FREE MINING BULLETINS NOW AT WASHINGTON D. C.

Four federal circulars of information on mining subjects, written so as to be of interest and value to men actually engaged in the industry, are available free of cost to individuals applying directly to the United States Bureau of Mines, Washington D. C., according to word received by J. H. Batcheller, professor of mining engineering at Oregon State college and secretary of the state mining board.

Numbers and titles of the available bulletins are, I.C. 6611, "Small Scale Placer Mining Methods;" I.C. 6748, "Essentials for a Preliminary Report on a Small Lode-Gold Mine or Prospect;" I.C. 6800, "Mining and Milling Practices at Small Gold Mines;" and I.C. 6786, "Placer Mining in Western United States." The last named is part one of a series of three. Application for the second and third of the series, yet to be prepared, could doubtless be made in advance, suggests Professor Batcheller.

Keen interest in mining subjects is being shown by people in most parts of the state, finds Professor Batcheller. He emphasizes that application for these free federal bulletins must be made direct to Washington and not through his office.

VEGETABLE MEN TO HAVE 3-DAY OSC SHORT COURSE.

A three-day short course for vegetable growers of Oregon has been arranged at Oregon State college from November 21 to 23 inclusive. Fifteen specialists in various fields of agriculture at the college, commercial truck growers, and others are cooperating with A. G. B. Bouquet, professor of vegetable crops, in the educational program arranged.

The course will be divided into three parts. Soils, fertilizer and irrigation matters will be dealt with throughout the first day. Greenhouse crops, frames and plants will be discussed the second day, while on the third day attention will be confined to insect and disease control and marketing.

Demonstrations and exhibits of latest vegetable gardening equipment will be an important part of the short course, says Professor Bouquet. These will include showings of soil fertilization and irrigation equipment, greenhouse and hotbed materials, and insect and disease control supplies.

Registration is open without charge to all interested in vegetable growing, and they may attend the entire course or any part of it.

License Examiner Coming.

C. M. Bentley, examiner of operators and chauffeurs, will be in Hermiston, Saturday, November 17th, at the City Library between the hours of 9:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M., respectively, according to a recent announcement released from the Secretary of State's office. All those wishing permits or licenses to drive cars are asked to get in touch with Mr. Bentley during these hours.

TURKEY EGG COSTS FOUND IMPORTANT TO PRODUCERS.

Around Thanksgiving time the mind of the average citizen turns to thoughts of turkey and cranberry sauce, but turkey growers are more likely to be thinking of how next year's turkeys may be produced more economically, and therefore at a greater profit. And whether the egg or the turkey comes first, economy in turkey production begins with economical production of hatching eggs.

The cost of producing turkey hatching eggs on Oregon poultry farms varies from 10 cents to 30 cents per egg, with 13.6 cents as the average, a report of a survey of 45 representative flocks by members of the farm management department at Oregon State college shows. The average flock consists of 144 hens and 15 toms.

While only 40 per cent of the farms surveyed had costs of less than 15 cents per hatching egg, those farms produced 55 per cent of the eggs, the report says. For 16 farms on which less than 25 hatching eggs per hen were produced, the average cost was 18.2 cents, and on 12 farms with a production of 40 or more eggs per hen the cost was only 11.2 cents. Average production per hen for the 45 flocks was 33 hatching eggs and 4 cull eggs per hen, not including broken eggs, which were estimated at 2.5 per cent of the total production.

Feed amounted to 38 per cent of the total cost, labor to 20 per cent, depreciation of the breeding flock to 30 per cent, and other items to 12 per cent. Cash expense items accounted for 43 per cent of the total cost and non-cash items for 57 per cent.

Average feed and labor requirements for the flocks, including the toms, amounted to 56.5 pounds of mash, 52.3 pounds of grain, and 4.1 hours of labor per hen. The average capital investment in the breeding flock and for land, buildings and equipment used for it was calculated at $4.15 per hen.

All costs per hen were naturally found to be lower for the larger flocks.

A detailed report of this survey, which was carried on for the year ending June 1, 1934, by A. S. Burrier, F. L. Knowlton, and H. E. Selby, has now been published as Oregon Experiment Station bulletin 333, entitled, "Cost of Producing Turkey Hatching Eggs in Oregon."

BURK'S FOR BARGAINS

PARENTS JOIN GRADS IN ANNUAL OSC HOMECOMING.

CORVALLIS—Almost as large a visitation of Oregon State mothers and dads as of alumni are expected for the annual OSC homecoming celebration Saturday, November 17. For the first time special preparation is being made for the entertainment of hundreds of parents at the same time the old grads are back. The Oregon State Dads' club will hold its annual meeting Saturday forenoon. While the mothers will not hold any business meeting, members of the Corvallis chapter are making special arrangements to entertain the many women visitors expected.

Chief sport attraction is the Montana-Oregon State game, but many other events are scheduled including the annual banquet Saturday night which this year is to be in charge of the Dads' club, with Douglas Mac Kay, senator elect from Marion county, and former president of student body here, as toastmaster.
