Oregon Among Favored.
 Oregon is included among the favored 31 states in the union where business is said to be doing better, as compared with a year ago. This was brought out by a recent survey made by the United States News. "If you live in Colorado, Oklahoma, Alabama, Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut or Rhode Island, the chances are that your business has gone down-hill during the past twelve months, but if you live in California, Texas, South Carolina or Kentucky, the chances are that it has undergone little or no change." Improvement, or lack of it, was measured by changes in actual purchasing power. Allowance was made for the fact that wholesale prices advanced some ten per cent during the year in question, so that a dollar in the light of a year ago, can buy only about ninety cents worth of goods today. This obviously gives a much truer picture of conditions than does a survey made on dollar volume alone. For example, every state except Colorado showed an advance in dollar transference during the year—but when the ten per cent deduction was made, but 31 states actually showed substantial improvement.

Interesting factors brought out in this survey are that in the improved group are included the bulk of the great agricultural states which may be due to one of two factors, the drought, which increased the prices to where they more than offset the loss in production, or due to the payment of hard cash by the government to farmers who agreed to retire acreage.

Oregon has been listed among these favored few states in which business has been better, and if the farmer can accumulate sufficient surplus to allow him to buy manufactured goods instead of paying off old debts, there should be an increased demand for manufactured merchandise which would aid materially in keeping factory wheels turning.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
 "The Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Forces?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Dec. 23.

The Golden Text was, "Lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth. The Lord, The God of hosts, is his name" (Amos 4:13).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Praise ye the Lord. Praise him, ye heavens of heavens, and ye waters that be above the heavens. Let them praise the name of the Lord; for he commanded, and they were created" (Ps. 148:1, 4, 5).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "The world would collapse without Mind, without the intelligence which holds the winds in its grasp. Neither philosophy nor skepticism can hinder the march of the Science which reveals the supremacy of Mind. The immanent sense of Mind-power enhances the glory of Mind" (p. 209).

The local meetings are held at 10:00 A. M. every Sunday in the American Legion hall.

WEALTH HANDICAPS ROMANCE OF "RICHEST GIRL IN WORLD."

Great wealth as a handicap instead of advantage in the search for love is vividly dramatized in the new screen attraction, "The Richest Girl in the World," coming to the Oasis theatre New Year's Day.

The glittering romance is set in a lavish background among the homes and playgrounds of the ultra-rich. "The Richest Girl in the World" realizes that her wealth interferes with sincere romance and is a temptation to fortune-hunters. She assumes her girl companion's identity for the sake of winning a modest broker's clerk with her personality and not her money.

The young man admits a preference for a girl with money, and the heiress steers him into her companion and her alleged millions. After which come a series of exciting surprises.

The picture stars Miriam Hopkins with Joel McCrea, Fay Wray, Henry Stephenson and Reginald Denry.

FORD PRESENTS ANOTHER ADVANCE IN TRUCK ENGINEERING

Obtained by mounting front springs ahead of axle and moving V-8 engine forward. This places more load ahead of rear axle, more weight on front end.

THE important fact to remember about the new Ford V-8 Truck for 1935 is not merely that it gives you new money-saving features—but that these features have been added to a truck whose economy, performance, stamina have already been proved.

For 1935, Ford gives you an entirely new development—Forward Load Distribution. This makes possible more uniform tire and brake wear—better brake action—improved operation and wear throughout the truck. In addition, with more space between the cab and rear axle, the 1935 Ford V-8 permits acute angle turns with full-width semi-trailers.

No matter how efficiently you are now doing your hauling, these and the other features of the 1935 Ford V-8 are important advantages to consider. They are matched by no other truck in America today, regardless of price.

Test this new Ford V-8 Truck yourself. Your nearest Ford dealer will let you do this... on your own job, under your own load, with your own driver!
