Prohibited Mixing.

By HENRY HARGER.
 It must be quite obvious to the most ardent anti-prohibitionist that legalized drinking has resulted in more automobile accidents. In some states the number of accidents and the fatalities resulting therefrom has increased more than 200 per cent. Although the increase in Oregon is not this much, nevertheless, the accidents in which intoxicants play the leading role is increasing at an alarming rate.

That such a trend of affairs must be changed will be admitted even by the brewers and the distillers, because forsooth uncontrolled consumption of liquor was their undoing which climaxed in the 18th amendment. However, corking up the mouths of those who drive cars presents a problem in the fourth dimension. Either such individuals do not know that alcohol greatly impairs their ability to drive or they don't give a d—m. No doubt thoughtlessness is often a contributing factor. But at any rate whatever are the causes, steps must be taken to remove them.

One very effective method of solving such problems is arousing public opinion. It would seem that the vast majority of the people whether they are pro or con on the subject of drinking liquor would pledge their support to blackballing the habit of mixing alcohol with gasoline. Although chewing tobacco is not ostracized, nevertheless those who use the weed realize there is a time to spit and a time not to spit. To say the least the principle embodied in chewing ethics could advantageously be adopted by those who unbbie.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"ANCIENT and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Dec. 2.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And there was war in heaven; Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, and prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven" (Rev. 12:7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "That false claim—that ancient belief, that old serpent whose name is devil (evil), claiming that there is intelligence in matter either to benefit or to injure men—is pure delusion, the red dragon; and it is cast out by Christ, Truth, the spiritual idea, and so proved to be powerless. . . . To infinite, over-present Love, all is Love, and there is no error, no sin, sickness, nor death. Against Love, the dragon writhes not long, for he is killed by the divine Principle. Truth and Love prevail against the dragon because the dragon cannot war with them" (p. 567).
