the business world than to point out the abnormally low rates at which this demand is being supplied at the present time.

ADOLPHE MENJOU IN "THE HUMAN SIDE" COMING TO OASIS.

"The Human Side," one of the most delightful comedy-dramas of the season starring Adolphe Menjou and featuring Doris Kenyon, Betty Lawford, Charlotte Henry, Joseph Cawthorn and a cast of outstanding players at the Oasis theatre Friday and Saturday. Wholesome, extremely funny and punctuated with some of the most humanly dramatic moments seen on the screen in a long time, Universal's "The Human Side" can well be regarded as one of the outstanding films.

The plot is beautifully constructed, twisting from situation to situation in surprising fashion. Just when one dramatic episode is ended, Menjou finds himself involved in another and more serious one. At the end, just as everyone's happiness seems hopelessly entangled with no one getting what they want, the children straighten the entire affair out.

The picture has charm and a great deal of humor which submerges from time to time as the tender and dramatic moments of the piece assert themselves. Its wholesomeness and its hilarious humor are among its outstanding traits and the acting of every member of the cast.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND Director, Physical and Health Education New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Health Protection

The opening of schools means the congregation of large armies of children into groups. This means that the chances of disease contagion are greatly increased, especially for children entering school for the first time.

To offset the danger, there are the following procedures which every parent and teacher should support. (1) Abolish competitive attendance devices and rewards. (2) Let every parent promise himself to keep his child at home upon the first appearance of any ailment, complaint, sign or symptom. This measure alone would prevent much misery and illness. (3) Endorse immunization as a routine procedure. This includes vaccination against smallpox and toxoid injections to prevent diphtheria. Undoubtedly we shall soon accept similar measures against other communicable diseases. (4) The morning health inspection by the teacher during the first five minutes of the session. (5) Immediate exclusion from school of every child showing any departure from normal. (6) Support the health authorities in asking that all children be given a test to determine the possible presence of tuberculosis. (7) Have a qualified interested physician employed by the board of education.

School athletics will be the subject of Dr. Ireland's next article.

The Barnacle Goose The barnacle goose, a small goose closely related to the brant, owes its name to a curious belief which gained much credence prior to the Seventeenth century. The distant Arctic nesting places of these birds were as yet undiscovered and it was believed that the geese developed from the barnacle, a small crustacean that grows on wood that is exposed to salt water. Theologians who accepted this strange theory got into endless disputes as to whether or not the flesh of the barnacle goose should be eaten on Fridays or fast days, for they were unable to decide whether it should be considered meat or fish.
